South Side Policeman Is One of Heirs to $100,000 Estate

Plans to Resign From Department and Enter Automobile Business; Brother Brings Good News.

F. H. Jackson, motorcycle policeman at the South Side station, has been notified by his brother that he is one of the heirs to his grandmother's estate of $100,000. They estimate that his share will be $25,000.

Jackson plans to resign from the police force and enter the automobile business. His father, a contractor in DePere, Wis., will probably move to Omaha to engage in business and he and the son will erect a building jointly.

The property consists of electric light and water power stock in DePere and about $25,000 in cash.

Jackson first heard of his good fortune when his brother enroute to his home in South Dakota from DePere stopped in Omaha for a visit. The estate was left to Jackson, his father, and two brothers.

Jackson and his wife have been living in an unfinished home for which they have been paying as they have been able to get the money.

Mrs. Jackson when questioned on her plan for using the money said, "The first thing we plan to do is finish our home."

Missionaries Will Speak on Mexico at Christian Church

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Child, of San Antonio, Tex., will speak at the South Side Christian church Sunday on conditions in Mexico. The Childs have had charge of a mission at San Antonio, Tex., for some time, and are well versed on conditions in the southern republic.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Child were educated at Cotner University in Nebraska. Mr. Childs was a freshman at Cotner at the same time as the Reverend Ford Ellis, now pastor of the South Side Christian church. During his freshman year at the college Mr. Child volunteered to take a mission course in missionary work and asked the Rev. Mr. Ellis to also volunteer.

Rev. Mr. Ellis refused, but told Mr. Child to go on with the course and by the time he was ready to take up missionary work he would have a church which would support him in the work.

The college promise is now fulfilled, as the South Side Christian church is supporting Mr. and Mrs. Child in their missionary work. Following their visit here the Childs will go to San Luis Potosi, Mexico, where they will have charge of a missionary school.

Graduates of Grade Schools Guests at South High Program

The graduating class of 18 South Side grade schools visited the South Side High school yesterday afternoon. It is estimated that there were 400 visitors in all, and their enthusiasm and interest in the program spoke well for a large freshman class next fall.

A special program was given by high school pupils in the High school auditorium. It included musical numbers by the girls' chorus and school orchestra and aesthetic dancing by girls' gymnasium classes.

A boosters' club, composed largely of Ninth grade pupils, greeted the visitors and piloted them about the building. When it was time to leave a large majority of the visitors expressed their intention to attend South High school. Many of them expressed a preference for commercial and industrial courses offered by the school.

Among the 18 schools represented were four parochial schools.

POLICE HEADS DEFENDANTS IN $25,000 SUIT

Charge Conspiracy in Liquor Raid to Search for Clothing Stolen From Delivery Boy.

Charging that Police Commissioner Ringer, Chief of Police Eberstein, and Assistant County Attorney Mossman conspired to have them arrested and caused a "whisky warrant" to be issued to search their home at 2538 Dodge street, Charles McClure and his wife filed suit yesterday in district court asking $25,000 damages from these officials and their sureties and from Julius Orkin, Ed. Farrell and Police Officers Oluf Thestrup, George Arrastrong and John Herdzina.

The home of the McClures was raided on the afternoon of May 7 by the police, supposedly for liquor, but in reality, it is alleged, to find a suit of clothes which a delivery boy for Orkin Brothers had reported was stolen from him near Twenty-fifth and Dodge streets.

The petition alleges that the police officials used legal proceedings wrongfully, fraudulently and maliciously to search the McClure home and to prosecute the McClures and to injure their good names, characters and reputations.

It is alleged that Ringer and Eberstein, when Julius Orkin reported the loss of the theft, advised him to swear out a "whisky warrant." This was done, it is alleged, to gain access to the McClure home for private purposes and not to search for liquor. It is alleged that Ringer, Eberstein and other defendants knew there were no intoxicating liquors on the premises.

Because of the "whisky warrant" sworn out and the raid made upon their home, the McClures set forth they have been made to appear in the eyes of the public as bootleggers, criminals and crooks, and not as law-abiding citizens and they have suffered great humiliation and have been brought into public scandal and disgrace and their good names have been injured and they have been injured in their work.

McClure is employed by the Peters Trust company as caretaker of an apartment house. Officers of the company say they will stand behind McClure in his suit.

Nothing was found by the officers in the search of the McClure home.
