State Bank of Omaha

Takes Bonds at Par The State Bank of Omaha has an offer for Liberty bonds that it is believed will appeal most strongly to holders of these securities. President Schantz explains it thus: "People will get full value for their Liberty bonds. The bank buys them at par, 100 cents on the dollar, and outs them into a savings account for the depositor. The only condition is that he or she cannot withdraw the noney for twelve months. The noney earns the regular savings interest. This we do to encourage people to deposit more money, build up a savings account and learn thrift—instead of carrying their onds about or leaving them at home to be stolen or trading them for some doubtful investment."

In Smelter Products Rate Railroads operating from the southwest have filed application with the interstate commerce com-mission, asking for further increase in the freight rates on bullion, ore and smelter products into Omaha, Chicago and several Illinois points. One year ago there was a horizontal advance of 25 per cent on smelter products. The advance asked at this time would bring the total to 55 per cent over the rates effective early in 1918. The product that it is proposed to take the new rate originates in Mexico and enters the United States at Brownsville, Eagle Pass, El Paso and Laredo,

It is to overcome this condition that the out-of-town correspondents are using special delivery stamps more and more.

The increase in the special delivery business will run from 200 to 1,000 letters per day. This class of mail is handled by boys, and there are 18 of them employed in the Omaha postoffice. The boys do not receive a regular salary, as they must depend on the fees for their pay. They are a!lowed 8 cents on each special delivery letter, and some of them earn as high as $100 per month. The sale of special delivery stamps at the Omaha postoffice is getting to be a very large item. A great many persons resorting to this service affix 10 cents' worth of ordinary postage stamps to a letter and mark it special delivery.
