

NEBRASKA MAN GETS PASSPORT AFTER DELAY

Citizenship of Former U. S. Marshal Questioned; Delegate to Masonic Grand Lodge Meeting in London.

Washington, June 6.—(Special Telegram.)—After a number of personal interviews with the passport division of the State department, and finally with the law office of the department, Congressman Jefferis today secured a passport to England for Francis E. White of Omaha, grand secretary of the grand lodge of Masons of Nebraska. The grand lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of England is going to hold a peace celebration at London, beginning June 24 and continuing one week. All grand masters and grand secretaries in the United States have been invited to attend.

As Grand Master of Masons of Nebraska, Ambrose C. Epperson of Clay Center, insisted that the grand secretary attend this celebration, Mr. White made the necessary application for a passport, which has been held up until today on the question of his citizenship. He was born in England, but resided in Cass county with his father and mother when Nebraska was admitted as a state.

Representative Jefferis cited the case of James E. Boyd to support his contention that Mr. White was a citizen within the meaning of the law and the fact that he was marshal of the United States for the district of Nebraska for four years from March 27, 1893, the oath which he took to support the constitution being tantamount to citizenship. The passport will be sent to New York in time for Mr. White's sailing on June 14.

John Ehrhard of Stanton, Neb., is also desirous of attending the Grand Lodge in London on June 24 and Representative Evans is interesting himself in Mr. Ehrhard's behalf.

Father to Take Action to Fix Responsibility for Recent Tragedy

Indignant at the delay of the city authorities, G. R. Bailey, 502 1/2 North Thirtieth street, father of 12-year-old Mary Bailey, who with 11 other children was saved from drowning in the pond at Riverview park last week when four St. Agnes pupils lost their lives in the water after two leaky boats overturned yesterday, announced he would employ an attorney to take the necessary action in order to fix responsibility for the tragedy, which has stunned and shocked the entire community.

Little Mary Bailey still is dangerously ill at her home as a result of the neglect and exposure she endured while she lay for 30 minutes on the banks of the pond after being rescued from the water by John Pitzel and Ted Watterson. The family physician is constantly at the child's bedside. Complications have developed as a result of her harrowing experience.

Northwestern Train Is Wrecked Near Omaha; No Passengers Hurt

Eastbound train No. 8, coming in over the Northwestern lines from Long Pine, Neb., ran into a clogged switch and was wrecked at the Hurt siding, five miles west of Omaha at 11:30 o'clock Thursday night. The engine was derailed, but five cars, containing 100 passengers, remained standing.

Engineer Fred Ellerbrook of Norfolk, Neb., suffered a badly bruised knee. Both he and Fireman J. Burns, also of Norfolk, narrowly escaped death by jumping as the engine left the rails. One hundred feet of rails were stripped.

The engine was ascending a grade, traveling at a speed of 20 miles an hour at the time of the accident. The impact of the wreck was so slight that passengers did not know their train was beheaded until they went forward to investigate.

Conductor W. D. Gallup, 621 Harrison street, Council Bluffs, was in charge of the train.

Fred R. McConnell Thursday completed half a century of life in Omaha. On June 5, 1869, he came here with his mother and five brothers and sisters. His father had come ahead. He was the first master mechanic of the Union Pacific railroad.
