

YANKS PREFER AMERICAN GIRLS TO ALL OTHERS

Europeans Who Chase Yanks, for Husbands, Short on U. S. Geography and Due for Awakening.

New York. — What's going to happen when Parisian "poulet" meets Cynthia, Ky., or a London lass "lamps" Mankato, Minn., for the first time? That's what some of the war welfare workers who have been meeting and consoling some war brides arriving here with or without their husbands from overseas want to know.

A French girl who married a Dallas, Tex., soldier and arrived in advance of her husband, wanted to know where she could get a taxi for Dallas.

The war brides are already up against mother-in-law. One Oregon mother-in-law telegraphed her returning son that under no consideration would she receive his new French bride.

Yankee Engineers End Anxiety of Aged Woman

San Francisco, Cal.—Time had been taking heavy toll, as the feeble, tottering footsteps and snow-white hair testified. Yet she appeared to be a motherly old lady.

Gradually the story came out. Her name is Mrs. C. L. Browning. Her home is in San Francisco. Irregularities in the records have caused her to be without funds from the government for over five months.

"S. M. S." Caught the Girls, But "M. M. C." Made Them Shy. San Francisco.—On a troop train from San Francisco speeding eastward a practical joker placed a sign announcing that the occupants of one car were married men.

The letters "S. M. S." were substituted and beneath was written, "Single Men's Special."

Redfern Corsets for Fashion in Fit and Comfort

A CLOSE study of the feminine form in all its phases, and advance knowledge of fashions, has enabled the designers of "Redfern" corsets to produce for every type of figure a corset that is rarely equalled for beauty of line, fit and comfort.

It may be interesting to know that "Redfern" corsets are modelled on women of perfect figure, different in size and proportions, but all with beautiful lines.

"Redfern" corsets are light, especially desirable at this season of the year; flexible, dainty in material and finish. We have models to correctly mold the figure of the growing girl; to give roundness to the slim-like figure; to give slender lines to the large, stout woman; to improve the short, dumpy figure.

Our trained corsetieres know exactly which style you require and will fit you perfectly. The prices are moderate, $5.00 to $25.00.
