

The day is done, and the darkness falls from the wings of Night. As a feather is wafted downward From an eagle in his flight.—Langfellow.

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

A little learning is a dangerous thing. Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring. There shallow draughts intoxicate the brain, And drinking largely sobers us again.—Pope.

Let's Go Shopping with Jolly

Each day I walk with wonder 'Neath skies of dark or fair; Over, around, and under Are marvels that I share.

Whate'er the bonds of duty, The gyves that grip and thrall; The luring call of beauty Is greater than them all.

I pray I may be shriven Should I fail more or less— That I may be forgiven For following loveliness! —A Prayer, Harper's.

Heartful Content

A Dream of Wonderment.

SUGGESTING old-time days in their daintiness and charm of exquisite loveliness are three rings which Mr. Edholm of the Edholm Jewel Shop, Sixteenth and Harney, showed me this week. "Just made for the sweet girl graduates," said this connoisseur of jewels—and truly never were more lovely gift conceptions fashioned. Square-cut is the diamond in the first with full cut melee stones at each side in a platinum ring of daintily pierced Greek Key design. Equally dainty, a bit more elaborate, the second has a cushion-shaped diamond, just the right size for a little girl's first "nice" ring. Tiny diamonds at each side co-operate most delightfully in creating an impression of gossamer loveliness. Unusually alluring is the glowing beauty of the marquise canary diamond set in a bracketed split band holding a few white diamonds used with fascinating effect as contrast to the lustrously lovely yellow beauty of the canary diamond. Each a ring to bring "heartful content, a dream of wonderment" to any girlish heart.

Fulfilling the Promise of Inspiration

ARE the bits of gracious loveliness evolved under the artful fingers of Miss Coe, Modiste, apartment two, second floor, Davidge Block, Eighteenth and Farnam. Never were more richly lovely frocks, suits and wraps designed and fashioned than those for this spring's brides and graduates. Yesterday when I peeped into the work-rooms, imagine my joy in a frock of creamy white charmeuse, georgette draped, with gleaming ribbons of orchid peeping with unexpectedly lovely effect from soft folds. The wrap for this queen of gowns, is of orchid georgette, deceptively, with high-turned collar of ermine. You'll delight in Miss Coe, and in her artistic inspirations.

Deep and Rich Colors Daringly Contrasted.

WITH a dash of bright shading to give warmth and variety are to be noted among the blouses presented by Mr. Rosen of the Orkin Bros. South Sixteenth shop. Wonderfully pleasing are four models offered for $4.95 each. Pert polka dots figure most importantly in the georgette of the first model. Pleated frills adorn the neck line, while dainty ribbons run through the wrist and droop daintily from the throat. This is in turquoise blue and rose. Oddly attractive figures adorn a model with cuff and collar in copen and navy. In flesh and white is a model whose neck line is fascinatingly frilled in rows of lace. A deep slit cunningly buttons daintily from the "slip-over." The fourth in the list has not one, but two charming "bib" collars in front, a single one in the back, all of them blue of edge. Dainty blue velvet ribbons finish the throat and hands. Softly pleated is the blouse front, trimmed with a fascinatingly lovely model in white. Extraordinarily lovely blouses at exceptionally tempting prices.

If You're Looking for a Gift Extraordinary

AND at reasonable pricing, visit the Nippon Importing Company, 218 S. Eighteenth street. Mr. Taso, the affable Japanese gentleman in charge of the artistic wares offered, has helpful suggestions, and one certainly finds most fascinating the gifts presented on all sides. Kimonos, bright as the butterfly land from which they came, china, thin, lovely, baskets with gay tasseling, incense burners, vases, exquisitely embroidered bags and cushions. Truly, Nippon bath charms.

Flower Containers.

QUITE the most original solving of the problem of flower containers for Memorial day purposes is that suggested by the Omaha Reed & Rattan company, 640 South Sixteenth street. They're selling great wicker jardiniere, many of them on standards which with their metal containers make lasting decorations for the grounds. These are usually brown in tint, though some prefer to have them painted ivory. Dainty little high-handled baskets of white ivory with enameled flower decorations in blue and rose are offered at from 50c up.

Dusky, Alluring, Lusciously Lovely.

ARTIFICIAL fruits are shown at the Eldridge Importing Company, Fourteenth and Farnam. So skillful has been the artistry employed in their fashioning that these pieces, including fruits from tropic climes, are most "delectable ornaments."

Wyant, Blakelock, Kitchell, Henner

Are painters represented in a showing of four paintings at the Brandeis picture department this week. Path Through the Woods, is the picture by A. H. Wyant, showing golden skies, lightly floating clouds, the poetry of spring in its coloring. Very different in conception, that painted by H. M. Kitchell. Dark, mysteriously shadowed, forest on each side in red, brown living tones, shows in its heart a trickling waterfall, lace-thin, almost imaginary, so dainty its suggestion. With sky of glowing gold in midst of russet woods is a tiny canvas, the Wigwag, by Ralph Blakelock. Famed for his depictions of auburn-haired women, we take keen pleasure in Jean Jacques Henner's picture of a beautiful woman hair streaming over ivory-tinted flesh above a ravenly-colored, red drapery. Peculiar charm is imparted to the colors used by the work being done on a mahogany panel. An artistic showing of impressive charm.

A set of six down bouffant pillows are made in the new flat shape, and each pillow is covered with a different pastel shade of taffeta. There are soft tints of rose, green, blue, lavender, apricot and yellow.

Separate Skirts of Voguish Appeal.

FASHIONED from fashion fabrics, lovely, luring, baronet satin, Fan-tai-si figured georgettes, and most enchanting combinations of the season's novelty weaves are the skirts seen in Thorne's this week. Of peculiar buoyancy and freshness is one of mauve baronet, which has a covering of novelty figured georgette in richly brilliant blue. The gleaming baronet satin is placed in buttoned strips across each of the two pockets. Perfect in fit and finish, it is a skirt of bewitchment.

At This Season of the Year

THE EYES are very susceptible to ennui and need a change of scenery. Spring irritability or melancholia is often nothing more or less than simply tired—tired—of the views around the house.

But there's good nature in a costume of fresh wall paper—particularly if the pattern is thoughtfully chosen from such a comprehensive assortment as that shown in the Sam Newman Specialty Shop, Eighteenth and Farnam. And, of course, there's hardly any limit to the possibilities of transformation that new papers work. Mr. Newman, an artist decorator, suggests papers of latest loveliness.

For the bedrooms, quaintly beautiful Old English designs in the colors found on Old English china, for the living rooms and dining rooms, satisfying blended colors artistically, many of them tapestries in mulberry, old blues, soft greens and browns. Daring, dashing innovations are offered for the sun parlors, exotic birds of flaring plumage against backgrounds of gorgeously tinted flowers and shrubs. Papers you'll love at sight!

Just the Fraction of an Inch.

DID you ever wish you could change the arch of your eyebrows by the fraction of an inch? Dainty eyebrow pencils in dark brown and black will serve long and charmingly to alter your whole appearance. The next time you're in the Delft Hair Parlors, second floor Baird Building, Seventeenth and Douglas, buy one of these artist pencils for 50 cents.

"Hail to the Bride."

THE wedding stationery—artistic—distinctive—impressive—important, claims first place in the bride's planning. The Megarth Stationery company, Fifteenth and Farnam, is well qualified to advise authentically the correct forms and styles to be used.

If You've Felt the Beauty Lure

OF marble and granite, I'm sure you'll delight in the showing at the Art Memorial company, 704 South Sixteenth street. Great monuments of impressive dignity, exquisite detail in cutting, polish and lure, they're an entirely new departure in memorials. Mr. Frazier, the artist designer of the ones offered, will be very glad to plan with you, submitting drawings and color washes, which give you a most clear conception of the stone's appearance when finished. His ideas of landscape gardening are most excellent too, and you'll find wholly delightful and artistically effective his plans for marble seats, sun dials and fountains.

Embodying the Mode

IN every particular is the work of the Ideal Button company, 308 Brown building, Sixteenth and Douglas. Expressing most delightfully the voguishly delightful "frillies" are the tiny ruffles they "picot-edge." And, my dears, a secret I'd be telling—if you'll just cut the ruffling, twice as wide as you want to use it, they'll make you twice as much for the same price, for they'll double hem-stitch it and cut it in two! These frills are enchantingly effective if pleated after they're picotted. And of course you're going to have at least one accordion pleated draped skirt? We'll be very happy to send you the new catalogues. You'll find they're exceedingly and artistically helpful.

The Lloyd George Blouse.

AMONG the distinctly "new" things being shown this week is the Lloyd George blouse at Lamond's. Of navy blue, the below-the-waistline panels are decorated in an oak leaf design resembling that of the famous man's robe of state. They have a specially lovely showing of the Meyer blouses, recognized for their artistic color combinations, unusually fascinating.

"A Real Dress."

SAID Mr. Lamond as he exhibited his latest find in the east. So listen, my dears, if you'd know the kind of frocks men call "real dresses." Rose and white figured georgette, it's combined most fetchingly with creamy white. The set-ins have rows of georgette buttons and great "rolly-polly" roses wander at will here and there over the whole dress. Fragrantly lovely its beauty.

"Sweets to the Sweet"

And never said more truly than of the delightfully, boxed candies they're prepared at Candyland, 1522 Farnam street. Artistic—their luxurious masses of brightly-tinted ribbons, boxes and baskets carry sweets to captivate the heart of any "sweet girl grad." A gift offering superlative

Suggesting Dainty Spring Blossoms

IS the blouse model just received at Herzberg's, 1517 Douglas. Wistaria blooms all the way round the neck and panel edging, in heavy lustrous beauty in the grace of loosely hanging vines. Sapphire crystal beads lightly outline the rounded neckline, and trim the cuffs in looped tassels, while a sapphire ribbon girdle is drawn through great embroidered eyelets.

And If You're "Tunefully" Inclined

THERE'S "The Red Lantern," delightfully "Japanesque," featured this week at the Boyd theater, 10 cents; "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," 35 cents (much like "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," charming in sentiment); "My Dearest Girl," 10 cents (tunefully jolly, and the profits go to the Salvation Army); and a delightfully semi-classic ballad, "When the Shadows Softly Come and Go," 35 cents. These are "high sellers" among the popular music hits in the Ed Patton music department at A. Hospe company's, 1513 Douglas street, and I'll be delighted to mail them to you on receipt of change to cover cost and postage.

Hats Reblocked.

THE Kruger Hat shop, 429 Paxton block, reblocks both men's and women's hats, cleans and dyes, repairs and refashions feathers of all kinds and renovates and refreshes marabou pieces.

Strawberries a Treat for the Gods.

CREAM, frothy, richly piped, whipped just to the right degree on a dainty little dish or stacked upon a delicious piece of short cake, can you imagine anything more delectable for your Sunday dinner? They're planning such dainties as these at the Flatiron Cafe, Seventeenth and St. Mary's avenue, for Sunday dinner. It really isn't any wonder that their dinners are so wonderfully popular, is it?

The Artistic Designing Which Characterizes Japan

IS embodied in the gold, henna and black figured georgette frock shown at the Thorne Shop, Eighteenth and Farnam. Becomingly draped, rich loops of black velvet ribbon hang from split cuffs of the three-quarter length sleeves. Another introduction of black is seen at the waist line in the low-tied velvet ribbon girdle. While a tassel of exceeding chic dangles nonchalantly on the left shoulder.

Supremely Interesting Sports Apparel.

IN frock-tailors, brilliantly clear in their coloring are the new offerings in the Lamond shop, second floor, Securities building. Subtly simple is the sleeveless coat of a novelty blue and white baronet satin, watching in effect the buttoned-up cuff round the feet. Paulette, the fascinating new fabric, lustrous, lovely, has been used in the fashioning of a peach and white suit.

Captivatingly Chic

ARE the separate skirts for wear with filmy blouses, and sports coats of black velvet, or bright-hued sweaters of fiber, silk and yarn. A novelty white Paulette at Herzberg's has great pointed tabs on the pocket openings, and a girdle of peculiar fascination. Blockings of cross-stitching make this a skirt of ultra-smartness, modish to a degree.

For the June Bride.

NEXT in importance to the extreme care in the selection of the trousseau is the necessity of exercising discretion in the choice of a wardrobe trunk in which to pack the dainty things so they may be kept in their original fresh condition. Because of its cushion top, which eliminates any possibility of wrinkling the clothes, as well as many other comfort features which tend toward supreme satisfaction, the Hartmann wardrobe trunk has long been the accepted wardrobe of June brides. Give Freling & Steinel, 1803 Farnam, an opportunity of demonstrating its various features. You'll be entranced with its delightful possibilities.

Inspired by the High Hope and Great Joy

OF JUNE, the month of happiness, are the rarely lovely gifts in the art department of A. Hospe & Co., 1513 Douglas. Artistic mirrors whose polychrome finish frames are garlanded with flowers or conventional designs are shown in long, narrow panels and wider rectangles to fit the corner in the front hall or the between-the-doors space in the dining room. Standing lamps in Pompeian designs and Adam periods charm with their beauty expression. Candlesticks exquisitely decorated in colored fruit and flower designs hold candles of fascinating loveliness of varied selection. So harmoniously does the polychrome finish with its rare color expression blend with all furnishings, and so gracefully moulded are their richly colored relief designs, that theirs is a beauty vogue amplified justified.

Special Preparations for Mary Pickford and Her Kiddies

ARE being made at the Jacobs-Lea drug store, Fifteenth and Douglas. You'll find in readiness everything for the tot's toilet—castile soap of greatest purity, talcs of standard makes, anything and everything manufactured for the comfort and health of the kiddies. Then for the tots just a wee bit "grown-up" there are the pure sugar stick candies. You'll find this a drug store of superlative service. Check your packages during the show at a specially conducted checking stand for the purpose.

A Charming New Development in Shoe Styles.

ONE that is most becoming, too, giving the foot a slenderness of effect that every woman seeks is the graceful new colonial pump model featured at the F. & M. Boot Shop, Sixteenth and Farnam. In gray suede, high heeled, high-shaped tongue with cut steel buckle, $12.50; brown kid with bronzed buckle, $12; and white Nile cloth with cut steel buckle, $8.50. There is afforded an unusually splendid showing for selection. These are all specially fitted with elastic, and have underneath the tongue and buckles, eyelets or ties in case one tires of the buckled effect.

Sheerly White By Day or Night.

ARE the finisings of milady's frock and suit. Frilly, frothy, sheerness, net, batiste, organdie, rippling rills and rills of lace down the front are offered in witching array at Thompson-Belden's. Altogether alluring in possibilities are the ruffled organdie collars which show daintily bright embroidered edges. Equally charming are fluffy vestees of vast becomingness in high and low effects. In the same department, the dainty accessory, which sways so prominent a part in the girlish heart, dainty witching fans of white gauze, pink, blue and black ostrich feathers. They're most delightful in their pleasant price range of from 50c to $10.00.

Shoe trees for brides are wound with white satin ribbon and decorated with bunches of small scented orange flowers. They are dainty and easily made

Amber, by the way, is coming in for a good deal of attention as a smart spring color.

The Superlative in Personal Service

IS to be had at all times at the Hotel Loyal, Sixteenth and Capitol avenue, the commodious, home-like hotel which offers the sightseer, the sportsman, business man and shopper the best trained service available. One feels at once the atmosphere of welcome extended sincerely in large measure, the rates are reasonable and in keeping with the general refinement of the hotel. You'll find it in every way most delightful, a hotel you're glad to know of. Write for rates and further information.

The "Shimmie Coat" Capriciously Lovely

IN its darning cut is being shown at Lamond's. Of black velvet, velvety soft, it has a cape coat silhouette. The fullness is gathered into cunning pleats under each arm, two loose panels are caught on each hip, while an appealing becomingness is the long rolled collar line to the waist.

New Delaine le Guerre Capes.

VERY smart cape, in knitted effect, with collar of angora wool is featured among the models of alluring raiment shown in the Lamond Style shop, second floor, Securities building, Sixteenth and Farnam. A flattering fullness sways from rounded yoke in the back, and swag in indeed the vest effect in the front.

Rose Taupe Paulette

GILMERING loveliness, rose-tinted taupe, is a frock seen this week at Herzberg's. Balki blouse in effect is the overdress of fascinatingly figured georgette. Cuffs, collar, belt and vestee foundation are of the Paulette, while a ravishing touch is added by tassels of taupe yarn.

Showing of Japanese Prints.

THE Brandeis picture department will give a special showing of Japanese prints this week. Portraying in pageant form historical epochs of the country's history as well as views painted by Hiroshige, the most famous of Japanese landscape painters, they're wholly captivating. It's a collection just received from Yokohama, and offered at exceptional prices. Rough edged, softly tinted, they're enchanting framed in polished black frames on grasscloth mats.

"And When It's Fair Weather"

WE'll take out the kodak together and the pictures that we take will form a lasting delight in the rest of our natural lives. Of course you'll want to have some of them enlarged and most assuredly take them to the Kay Studio, 215 Neville building, Sixteenth and Harney, where they do such very fascinating work with promptness and efficiency to delight the heart of the enthusiast.

A Real Triumph

OF artistry, the correct foundation of a perfectly fitted corset insures the utmost modishness of one's costume. Mrs. D. A. Hill, Corset Specialist, 205 Neville block, Sixteenth and Harney, is showing fascinatingly lovely models in white and flesh colored, front and back lacings, in types suited to every figure, and ravishingly dainty enough to be added to any trousseau or commencement wardrobe. Write for order blanks and catalogue; you'll be delighted with the result.

A Frock Suit of Infinite Loveliness.

EXCLUSIVE of an exclusiveness to lend distinction to its wearer is a frock suit of white satin at F. W. Thorne's, Eighteenth and Farnam. A touch of rose point lace at throat and hands is note exquisite—tres charming—while tucked vestee and novel flat topped buttons and cuff hem make this a frock of enchantment.

Fluffy Filmy Frocks for Porch or Garden

Demure fichu, pockets and cuffs of plaited white net, lace trimmed, add loveliness to a garden frock of flower sprigged buff voile. Approved of fashion, not only frocks for porch and garden, but hats and parasols as well are made of this charming fabric.

Entirely New and Lovely

FOR memorial decorative purposes are the wreaths of perpetuated grasses, ferns, darkly lustrous, which they're making up at the John Bath Flower Shop, Eighteenth and Farnam. In two sizes they range in price from $3 to $5, and are fascinatingly fashioned ornaments of practical perpetuation. One of the most pleasing, impressively lovely, has three white wax rosebuds at the base, with woven in among the green a small silk flag. Some of them have purple and white dahlias, others pale pink buds, all of them equally lovely.

Captivating Chapeaux

OF latest fashion fancies, visions of loveliness, one and all, are the luring models displayed in the millinery department of the Nebraska Clothing company, Fifteenth and Farnam. Wide-brimmed, picturesque models are the most popular—charming bits of sorcery in their shimmering beauty. A droopy, swoopy, leghorn has crown of flesh taffeta with ruche of fray-edge silk round base of crown and brim-edge. Alternating with these frayed edgings are soft blue silk ostrich bandings. Wide at the sides is a changeable taffeta, peach and orchid, tied with facing of orchid crepe. "Wonder Blue" crepe is the covering of another creamy leghorn with double foldings of heavy satin-edged ribbon, perpendicularly placed round the crown.
