WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

WOMEN DEAR: It would be hard to conjure up a picture of more delightful frocks for summer wear than greet visitors in Omaha shops this month! Never was cotton put to more admirable uses than in these new dresses of organdy, Swiss, voile, net and gingham. Dresses of organdy and Swiss are attractively embellished with embroidery, pleating, hemstitching and lace. Voile and net dresses are enhanced with Valenciennes. Ribbons, entrancingly shimmerful, in striking combinations lend a note of contrast and wide sash ties of organdy, many of them with pleated edgings are used to voguish advantage. Tiny leather belts, narrowly becoming, lend chic inimitable to long basque-lined linen dresses, while small peplums, frill edged, break the plainness of otherwise simple-lined sheer frocks. Single-flower-boutonnieres, old blue or rose, combined with tiny fruits find a way to our hearts with their quaint charm, as they're seen piquantly perched on sash knottings, sweetly weighting the swaying ends.
"Old-fashioned new fashions," calico prints, ginghams, organdies, old lines renewed, they're supremely the frocks of youth for the flower-like charm of young girlhood seems to be a very part of them as they flounce in flower-like beauty, surpliced bodices ending in airy sash, faggoted pinked, picoted, terms of quaint loveliness familiar to feminine hearts of grandmother's fashion day.
