Miss Mary Grant Becomes Bride of Oliver Evans Nelson Monday Evening.

The wedding of Miss Mary Isabelle Grant, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Frank A. Grant and Oliver Evans Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Nelson, of New Bedford, Mass., occurred Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. This was the first wedding to be celebrated in the new church at 34th and Farnam streets.

Green and white only were used in the decorations of the church. A profusion of palms and ferns banked the chancel, inset with huge baskets of white peonies.

Here the marriage lines were read by the Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks in the presence of a large gathering of friends.

Miss Dorothy Grant, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a simple gown of yellow georgette crepe, made round length. With this was worn a large yellow tulle hat and she carried a shower bouquet of Mrs. Ward roses.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Irene Nelson, sister of the groom, Gladys Duval, Anne Hermansen and Helen Grant were gowned alike in lavender georgette crepe. They wore large picture hats of lavender tulle and carried pink Killarney roses.

Colonel Grant gave the bride away attired in the full dress uniform of his rank—the dark blue with regimental stripes.

The bride was lovely in a girlish gown of white georgette crepe made with a train of soft white satin. Her tulle veil was held in place with a strand of pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom was attended by Mr. Joseph Grant of Seattle, Wash., brother of the bride, a best man, and the following ushers: Lieutenant Hibbard, Fort Omaha; Lieutenant Yates, Mr. Harry S. Byrne, and Mr. Robert Horner.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the home of Colonel and Mrs. Grant. The house was elaborately decorated with peonies, greens, and iris. Colonel and Mrs. Grant were assisted in receiving the guests by the immediate family only.

Mrs. Grant was gowned in blue crepe trimmed with jet, and Mrs. Nelson wore a gown of taupe georgette, cut square neck and trimmed with beads.

After a wedding trip east, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will reside temporarily at the home of the groom in New Bedford, Mass., until they leave for South America, their future home.

Entertains at Tea.

Mrs. Frank S. Keogh entertained a tea Monday afternoon at her home in honor of Miss Mildred Rogers, Mrs. Etta Schneider Turner and Miss Louise Dinning. Pink and white peonies were used throughout the rooms. In the dining room a large basket of Killarney roses and lavender and pink sweet peas decorated the table. Assisting Mrs. Keogh were:

Madame Biazino Gives Information.

Madame Lillian Biazino, daughter of Mrs. C. C. White of University Place, Neb., who was in Omaha Saturday to attend meetings of the League to Enforce Peace, says that Mrs. Benjamin Lathrop, director general for France wounded, will soon pass through Nebraska on her way east from San Francisco. It is possible she may stop in Omaha. Madame Biazino came to this country from Italy about 10 months ago to work in the interest of relief for Italian wounded. The signing of the armistice brought an end to this work and she is now directing her endeavors toward aid for the fatherless children of Italy. She will return to Italy soon.

Dinner at Athletic Club.

Heart Beats

By A. K.

This world we searched For many a year On hill tops In valleys The Delta— Broadway— But our search Was in vain For that which we sought Was a good Keen alert Pair of ears. We had much to tell Of our work And ourselves An idea we would Put across But without an ear No one could hear— They all had Been given too much Mouth. Our idea we nourished For a hope We still cherished That someday The unusual we'd find— A man who could listen To our sad (Or our glad) Tale of woe. But when we were exhausted And thoroughly disgusted We flopped on a park Bench one evening And far out ahead We glimpsed a mirage Lol Behold! Right there in Front of us Was mirrored The head of us— A head with a great mouth But heavens! We too had no ears.

From Ella Fleishman.

Word has been received from Miss Ella Fleishman, a former member of The Bee staff, who is doing relief work in Paris. Miss Fleishman attended the performance, "Who Can Tell?" given for the 88th division, in Paris recently, when President and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Straus, Louis Marshall, Dr. Cyrus Adler and Judge Mack were special guests for the evening.

Mrs. Paul Stops in Omaha. Mrs. J. N. Paul of St. Paul, Neb., was in Omaha yesterday on her return from Washington, D. C., where she represented Nebraska at a meeting of the woman's republican national committee. She spoke especially of many courtesies received while there from Mrs. Frank Reavis and Mrs. W. E. Andrews, wives of two Nebraska congressmen.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Love Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: We are two school chums, 17 and 15 years old. We have had some serious trouble lately which has caused hard feelings. We had two real good friends here in town. We went with them off and on, but just considered them good friends. One of the boys left to teach school, so our friendship with the other one continued. One evening he went with a girl here who is rather crazy, just hasn't real good common sense, you know. He went with her several times and she found out that he was coming up here, so she told him a whole lot of lies. We heard that he was going with her, so decided that we would treat him all right, but not go with him. One evening he wanted to bring another boy up, but we politely said no. Then, of course, he believed what the other girl had said, so he wouldn't speak. He was going away soon, so we spoke to him. He left the other day and we feel very badly to think that he does not know the truth. What can we do? This girl has also told several other boys down town great big lies. The boys act awfully queer to us. Should we speak to the girl? We have a good reputation and wouldn't have it run down for anything. Can you tell us what to do? We thank you in advance and hope to see this letter and answer in print soon.

BROWN EYES AND BLUE EYES. If you conduct yourselves properly, you need not fear the remarks of a malicious girl. It looks to me, however, as though it were about a 60-50 break with Brown Eyes and Blue Eyes in the lead. Calm down and tone up; be agreeable. Don't let a mad race for a man cause jealousy to hold sway, for—

It is jealousy's peculiar nature To swell small things to great; nay, out of nothing. To conjure much, and then to lose it. Amid the hideous phantoms it has formed. You are too young to be anything but sweet and lovely. Try it.

Being Too Good is a Fault. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Am coming to you for advice. Now, I have been keeping company with a young lady for about one year. We were engaged to be married, but for some reason unknown to me she broke it. We have got along well, but, of course, we have had a few quarrels. Now, this young lady said to me: "Dear, won't you please go back to your trade and get back where you used to be." I said I will. Now, I went away and made good in the month I was gone. And business called me to some place and I came through where this girl lived and, of course, stopped off to see her. Now I find she has been keeping company with a married man, who has a wife and baby, his wife not being here. Now, is it right for me to keep company with this married man and talk to him over the phone? They look at me as though I was a big fool. What shall I do? She seems to want me to be with her. WORRIED.

Don't take hearsay about your girl going with a married man who has a wife and baby. That is a serious charge to make against a girl. But if you know it is true, I should think you would be glad the engagement is broken, for you don't want to make such a girl your wife. Perhaps you have been too obliging. Most of us do not err in being too kind, but it is quite true, as Rabindranath Tagore says: "Goodness has a limit, which, if passed, somehow seems to make men cowardly."

An Overworked Mother. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I have been wanting a woman to help me with my work, but it seems so very hard to find them, so I thought maybe if I would write in your column I could find help there.

We are a family of eight, a bunch of little chaps to care for, and my work has got the best of me and I don't wish to break down. Want a woman from 40 years old up, a good Christian, and we can do any kind of housework. We live on a farm. You may get my address from Beatrice Fairfax. A MOTHER. Hundreds of mothers are wishing the same thing. Help is so scarce that many families, in the cities, are moving into apartments. Others are apportioning the work among the children, which helps a great deal if properly systematized.
