Omaha to Have Grand Opera and Leading Artist of the World Will Sing Roles

Omahans Have Spanned the Chasm Between Provincialism and Metropolitanism—They Are Alive to Opportunity to Make the City a Gem Between Two Oceans.

By ADELAIDE KENNERLY.

Another feather in Omaha's cap! The spirit of progress is abroad and nothing can stop these western hustlers—when once they are started. They are on a veritable rampage for success.

Right on the heels of the "booster trip," members of the Chamber of Commerce, merchants and leading business men joined hands with society and women leaders in every walk of life, to bring grand opera to Omaha.

And why not? Did not these men who recently went out through the state and surrounding territory learn how much is expected of Omaha? Did they not learn that they were considered by people outside, to be the leading lights of the west? Omaha, they discovered, was looked upon by its neighbors as the little New York of the west—the middle-metropolis—that it was truly the "Gateway" where the commercial east joined hands with the productive west.

Commercial club and tea table discussions made these men and women more determined than ever to not disappoint those who believed in Omaha.

The result! Grand opera for Omaha! Cleofonte Campanini, general director of the Chicago Opera company, will bring celebrated artists here to sing in "Aida" and "La Boheme." Such magnets as Galli-Curci, Rosa Raisa, Yvonne Gall, Florence Macbeth, Tanaki Miura, Alessandro Dolci, Containe, Baklanoff and Lamont are scheduled to appear.

The grand opera experiment was tried out several years ago by Atlantans when that city was struggling for a place in the "sun." At that time the south was "breaking out in spots" with the spirit of progress and when northern ambition joined hands with southern culture—well, the tide began to turn. Atlanta's chamber of commerce, backed by every leading citizen in that Georgia capital, was filled with the "do or die" determination to make the city a mecca for all things great and beautiful.

At first they brought the Metropolitan Opera company there for two days. The opera season was advertised, written about, talked about and planned for three months in advance. Women from the outlying towns, for 200 and 300 miles around, decided to do their shopping in Atlanta. Their jewels were brought forth from dark hiding places; their old gowns were remodeled and new ones were purchased; they filled the hotels a week prior to the opening of opera.

Did the experiment work? Just a word in leaving Atlanta: Grand opera is an event every second year—not for a day, but for a week. People within 200 miles of that city plan more for the opera season than the population of the United States did for the great expositions at Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco. The hotels prepare for crowds, the merchants send their buyers to New York and abroad in advance of opera season, in anticipation of the crowds who have shopping orgies during opera season.

Society leaders entertained the artists at receptions, at dinner dances, at private parties, at golf and at the clubs. Headlines of recent papers tell us that "Atlantans revel in opera after two-year fast." No longer is the opera house used, but a great temporary coliseum has been built to accommodate the folks who flocked there 6,000 strong at every performance. Grand opera is taking the glory away from New Orleans Mardi Gras—as opera enthusiasm grows Mardi Gras hilarity diminishes.

Since before the war Atlanta has stood for the best in the south commercially, the best artistically and in most every other way. Omaha is evincing the same spirit. Indeed, there is nothing too big for it to undertake and bring through with triumphant flags flying high over success. Omaha is always a spiritual recreation; a break in the monotony of life, and the stepping stone to more beautiful and artistic heights.

The following list of some prominent folks who have already seen the light and have signed up as guarantors for opera. They are making the "clearing ahead": Mrs. E. W. Nash, Messrs. Tom Kelly, Jay D. Foster, E. Buckingham, W. B. Fagg, W. E. Reed, E. H. Flitton, Roy W. Towle, W. J. Hynes and John W. Reddick. Many of the progressive organizations have also signed as guarantors, including Burgess-Nash Co., J. L. Brandeis & Sons, Hospe & Co., George E. Nickel, Brunswick-Balke-Collendar Co., Nicholas Oil Co., Nicoll the Tailor, Drexel Shoe Co., Pease-Black Co., Beaton Drug Co., Sherman McConnell and others.

What Atlanta has done, Omaha can, and will, more than do. If all the present plans go through the east can no longer speak of Omaha with the Indian grunt, a far away stare and ask: "Oh, yes, that little packing house out west." It will crystallize into a veritable gem between two oceans.

Carl Anderson as "The Munkit-trick," Gertrude Passavoy as "Miss Munkit-trick," Leo Ryan as "Sir Colin Macphail," the wealthy Highland chieftain; Florence Reynolds, "Lady Macphail," will also furnish a pleasing comedy part.

Miss Mary Wallace is coaching the play with Miss Edna Cole as class sponsor. The following have charge of the ticket committee: Theodore Wood, chairman, Abe Millman, Walter Kocher and Max Janger.

The following have charge of the publicity: Irene Klepetka, chairman, Lucene Ballou, Gertrude Passavoy, Margaret Jacobson, Frances Adler, Isadore Levinson and Carl Anderson.

This is the first time that the seniors of the school gave a four act play. The school orchestra will furnish music between and after acts. Tickets will be on sale Monday morning at the school.

Informal Dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lasorowitz, 613 North Nineteenth street, entertained at dinner at their home Friday evening in honor of the wedding of Miss Rose Lasorowitz, whose marriage to Sgt. William O. Johnson will take place Sunday afternoon. Covers were placed for 18 guests, the immediate family of the bride and groom.

Removes the Roots of Superfluous Hair (Entirely New Method)

"Some is believing!" When your own eyes see the roots come out, you know the entire hair is gone, not merely the surface hair. You know that hair can never return. Yes, it is really true that the new phenetic method removes superfluous hair completely—roots and all—without the least injury to the skin, and without the hairless. You do the work in a jiffy, in your own home, without assistance. It does away with numerous and expensive visits to the electrolysis expert. Does away with depilatories or shaving at frequent intervals. Nothing like it ever known before. Perfectly harmless, odorless, non-irritating. Get a stick of phenetic, follow the easy instructions, and have the surprise of your life.—Adv.

Mrs. Charles Cobry a Pretty June Bride

Mrs. Chas. F. Cobry. BY MART-MARSDEN PHOTO.

Miss Margaret Cott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cott, and Mr. Charles Cobry of Fremont, were married Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Peter's church. Rev. Father McCarty, pastor of St. Peter's, performed the ceremony in the presence of about 200 friends of the family. The church was attractively decorated with palms, ferns and several shades of pink peonies.

Miss Frances Schmidt was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of lavender organdie with tulle hat to match and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lavender sweet peas. The bride was given away by her father. She was gowned in flesh colored organdie and wore a hat of flesh colored tulle. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and sweet peas.

Mr. James Daugherty was best man, and the ushers were the Messrs. Frank Robins and Elmer Higley.

A wedding breakfast and reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple left in the afternoon for a trip south. The bride's go-away suit was blue tricotine. With this was worn a small hat of braided straw. Mr. and Mrs. Cobry will be at home after July 1 in Fremont, Neb.

Diphtheria Left Her With Catarrh of the Throat. After Years of Suffering, this Lady Sought and Found Relief in PE-RU-NA, the Great Catarrh Remedy. While there is nothing unusual in the experience of Miss Louise Bruecker of 1326 East Twelfth St., East Oakland, Cal., her letter cannot help but be an inspiration to every sufferer from catarrh. This is what she says: "Diphtheria left me with catarrh of the throat. After years of suffering and disappointment, I gave up hope until I heard of PE-RU-NA. I tried it. Followed instructions and have had no catarrh since. Now, we always keep PE-RU-NA and MAN-A-LIN in the house." It is not necessary for any one to go on year after year suffering with catarrh in any form. PE-RU-NA is just as effective for catarrh of the stomach, bowels, liver and other organs as it is for coughs, colds and catarrh of the nose and throat. It is by regulating the digestion and aiding elimination that PE-RU-NA insures a rich supply of pure blood and nourishment being carried to the mucous linings everywhere. By keeping the mucous membranes healthy, the body is better able to repel disease and ward off such troubles as the Grip and Spanish Flu. PE-RU-NA is of extraordinary value in rebuilding the body to normal health and strength. Tablets or Liquid. Sold Everywhere.—Adv.

Reduced His Weight A President's Experience. Overstout men and women who have tried various methods for reducing weight without success will be interested in the discovery made by Mr. C. D. Stevens, president of Muelgong Boiler Works. This gentleman found that his weight was becoming burdensome. It was seriously interfering with his health and business efficiency. Happening to learn of a certain oil, he obtained some and began using it while following simple rules. To his surprise and delight, his weight began to reduce gradually until in less than three months he had lost 35 pounds. Mr. Stevens' better health, day and now he expresses great satisfaction at having gotten rid of the superfluous flesh. Many others, men and women, are following the Korois system, which has seven simple rules and includes all of Korois, a safe, wholesome treatment. No thyroid, no salts or calomel, no tedious exercises, no starving rules, no fruit diet and effective home self-treatment for overweight.

What Causes Wrinkles? What's The Remedy? Stop to consider what produces wrinkles and sagging of skin. Premature aging, mal-nutrition, etc., cause the skin to shrink, lose its youthful plumpness and firmness. The skin then is too large for the underlying tissue and sags and wrinkles and snuggly as it used to—it wrinkles or sags. Many must be plain that to tighten the skin, make it fit the face perfectly in every place, will effectively remove the hateful wrinkles and bagginess. This is easily and harmlessly accomplished by dissolving an ounce of powdered azoicite in a half pint of witch-hazel and using the solution as a face wash. The ingredients you can get at any drug store. The results are surprising. The skin immediately tightens up, becoming firm and fresh as in youth. Every wrinkle and sag are affected at once.—Adv.
