Girls Are Great Farmers

Girls to Have Their Own Camp In One Corner of Farm.

Nebraska women—the western ranchers are calling you to "lay down the grammar and the chalk," take up the "pitchfork and the rake" and donning this uniform become part of the Women's Land Army of America for the summer.

Mrs. William Hubert, national director of the land army, is now in Omaha and will make every effort to "recruit" enough Nebraska girls to make possible the second land army unit in this state.

She has just returned from a visit to our one and only such camp—the much talked of farm of Marcus Cain, at Chadron where from early in the morning until late at night four girls do the entire farm work. They each have their team; they milk the cows, feed the chickens, plant the corn, harrow, plow and incidentally cause so much interest that autoists come from many miles to see how "Marcus's girls" work. The best proof is that Mr. Cain wrote a letter to the headquarters at New York, asking that two more girls be sent him. Letters come to him from every state in the west asking his "opinion" of western farming for women. And telegrams from newspapers—intimated that he had become almost a newspaper correspondent.

Because of the success of this experiment came the opportunity for another Nebraska unit. This place Mrs. Hubert has just returned from investigating and all depends upon Nebraska women whether it can be accomplished.

Down in Browley, Neb., there is a large ranch whose owner wishes to turn over the entire management of his hay harvesting to women. He asks for a complete squad of eight girls and one supervisor. He will furnish a little camp in one part of the farm where they will be entirely by themselves.

He asks that they be able to use "dumping rakes," drive and handle a team and one at least an "expert stacker." But if in all Nebraska there are no such "experts" he is willing to take a smaller, less efficient squad and put them under his foreman. Besides their board and room, these "summer farmerettes" receive from $55 to $60 every month.

And in the same vicinity there is another man who wants women for thrashing.

In the east there are many girls who, according to Mrs. Hubert, are more than anxious to try western farming, but as these opportunities are for only two months, it is the Nebraska and western girls who must keep up their reputation.

"The eastern camps are anxiously awaiting to see whether western women will be as eager to take up this work as the western farmers are to have them," said Mrs. Hubert. This National Woman's Land Army was established for a war emergency and in the east was more than efficient. Over 15,000 girls were working. Because of the emphasis that the government put upon men's place on the western farms, there were only about 3,000 women working here. After the war the work was taken over by the government Department of Labor and is affiliated with the United States employment service.

Mrs. Hubert will be at the Fontenelle and also at the federal employment bureau in the court house during her stay in Omaha.

Country Club.
Mrs. D. E. Bradshaw entertained at luncheon Tuesday. A large bowl of daisies formed the centerpiece. Covers were placed for the following: Miss Stella Robinson, Mesdames H. G. Robinson, E. D. Morcom, Ford E. Hovey, Atta Upham, John T. Yates, R. W. Porter, A. D. Cloyd, W. A. Fraser, J. E. Fitzgerald, Arthur Taylor, Raymond I. Forrest, Croxson, Charles Wright and M. G. Brown.

Levy-Melcher Wedding.

Delicate pink roses, so symbolic of June time and bride time decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Melcher. Tuesday evening when their daughter, Goldie, became the bride of Mr. Ike Levy. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Cohn.

Miss Juliette Levy was the bridesmaid and wore a charming gown of pink georgette and carried pink roses. Little Miss Frances Melcher, who carried the ring, wore a dainty frock of white organdy. Mr. Reuben Melcher attended the bridegroom.

Gleaming satin in a soft pink shade was worn by the bride and she will carry a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

After an informal reception the young couple left for Colorado. The bride's traveling suit will be of dark blue serge with a small hat to match. After July 1 Mr. and Mrs. Levy will be at home at 904 South Thirty-third street.

Dancing Party.
Mrs. E. W. Nash will give a dance Monday, June 23, at the Country club for her grandson, Nash Carlton, of San Francisco, and Miss Virginia Crofoot.

Field Club.
The Kappa Psi Delta sorority of the University of Omaha will entertain at the dance Wednesday evening. The Misses Frances and Dorothy Edwards will be honor guests.

Carter Lake.
Foursomes will be given Tuesday evening by J. C. Reddy and George Tuewzer. Parties of 12 will be given by J. C. Young and O. C. Hoeman.

The Cynosam club made reservations for 125 at the dance Friday evening.

City council of Youngstown, O., has decided to change the height of the steps on the city operated street cars to accommodate wearers of tight skirts. The lone councilman who offered a resolution to change the prevailing style of the women's skirts being ignominiously defeated.

Heart Beats

By A. K.

In early years
When life was new
And little children grew
With big ideas—
We dreamed great dreams
Of future fame
And headlines.
In the papers.
At night
Between bright coverlets
Our future
We would plan
And threaten all
The naughty kids
With our success
And riches!
The morning light
Brought no relief
From this determination
And a thousand times
In a score of years
We sailed away
In the realm of dreams
To the heights we
Would attain.
We'd leave behind
The common lot.
To work with mundane
Pinks and things
While we sailed on
To greatness.
But Time
And Fame
Skipped gaily by
Without the least regret
And left us struggling
With our dreams—
And we are struggling yet.
We will be great!
We must be great!
Who dares deny us greatness!
If we can't be
A great writer
We can be a Great failure.

Lovelorn

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Too Young.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am a girl, 17 years old, and I have been going with a boy for about 11 months. He is 21. I have promised to marry him when I am 18. About a week ago I saw him with another girl at an ice cream parlor. It is the first time I have ever seen him with another girl. Last night I asked him who the girl was and he said an old pal. I said he could keep on going with her because I'm not going to marry him. Was it wise to do this. Thanking you in advance, I am, B. A. D.

Don't be serious, little girl. Let him go with the other girl—and you have another interest. Eighteen is too young to marry. The average girl would out short her good times and girlhood by entering so serious a state as that of matrimony.

Freckles.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Am coming to you for advice, as so many others have, but I am not deep in love or anything of that sort, as seems to be the trouble of so many others. I feel certain that you who know everything can help me. I have many freckles on my face and arms and have tried many remedies, but nothing seems to help. I have now a bottle of "Derwillo," but have lost the directions how to be used with oatmeal. Wonder if you could help me here. Hope to see this in Monday's or Tuesday's Bee and thanking you in advance, I remain, MISS 17.

"Derwillo" is a new product and I am not familiar with its uses. Lemon juice is good; also there are one or two good freckle removers on the market. Ask the druggist.

Pretty and Generous.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I read your "Advice to the Lovelorn" every day, so am coming to you for a little advice. I am a young lady. I am considered very pretty and generous. 1. Is it right for me to go out riding with one boy first and then with a different one on the same evening? 2. Is it proper for the young man to put his arm around the girl when out riding? 3. If he wants to put his arm around me, and I don't want him to do this, what should I tell him to make him behave? Thanking you again, I am, ROSY CHEEKS.

You are indeed generous if you can entertain so many callers in one evening. I shouldn't think the young men would feel much complimented to know that they are merely time fillers. Try to make yourself so entertaining that some one of them will be able to enjoy your society for an entire evening.

A young man should not take, nor be permitted to take, the liberty of putting his arm around you. If you have sufficient self-respect to feel this way about it, I believe you will have the wit to get your idea "over." Any words which I might suggest for such an emergency would be ineffective without your own spirit back of them. Get hold of some ideals and try to live up to them and the right words will always bob up to your support when you need them.

Mrs. P. A. Rich and Son Leave for Bordeaux

Mrs. Philip Rich

An Omaha woman, Mrs. Philip A. Rich, 1204 North Twenty-seventh street, is one of the first women to receive the coveted passports that permit her to leave America for France, where she will join her husband, Capt. Philip Rich, a billiting officer now at Bordeaux.

Mrs. Rich received her transport papers Monday. She and her 3-year-old son Philip, Jr., left Tuesday night for New York, and after spending a short time with her sister, Mrs. C. R. Cettit, will sail about July 1.

But even more enviable is the invitation Mrs. Rich has received from Madame Audonis, whose husband is a major in the French army, to spend the month of August at their summer home in Royon, one of the most beautiful of French summer resorts.

Major Audonis and Captain Rich became intimate friends in connection with their military work and for over a year Madame Audonis and Mrs. Rich have corresponded. Captain Rich was a guest at the Audonis home during his leaves of absence and this visit is one of the silver linings that the war cloud has brought to French and American homes.

After this Captain and Mrs. Rich will travel into Holland, the old

War Camp

A new Victrola has been purchased for the Girls' Community House. It will be greatly enjoyed by those who love music.

All ex-soldiers are requested to register in the American Legion. Temporary headquarters have been established at the Army and Navy club. Mr. Arnold, the secretary, reports that enrollments are coming in rapidly.

The Wamm and Cluga clubs will hold a picnic in Elmwood park Tuesday evening. Games, athletic events, and a regular picnic supper will constitute some of the fun which they hope to have on this occasion.

The Nautilus club held a business meeting at the Girl's Community House Sunday afternoon and made plans for their work during the summer months.

A class for soldiers learning to dance will be started at the Army and Navy club Wednesday evening. Thousands of soldiers crippled by the war fail to fully understand their rights, particularly that involving re-education at government expense in callings suitable to their disability.

Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to secretary of war, says: "In some large cities crippled men in uniform are seen on the streets, panhandling kindly disposed persons. In nearly every case these men are plain, ordinary fakers, in the guise of soldiers who have taken this method of enlisting unmerited sympathy. No man disabled in service need engage in any sort of holdup game in the streets. Anyone seeing a man in uniform so engaged should inform him of the provision made for him by the government."

Uncle Sam wants to equip all to resume their part in civil life. The soldier is given an opportunity not only to learn a good trade, but is allowed from $65 to $100 per month during the schooling period. Those wishing further information can secure it through the War Camp Community service.

In contrast to the years of effort that woman have made for suffrage is the fact that John Lanun, of Springfield, Ill., mentally and physically capable, has reached his 99th year without ever having cast a vote.

home of Captain Rich. He came to this country in 1903 and this will be the first opportunity that he has had to return. It was while a boy here that he received a military training in one of Holland's military academies that fitted him for his captaincy in the United States army.

Mrs. Rich has been trying to obtain passports ever since January, 1918, when Captain Rich sailed. During the war this was impossible, but hers was one of the first to be received when the stringent rules were lifted.

Captain and Mrs. Rich will be absent about a year.

Her Job Was Easy for a While, But She Gets a Difficult Request.

Nora Reed, who has taken charge of the casting department of one of the film studios in New York, has many unusual requests from directors to record. The other day a director rushed into her office, shouted, "I must have a baby, not more than a day old. Got to have it right away," and rushed out. A few moments later a director bustled in, and, without looking up from the script he was reading said, "Miss Reed, please get me a character woman, about 200 pounds, preferably Irish, who can run a couple of hundred yards without being winded." Whereupon he walked out, still pursuing his script.

The observer wondered how Miss Reed would manage, but it seems that she did. A few hours later the baby that was a day old arrived at the studio accompanied by a nurse maid and began to do its first screen work at the same time that the 200 pounder, female, was doing an outdoor stunt in a comedy scene. Miss Reed, however, didn't look so cheerful. "I've just had a request," she confided, "for a man who looks like Christ for a religious picture we are going to make, and it will be a difficult task."

Mirrors were used by the early Anglo-Saxon women slung to their girdles.

La Creole Ends Gray Hair

FOR many generations La Creole Hair Dressing has been favorite among the aristocratic Creoles of Louisiana whose wonderful dark hair is a mark of their pure Spanish-French descent. La Creole preserves the lustrous color and beauty of their hair to the very end of life.

La Creole Hair Dressing

prevents gray hair and will bring back gray, gray-streaked, or faded hair to its youthful color and beauty. La Creole contains no dyes. It promotes that healthy condition of hair and scalp which nature intended and its effect is gradual but certain. An occasional application preserves the healthy color permanently after it has been recovered.

La Creole makes the hair soft, wavy, beautiful. Of course it gives no dyed look—there is nothing to wash or rub off, or to stain the scalp. Eliminates dandruff. Healthful, fragrant, delightful. Guaranteed to bring back hair's color, or money refunded.

Write for fascinating booklet, "La Creole," Hair Beautiful. Shows style of hair dress best for each type of face.
