Has this ever happened to you? An old-fashioned bathroom is a continual source of trouble and expense. You never know where or when the next leak will start.

Many a time you've considered ripping out the old, troublesome fixture. But you haven't done it. Because you have always associated modern plumbing fixtures with excessive costs.

We can show you the well-known Thomas Maddock's quality, bathroom equipment which, in the long run, is decidedly less expensive than the antiquated fixtures you now have.

From any standpoint we can show why you can't afford to keep your old fixtures, and why you can afford the newest and best for the old house or the new. Let's talk it over.

FLASHES from FILMLAND PHOTO-PLAY OFFERINGS FOR TODAY

CIVILIZED woman refuses to wear nose rings. They are a badge of slavery. But civilized woman still wears a wedding ring, which has the same significance as the savage woman's nose ring. Divorce makes it possible for civilized woman to cast off this little band of bondage. Sometimes she is forced to cast it off against her will, because divorce laws are such that the husband can frame charges against the woman he no longer loves. Thus Gladys Brockwell is caught in "The Divorce Trap," a sensational production which is coming to the Sun theater today for the remainder of this week. But because she is a good woman she succeeds in finding happiness in spite of her husband's wicked connivance with crooked friends. The story is said to be a very strong one.

Some of the most interesting scenes of Nazimova's "The Red Lantern" are reproductions of street scenes in Peking. With a wonderful perspective the market streets are depicted showing the natives disposing of wares, pottery, silks, trinkets and vegetables. Hundreds of real Chinese participated in these scenes. "The Red Lantern" is at the Boyd the remainder of this week.

The last of Charlie Chaplin's four reissued comedies is being shown at the Strand this week, in connection with the feature there, John Barrymore in "The Test of Honor." Nothing has made such a sensation this year as the success of these old comedies of Chaplin's—short reels which made him famous as a screen star.

Harry Hilliard, formerly Theda Bara's leading man, now appearing in support of Dorothy Phillips in her latest Jewel picture at the Miami college, Cincinnati, before he decided to become an actor. He appeared in many stage productions before entering the movies. "The picture this week is "Destiny," which tells the story of the choice we have at the crossroads of life—how one path leads to destruction, the other to lasting happiness. It tells of ambition, of greed, of the clash of will against will, of love and of hate.

One of the liveliest bills ever presented at the Empress is now being shown. A decided hit is registered by the two colored comedians, Brooks and George. Shelton Brooks figures in his act "Every Day," and "When You Hear That Dixie-land Jazz Band Play." The laughing hit of the bill is the rural comedy sketch offered by May, Kilduff and Allerton. Song numbers especially written for the act are "Castles in the Air," a screen version of the story of the boy who built a castle in the air, and "The Man of Honor," with May Allison as the star, will be shown for the last time today.

AT THE THEATERS

"A MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE," which Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterton will present at the Brandeis theater, on June 2 and 3, with a special matinee on Tuesday, is the story of a bride and groom who fall in love after marriage instead of before. The comic wedges his comessie only to find that she has had a flirtation with a dashing cavalier. He gives them full opportunity and incidentally has an affair himself with a certain attractive marquise. Scandal is threatened, but the gruff old general, their uncle, arrives in time to find out the real state of affairs and averts it. Misunderstandings are forgotten, after a duel has been fought and of course, all ends happily. The appearance of Mr. Miller and Miss Chatterton in this delightful play will be one of the really notable events of the year.

To be at once the artistic and applause hit of a vaudeville program is very unusual. Such a triumph, however, is scored this week by Theodore Kosloff and his Russian ballet, who are at the Orpheum as the stellar attraction of the closing week of the Orpheum season. The series of dances given by the ballet include a pantomime story, duets, and ensembles. The music typified the dance in period as well as in action. Each dance, moreover, has its appropriate costumes and scenery. Kosloff enjoys the reputation of being one of the most distinguished producers of ballet spectacles ever to have come to this country from Russia.

Tagg in New York When Big Leviathan Was Docked

Tagg, president of the National Live Stock exchange, who is back in Omaha. Mr. Tagg went east to attend the convention and although he is enthusiastic over its results, he asserts that the biggest and most impressive sight he witnessed was the arrival of the Leviathan. Editor Cheated Out Of Revenge Planned For Chief of Police Hoopston, Ill., May 27.—Fifty-eight votes cheated Chester A. Aldrich, editor of a newspaper here, out of his revenge on Chief of Police Bogart.

Aldrich became a candidate for mayor at a recent city election just so he could "can" Bogart. The story dates back two years. Aldrich published an innocent photo item in which the chief was referred to. The compositor in setting up the story made "but" read "mutt." Bogart took it as a personal insult. He went so far as to visit Aldrich in the latter's sanctum sanctorum. There the two had a nice little dissertation, which ended in several missing teeth and a sadly battered visage for Editor Aldrich. Court proceedings followed, but "Bogey" settled out of court, and made a lengthy public apology in Mr. Aldrich's own little newspaper. But Algy didn't want money or apologies. He wanted revenge. So when the election came around he decided to look for it thereby announcing himself for the office of mayor, despite the fact that the mayor of Hoopston receives only a dollar a year.

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION

SUFFERED FOR TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS SHE SAYS

Mrs. Platt Had Almost Given Up Hope—Gains Twenty-eight Pounds On Tanlac.

"I prize Tanlac above every medicine and I only wish I had words to express the gratitude I really feel over what it has done for me," said Mrs. Laura Platt, residing at 210 West Woods street, Bloomington, Illinois, recently, in one of the most interesting and remarkable statements yet published in connection with the Master Medicine.

"Twenty-seven years ago," she continued, "I began having indigestion and was soon suffering terribly after every meal from the gas that formed on my stomach. I would bloat so badly that I would have to loosen my clothes and had such dizzy feelings that I would have to sit down to keep from falling. I got to having these spells of cramps and pains in my stomach so often and so severe that my nerves became completely shattered. I couldn't sleep more than an hour or two at night and some nights I would just toss and turn all night long, and hardly had strength to get up in the mornings and dress myself. I often had that cold, clammy feeling as if my blood had almost stopped circulating. I was advised to go on a diet and live on liquid and light things until I got so weak, nervous and trembly that I could hardly get about. I don't believe I could have walked a block if my life had depended on it. My kidneys bothered me constantly and my back hurt me so bad I don't see how I stood it. It just seemed nearly everything was the matter with me and no one would ever know how I suffered because I just can't fully describe it.

"I had suffered so long and tried so many different medicines without any results that I had almost entirely lost hope of ever getting any better, and if it had not been for Tanlac I would no doubt still be a sick woman. It is certainly a wonderful how a few bottles of this medicine have restored me to robust health. I soon had such a big appetite that I had to watch myself to keep from eating too much and I was overjoyed to find that I was at last on the road to health. Well, I just kept right on with Tanlac and today I am well and happy. I am never troubled any more with indigestion, no matter what or how much I eat and you may know food agrees with me for I have actually gained twenty-eight pounds in weight. My kidneys and back never bother me the least bit and I have never seen the time when I could sleep better. I can never praise Tanlac enough for what it has done for me." Tanlac is sold in Omaha by all Sherman & McConnell Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy. Also Forrest and Meaney Drug Company in South Omaha and the leading druggist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.
