

ROOT SCORES CONGRESS ON PROHIBITION

Says Body Is Exceeding Its Wartime Power in Enacting a Dry Law; Argues in Appeal Case.

New York, June 17.—Elihu Root declared "congress exceeded its powers" in enacting the wartime prohibition law and that "the collector of internal revenue holds the brewers of the United States in the hollow of his hand," in the course of his argument in the United States circuit court of appeals here Tuesday against the government's appeal to set aside the temporary injunction granted a month ago by Federal Judges Hand and Mayer.

The injunction restrains United States District Attorney Caffey and Acting Collector of Internal Revenue McElligott from prosecuting brewers or interfering with their production of 275 per cent beer.

Mr. Root, as counsel for the United States Brewers' Association, which is backing the test case made by the Jacob Hoffman Brewing company of New York, declared that "a business, heretofore, considered lawful and protected by the laws of the state and the United States is threatened with destruction. Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property is involved, and if the law is enforced as threatened by the United States attorney general irreparable injury will be done before the possibility of a final hearing in the courts."

Federal Judges Make Cut in Rio Grande Expense

Approximately $500,000 was lopped off the increased expenditure sheet presented by receivers of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad for hearing in federal court yesterday.

Judge Sanborn of St. Paul, Minn., and Judge Lewis of Denver, Colo., made the recommendation to the railroad director general after the hearing.

We have announced July 1st as the date of our removal to the Barker Block, 15th and Farnam streets. We have stated that this would be the finest dental office in the middle west. That the public may know, we invite them to visit us.

In the past number of years we have done dental work for thousands—always with the understanding that we guaranteed our work. To these we suggest that if they so desire, we would be glad to inspect the work done and if any attention is necessary we are ready and would be glad of the opportunity to make good our guarantee.

With larger office quarters, improved facilities, greater capacity; the presence of specialists in every branch of dental surgery, we can renew our promise to our friends and patients that all our work in the future as in the past, is done under a guarantee which at all times we stand prepared to protect.

Until July 1st we may be found at the 403 Brandeis Bldg. office. After July 1st in our new home on the Fourth Floor, Barker Block.

NO more romantic story of the war has come than that of the famous Lost Battalion, and of the ringing answer made to the Germans by the American commander when they demanded his surrender. It has been told in story and in many columns of newspaper print. The men of the battalion have been pictured in the dailies and in the weekly news reels of the moving picture theaters, but it has remained for David Wark Griffith to immortalize that story by impressing it in the indelebile celluloid of a photo-drama.

The story is a part of the new D. W. Griffith picture, "The Girl Who Stayed at Home," which is at the Rialto today and the remainder of this week.

The new Evelyn Nesbit picture, "My Little Sister," is to be presented at the Sun today to Saturday. It is a great photoplay—primarily because of the light it sheds on a great evil, but also because of its tremendous dramatic strength and the fine acting of Miss Nesbit.

"My Little Sister," the famous novel by Elizabeth Robins, has been dramatized for the screen. The story of the two happy sisters who were deceived into a notorious house by a woman who posed as their wealthy aunt is said to offer a splendid role.

Mary Pickford in "Daddy Longlegs" returns to Omaha today for a four-day run at the Strand theater. It is Miss Pickford's first picture made at the head of her own company, and is a delightful screen play of the famous book and stage success of the same title. The little orphanage girl is given an opportunity to become a young lady of education and her benefactor she only knows from a glimpse of his long legs as he hurried by the garden gate. So she terms him Daddy Longlegs, and how he meets her and wins her love is a charming romance in itself.

Because it is a play that will appeal to children, the Strand has arranged to hold a special children's show on Saturday morning at 9:15, at a special price of 10c.

The theme of "Hulda from Holland," written especially for Mary Pickford, is a delightful one. In this production she appears as a Dutch girl, who, with her three sisters and brothers comes to this country and after considerable trouble finds happiness. This photoplay will be shown at the Muse today. John Bowers plays opposite to the star.

"The Great Romance," with the late Harold Lockwood in the leading role, pictures him as the heir to a European principality which he turns into the most democratic state on earth. It is at the Empress for the last times today.

W. A. Pixley Resigns as General Auditor of Local Telephone Co.

W. A. Pixley

W. A. Pixley, general auditor of the Nebraska Telephone company and of the other companies of the Bell group having their headquarters in Omaha, has resigned and will devote his entire time to the Truck and Tractor corporation of Omaha of which he is vice president and general manager. Mr. Pixley takes up his new work July 1.

This announcement was made yesterday by President W. B. T. Belt of the telephone company. In making the announcement, Mr. Belt issued the following statement:

"Mr. Pixley has been with the telephone company for 27 years. During 14 years of which he has been its auditor, and we sincerely regret his leaving the organization. He has had a financial interest in the Truck and Tractor corporation for some time and feels that the future of the business is sufficiently promising to warrant severing his connection with the telephone company and devoting his entire time to the truck business.

Mr. Pixley's successor is F. L. Devereux of New York, formerly auditor of the long lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Mr. Pixley is the second official of the telephone company who has resigned to enter the automobile field. Lee Huff, Buick agent, having been district manager at Lincoln.

Church Sues City In Connection With the Dodge Street Grading

St. Mary Magdalene Catholic church, Nineteenth and Dodge streets, filed suit against the city of Omaha yesterday in district court for $30,720 damages which, it is alleged, will come to the church property by the grading of Dodge and Nineteenth streets.

The plans provide for a cut of 10½ to 21 feet in the streets on which the church fronts which will leave the edifice inaccessible, it is alleged.

This is one of a number of suits being filed against the city by property owners.

Automobile Dealer Boosts Commercial Aviation Here

Harry Newman, Chicago automobile dealer, was in Omaha yesterday to establish a distributing agency for airplanes.

Newman and James Levy, also of Chicago, bought 150 Canadian training planes. These are being sold to private individuals and service companies throughout the United States.

Aviation, according to Mr. Newman, is as safe as driving an automobile if the pilot attempts none of the stunts common to the "flying circus."

The Yellow Cab Co., of Chicago, says Mr. Newman, purchased 25 planes for taxi service and are now in a position to carry passengers from Chicago to St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City, or other points.

"Jimmy" Cosgrove On Trial On Charge of Shooting Unger

"Jimmy" Cosgrove is on trial before a jury in District Judge Redick's court on the charge of shooting with intent to do great bodily harm to John A. Unger on May 20. A dispute arose when a car driven by Cosgrove and one driven by Unger collided near Benson and it is charged that Cosgrove shot at Unger.

"Jimmy" is well known to the law-enforcing authorities. He said his business is automobile repairing at 1511 Davenport street.

"Don't you have any business which takes you to St. Joe and Kansas City frequently?" asked Deputy County Attorney Ready. "Jimmy" smiled but denied any such business.

J. R. McDonald Becomes Head of Telephone Group

J. R. McDonald, formerly assistant secretary and assistant treasurer of the Nebraska Telephone Co. and the other Bell companies having headquarters in Omaha, becomes treasurer of the group of companies, according to an announcement made by President W. B. T. Belt.

J. W. Christie, who has been secretary and treasurer, will be secretary only.

Instead of the work as secretary and treasurer being under the direction of one man with an assistant, the job will be separated into two distinct departments.

Mr. McDonald has been with the telephone company in Omaha 14 years.

Draws Double Fine

J. B. Olson, giving his address as J. B. Olson, Neb., was fined $225 on a charge of being intoxicated, and $30 for reckless driving in Central police court yesterday by Judge Foster.

AT THE THEATERS

LOTS of pretty girls in the chorus, a fine cast of principals to visualize the numerous roles, and a production that includes a real airplane that makes an actual flight during the course of the performance, are the attractive features of the musical play "Going Up," which will be at the Brandeis theater the last times today, for both matinee and evening.

One of the biggest of the many hits in "Going Up" is the "Tinkle-toe" number, a song with dance accompaniment that has literally swept the country with its cadence and rhythm.

"The Unpainted Woman," starring Mary MacLaren, will open a three-day engagement at the Brandeis tomorrow.

The play centers about a strong leading character, grand Triggerson, who typifies the true American girl of the present day.

The story tells of a "hired girl" who creates a stir by marrying the son of one of the wealthy families of a small mid-western town. The son is ostracized, and takes the downward path, finally meeting death in a drunken brawl.

Forced to make her own living and that of her little son, the wife goes back to the soil, and on a wheat farm works out the destiny that brings happiness at last.

Large matinee crowds at the Boyd are attending "Auction of Souls," the feature photodrama of the persecutions of the Armenians.

Despite the rapidly mounting thermometer Mr. Burgess, manager of the Boyd, declared that he had not seen so large an attendance at an afternoon performance for many weeks. "It seems," said he, "that people are willing to witness these tragedies because of the heroism and fortitude that is also depicted in this wonderful film."

In the presentation of the photodrama there has been created an Oriental atmosphere that leads deep into the mysteries of Turkey. Ushers are in gorgeous robes of the harem and specially selected music is rendered by a large orchestra, while the gorgeously caparisoned Oriental stage setting, valued at $15,000 adds a final touch.

Say Irish Conditions Not as Painted in Dunne-Walsh Report

London, June 17.—A detailed and specific reply to the report on conditions in Ireland made recently by Frank P. Walsh and Edward F. Dunne, American representatives of Irish societies in the United States, was issued from Dublin castle by James Ian MacPherson, chief secretary for Ireland. In dealing with the general charge of cruelties inflicted on prisoners, the statement says:

"Such statements are absolutely devoid of foundation. They are similar to statements recklessly made in connection with the treatment of Sinn Fein prisoners in Belfast prison, where the government appointed a judicial committee to investigate the charges thoroughly. The commission found there was not a word of truth in these statements."

"All prisoners," the statement says, "are in properly equipped cells, lighted and heated by hot water pipes, while the prisoners are supplied with books. The prisoners exercise in grounds enclosed by iron railings 'but in no wise resembling cages in zoological gardens.'"

The cells described as underground by the Americans, the Irish secretary says, are reception cells in which prisoners are put pending medical inspection in order to avoid possible infection. The secretary says the cells are not underground and are furnished and lighted with the usual sized windows.

Three Are Locked In Vault In Bank While Inspecting It

Tulsa, Okla., June 17.—C. T. Everett, assistant cashier of the First National bank, took his wife and small baby and his father and mother down to the bank on a Saturday night to see where he worked. He showed them over the place and then took them into the safety deposit vault. The child closed the door to the vault, locking his parents and grandparents in. After debating for some time whether to call the fire department or the cashier, the bank employee called the latter, and Mr. Everett and his party were let out, none the worse for their experience.
