

WARM WELCOME GIVEN NEBRASKA BOYS IN GOTHAM

Job Waiting for Each Nebraska Boy on Return, Governor Tells Troops; Will Visit Camps.

(Continued from Page One.) theater tickets have been placed at their disposal. Congressmen Delighted. Washington, May 23.—(Special Telegram.)—A never to be forgotten event was the home-coming of the Nebraska boys from overseas service, to hear the members of the house delegation in congress tell of their visit to New York Thursday on the occasion of the debarcation of the 89th division from the Leviathan. It was one continuous moving picture of life and color and heart interest to the Nebraska members, from the time they boarded a tug at the foot of Forty-second street until they saw the steamer warped into her dock at Hoboken, and witnessed the thousands of soldiers she transported home, start on their way to Camps Upton and Merritt.

To several of the delegation the occasion was indescribable, the setting was so vast, the vessel so colossal and the crowds so dense that description ceased to function and they stood agape at the human tide that surged about them.

Bigger and Better American. "The trip to New York has made me a bigger and better American than I ever was before," was the way in which Congressman Jeffers described the occasion. "And to be a part of the welcome home given to our boys who have done so splendidly I would not have missed for millions.

Two hundred people went down the river on the tug arranged for by the Nebraska welcome home committee, and when the Leviathan came in sight I never heard such a fury of sounds in all my life. When the boat that we were on came under the beam of the Leviathan I realized how insignificant a tug was alongside the biggest ship afloat. But as I looked up at the sea of faces on every deck, and realized that those boys had come from American homes, my horizon was suddenly enlarged, and I hope I will be a better American from the experience."

Congressman Evans said that it would be useless to attempt to describe the sensations of the arrival of the Leviathan aroused in him. He felt as if the boys wanted to take the tug carrying the Nebraska committee in their arms and hug it forever. They acted like maniacs instead of rational beings as the placards bearing the home towns were displayed by the members of the committee.

"And then I had an opportunity to meet some of the Nebraska boys as they filed past me on their way to Upton," said the congressman. "They didn't have time to say much, but what they said has made me a stronger advocate of the league of nations than I was before."

Inspiring Scene. Congressman Andrews said "the return of the Nebraska troops was an inspiring scene. The sacrifices they have personally made and the brilliant service they rendered challenges the admiration of every Nebraskan.

"It was gratifying to observe the comeliness of General Leonard Wood as he reviewed his boys passing by thousands along the street in front of him, their faces bearing the evidence of inexpressible delight upon the return to their own country. Waving flags, Nebraska mottoes and the shouting multitudes gave them a joyous welcome.

"The anxious faces of fathers and mothers, brothers, sisters and friends showed how deeply the lives of the boys had come into the hearts of the people everywhere. And When They Come Home. "When our Nebraska troops reach Omaha and Lincoln and on their way to Funston they will surely receive a welcome from their home folks that will inspire their hearts for the new tasks that await them."

"Upon their return from Funston to their homes, may the avenues of prosperity open to them so that their rewards in the future will help recompense them for the sacrifices they have made for liberty's cause."

The members of the delegation were the guests of Chairman Norris House of the Nebraska welcome home committee at the Advertising club last night.

The delegation returned to Washington Friday morning, loud in praise of the efficient arrangements that had been made for the home-coming of the Nebraska boys at the hands of the Nebraska committee.

Gov. McKelvie Reports

Troops in High Spirits Lincoln, Neb., May 23.—Governor McKelvie put in a busy day welcoming the Nebraska boys from overseas, according to a message received Friday from the executive, who is in New York for the purpose of welcoming the boys home. The message reads: "Busy day welcoming Nebraska troops. Leviathan and Imperator docked within half hour of each other. These and several other boats bore approximately 30,000 troops. Largest number landed thus far in a single day and probably the record for the entire period of demobilization. Weather not good, but men in high spirits. Nebraska delegation went down the river to meet Leviathan. Entire congressional delegation present. Most Nebraska men being held temporarily at Camp Upton. Letter follows."

Married at Madison.

UPON the conclusion of "Pretty Smooth," Frisco's Dean is to start work on a film story taken from Joseph Frederick Poland's novel, "The Spitfire of Seville." Reminds one of her late success, "The Wildcat of Paris."

Writer Will M. Ritchey slipped! He allowed his car to go 30 "MPH" when 25 was the limit. His explanation was that he was a hundred miles away thinking out a movie plot. The justice said, "Well, since speeding comes into this particular plot, the scenario will cost just $10 extra." Ritchey paid the fee.

Florence Reed claims that proper knowledge of the use of one's hands is essential to screen success. What about the feet?

Word comes from California that Lloyd Ingraham, well known in Omaha, has joined the Thos. H. Ince forces and will direct Douglas McLean in a series of features.

Frank Lloyd, who has directed William Farnum in a great many of his past successes, will be with the Goldwyn pictures in the coming year.

Kitty Gordon has a $10,000 dress made of beads. We shall continue to wear beads of perspiration.

Sometimes we feel sadly certain that movie theaters consist only of $10,000 pipe organs and artificial flowers.

Dustin Farnum is getting flighty. He wants to soar across the Atlantic in a dirigible.

"Playthings of Passion," starring Kitty Gordon, is announced for release on June 8.

Mary Miles Minter is to be seen next in "A Bachelor's Wife." Curly-headed Miss Minter has played few married roles.

Announcement is made by the Boyd theater that "The Red Lantern," which has been playing to capacity crowds all week here, will be held over for another full week.

AT THE THEATERS

WITH today's performances the Orpheum bill headed by the musical comedy, "The Four Husbands," will close its Omaha engagement. Patrons are reminded that tonight the curtain is to rise at 8 o'clock. For the final week of the Orpheum season, opening tomorrow, the show is to be headed by Theodore Kosloff and his Russian ballet. With his organization he carries a number of premiere dances and a miniature ballet. On the same bill Grace De Mar, a winsome comedienne of the ingenue type, is to be featured. She is to offer a series of character studies by Herbert Moore. The outlook is that the closing show will be quite the best of the entire Orpheum season.

"The End of the Road," which has been exhibiting at the Brandeis theater all this week, will be offered for the last times today, afternoon and evening. The story visualizes a great lesson upon the subject of venereal contamination.

Dorothy Phillips will be seen at the Brandeis theater all next week, with the exception of Saturday evening, in "Destiny," the Jewel feature play produced by Rollin J. Sturgeon. As Mary Burton, the clear-visioned country girl who saves her family from the curse of metropolitanism and ruin, Miss Phillips has one of her most striking roles.

Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterton will appear at the Brandeis theater Monday and Tuesday, June 2 and 3, with a special matinee on Tuesday, in the delightful comedy, "A Marriage of Convenience," by Alexander Dumas. The Sydney Grundy version is used. Local theatergoers will surely look forward with pleasure to this unusually interesting event, as this was one of the notable successes of the season at Henry Miller's theater in New York. The original New York production in every detail will be utilized here and the stars will be surrounded by a notable company. Mr. Miller will be seen at the Comte de Candale and Miss Chatterton as the Comtesse de Candale. The scenes of the four acts of the play are laid in the house of the Comte de Candale; the period is 1750.

Final performances will be given today of the attractive show at the Brandeis, the brilliant attraction of which is the miniature musical revue "1919 Winter Garden Revue." This is one of the classicst acts that has been presented at this popular playhouse this season. Tomorrow Estelle House and her quintet of dancing girls will be the stellar attraction at the new show which opens. Billie Rhodes, the popular star, will be shown at the Empress for the last time today in her latest picture, "The Love Call," a romantic comedy drama of life in the frontier cattle country.

ANTI SALOON MEN VOTE CENSURE OF WILSON AND ROOT

Vigorous Attack Made on Liquor Interests by Frank B. Willis, Former Governor of Ohio.

President Wilson and Elihu Root were censured last night by the Anti-Saloon league meeting in the City Auditorium. By a rising vote, the 300 people present adopted a resolution offered by H. F. Carson, Lincoln, superintendent of the Nebraska Anti-Saloon league, calling upon congress to disregard President Wilson's recommendation for repeal of the war-time prohibition law in so far as it refers to light wines and beer and to enforce the whole law to the limit.

Frank B. Willis, former governor of Ohio, who made the principal address, assailed Elihu Root for his declaration that beer with 3 per cent or less of alcohol is "non-intoxicating."

"I am reminded of the advertisement 'Hires Root Beer,'" Willis said. "And in the present instance I think it should be revised to 'Beer hires Root.' Even at that, I don't think they get very much for their money."

"The liquor interests are organizing as they never organized before to fight the will of the people as expressed by 45 legislatures which ratified the eighteenth amendment. They have a fund of $1,000,000,000, it is said. They are fighting in different ways in different parts of the country."

"This is not a battle, but a warfare which must be carried on to the limit, and now as never before. We can't stop fighting because the other fellows will continue to fight. And we're going to 'hew to the stein, let the Schlitz fall where he may.'"

"Are we going to let the three little states with their 5,000,000 people, who refused to ratify the eighteenth amendment, scare the 45 states with their 100,000,000 people who ratified the amendment?"

"There was little Rhode Island that wouldn't ratify. It's about as big as one of your Nebraska ranches, and it refused to ratify the constitution of the United States. It voted

'no' on everything. And there's Connecticut, the wooden nutmeg state, which now seems to have wooden nutmegs for heads. And there was reactionary New Jersey, which also had to be dragged into ratifying the constitution."

"Prohibition is here to stay. Delegates from all over the world are on their way to the world prohibition conference to be held in Washington, D. C. June 4 to 6, where the death knell of alcohol for all the world will be sounded."

State Superintendent Holloway of the Colorado Anti-Saloon league introduced Mr. Willis.

"People often wonder why we are continuing our activities, now that national prohibition is about to be realized. They remind me of the story of the animal convention," he said. "All the animals gathered, and the fox presided. Last of all the skunk came in. And then the animals, one by one, began to sneak away. Finally the skunk asked the fox why they left."

"I haven't done anything or said anything," he said. "It isn't what you have done or said that you are afraid of, but of what you might do," was the fox's answer.

"John Barleycorn isn't acting at all like a respectable corpse. And his friends, instead of wrapping him in his winding sheet, are busy with the oxygen tank, trying to revive him. They have become doctrinal. They believe in the resurrection of the dead."

Elmer Thomas sat on the platform with the three speakers. A collection was taken up to defray expenses of the meeting.

Many New Features Added to Lakeview Park This Season

Weeks of time spent by squads of men have made Lakeview Park a more beautiful place than ever before in preparation for the opening to be held Sunday. Five hundred shade trees and 200 evergreens and cedars and hundreds of flowers of all descriptions have been planted. One of the largest dance floors in the country has been installed. Wright's orchestra will furnish music.

A new feature in outdoor attractions is being installed—a "captive balloon" frolic, consisting of big balloon baskets attached to a 100-foot tower and propelled by a powerful motor that carries the occupants of the baskets far out over the heads of the crowds. The roller coaster has been refinished and several new "dips" installed and the merry-go-round refurnished. New scenes have been painted in "the old mill" and the other attractions improved and enlarged.

Among the numerous worries of women a sallow or muddy complexion is by no means the least, and to try to cover it up with face powder only makes a bad matter worse. You must get at the root of the evil. It is caused by a sluggish liver, constipation and errors in diet. Take a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets, adopt a diet of cereals, vegetables and fruit, and take plenty of outdoor exercise. Walk at least five miles a day and the trouble will gradually disappear. Try it.

Empire Day! CELEBRATION SALE! Never in the world's history were the English-speaking peoples of the earth so closely united. A short time ago British Day was celebrated in many cities of this country, a thing which would not have been possible some years ago. We hold no brief for Britain. She has left undone some things which she ought to have done, and has done many things, doubtless, which she ought not to have done. But There is Still Health in Her---Still Vigor, Still Marvelous Vitality If there is any country in all the world which has not been guilty of sins of omission and commission, let it cast the first stone at Britain. Notwithstanding what Raymond Robins said so well and perhaps so truly of conditions in the Motherland, we have an abiding faith that Britain's wrongs will yet be righted by Britons—if Briton is to Briton true—among themselves united. You re- "Be Briton still to Britain true Among oursel's united, For never but by Briton's hands Maun Britain's wrongs be righted." However, we may differ in our estimate of the British, most people will concede that they are. GOOD SPORTS With this thought in mind we think this an oportune time to make our first 1919 Complete Display of Sport Fabrics and Sport Garments Dresses of Silk, Voile, Organdy, Gingham, Tissue, for home, club or sport wear. Graduation time is almost here—Don't you know, we think Dad is just as interested in this important period as Mother. Just try him out. If he don't hand his purse over, eager and anxious to pay for the Graduation Frock and all the other there's something wrong with him—better send him to French Lick or Excelsior. There's a touch of "Distinctiveness" about the girlish Frocks that you'll like and the prices are not up in the clouds, either. Smocks and White Skirts will be just the thing, as soon as we get summer days. We show some embroidered Smocks which are beautifully done and with the right kind of Skirt. Combination really stunning. Hats for Kiddies The straws are cool and nobby, and those of fine Repp; washable and serviceable. Quite the latest is a plain colored Toque at $3.00, which is washable. A bevy of girls went almost wild over these last Tuesday afternoon. Beats all how the stock of House Dresses and Bungalow Aprons leaves our shelves. For Saturday we picked up 15 dozen stripe We met a friend on the street who said: "Don't this cool, backward weather beat the deuce, and play the mischief with business." We replied if warmer, more reasonable weather would increase the business we simply couldn't handle it. And that's the plain, unvarnished, unadulterated truth. Take it in Gloves, for instance, we will sell three times as many gloves as we have ever sold in the month of May. But, bless your heart, there's a very good reason. We have offered some wonderful values. For this Saturday it is to be Long Silk Gloves, 12 and 16-Button Length. These we own at 50 per cent less than we could buy today. Indeed, we couldn't buy the short two-button length of similar quality for the prices at which we will sell these. They are Kayser's old "3000" number and everybody who knows anything about quality-gloves, knows what that stands for. 12-Button Length, $1.49; 16-Button Length, $1.79. When short sleeves are "all the go," as they will be pretty soon, you'll rejoice if you secure two or three pairs of these. Is it any wonder that our Glove Section is crowded with business? Take a friend's advice and come Saturday morning, and for pity's sake, don't ask us to fit gloves on Saturday. And now our president shows a favorable attitude towards Beer and Light Wines. Some are mean enough to say that the Honorable Woodrow has fallen from prohibition heights and acquired wet habits. Our Glassware buyer takes advantage of the situation and suggests we have the Glasses, which, he says, will soon be in much demand, $1.65, $2.00 and $2.25 the dozen. There are jugs at $1.25, $1.35, $1.50 and $2.00, and Trays at $1.25.
