JUDGE FAILS TO FINE THREE MEN WHO SOLD WHISKY

Tells State Agents That He Will Not Recognize Conspiracy to Force Violation of Law.

State liquor agents received a serious shock in police court yesterday a. m. which they say threatens to disorganize their entire plan of action when Acting Police Judge Holmes dismissed three men whom they charged with unlawful possession and sale of intoxicating liquor.

In all three cases one agent testified that he bought whisky from his victim and then arrested him.

Conspired to Force Violation. In dismissing the men Judge Holmes gave the following opinion: "This court looks with disfavor on any action on the part of officers to conspire to trap a man into violating the law."

Special Prosecutor Yale Holland answered this decision by declaring that only one state in the union holds an officer cannot make convictions by soliciting a sale.

"I'll never pinch anyone from now on if they have only small amounts of whisky on them," said State Agent G. C. Peters when he heard the decision.

Potash Lake, Covering 200 Acres, Worth One Million, Expert Says

One little lake covering only 200 acres on the ranch of Peter and Anna Long, in Sheridan county, was worth $1,018,000, according to the testimony of H. Jones, an expert, in district court yesterday.

The Longs sold their 640-acre farm, including the lake, to John and Herman Krause in February, 1916, for just $8,000.

They are now suing the Krauses before a jury in District Judge Leslie's court for $992,000, alleging that the Krauses knew the value of the potash deposits in the lake when they bought the place, though witnesses testified that the Krauses pointed out that the lake was valueless and detracted from the value of the ranch.

Owners of lakes in the potash fields were receiving 20 per cent of the potash value as royalty in 1916, Jones said.

When I Feed My Baby

I LOVE to feed my baby. It seems somehow something more than just fixing his bottles and giving them to him.

It seems like giving him actual health—watching his cheeks grow pink, watching his little arms and legs fill out and dimple, watching him sleep better and smile oftener as he grows stronger and takes a firmer grip on life.
