income of persons or property, favors state colleges for working men's children and demands a verdict for labor in conducting industrial education. Urges government aid in building homes; opposes large standing armies; favors help for soldiers, and, as an urgent and immediate remedial measure, urges the payment of salaries to returning soldiers and sailors for a limited period after discharge.
The committee recommends approval of the program, not because it believes it all comprehensive, but fundamental; not because of its idealism, but because of its practicability; not because of its novelty, but because it is founded on experience and justice. The program is highly constructive in character and excellently designed to benefit not only a part of society, but to bring to all the people greater hope for a better day, a brighter life, greater liberty and a larger measure of prosperity and happiness.

HEATED REMARKS EXCHANGED OVER KNOX RESOLUTION

Its Adoption Would Be Interpreted as Uncalled-For Effort to Dictate to Peace Conference, Thomas Says.

Washington, June 19.—Adoption of the Knox resolution regarding the league of nations and the peace treaty would be interpreted as an uncalled-for effort by the senate to dictate to the peace conference, Senator Thomas, democrat, Colorado, said today in opposing the measure. The Colorado senator declared the proposal that the senate declare itself now against accepting the league as intertwined with the peace terms was improper and unwarranted.
Senator Thomas declared the Knox resolution raised fundamental questions regarding the power of the senate in treaty making and also of expediency of an expression by the senate.
Opportunity to Sign.
Replying to Senator Knox's charges that the democrats had made the league a partisan issue, Senator Thomas cited the record of the last session against the league, "on which the name of the republican leader led all the rest," Democratic senators, Mr. Thomas said, were given no opportunity to sign the document.
"The republicans," he continued, "have reorganized this senate. They have thoroughly reorganized the committee on foreign relations. It is an open secret that no new senators except enemies of the league of nations were eligible to membership on that committee."
Senator Pomeroy, Ohio, a democratic member of the committee, interrupted to remark that the republicans also were "not satisfied until they had given themselves a majority of three on the committee, and Senator Williams, democrat, of Mississippi, challenged any republican senator to deny "that the committee had been stacked against the league."
The challenge started a partisan debate so heated that Vice President Marshall repeatedly admonished senators against breaking the rules. Senator Moses of New Hampshire, a new republican member of the committee, said his selection to membership had been "stacked against the president only in the sense that he is a democrat and I am a republican."
"No," shouted Senator Williams, "you have stacked it against the president, in fact, as well as against a democratic president. You have left on it only one republican favoring the league, Mr. McCumber, of North Dakota, and the reason you left him was because you did not dare take him off."
Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois, declared it might also be said that "the peace commission to Paris was stacked with democrats ready to bow to the will of the chief executive."
Senator Williams replied that the Paris conference at least had done its work while the republican senators through the Knox resolution were "asking for time to think when, if you had any capacity to think at all, you'd have thought long ago."

Evidence In Brown Case Shows All Proof Demanded Furnished

exceeded their authority when they raided the houses on the night of June 6. Dunn declared that he told the men to watch the Cass street house and report to him. The policemen were not instructed to raid either house, said Dunn, who just had received a report from officers who watched the flat for six consecutive nights without observing any disorder about the place.

This, the mayor declares, is an important point to be determined by the council.
Kelly declares he was allowed to escape after carrying out his part of the arrangement to frame up on the Cass street house. Kelly has been walking the streets of the city defied policemen to arrest him.
Another point to be determined by the council is to the satisfaction of it put in this question:
"Did Officer Herdzina, while in Mrs. Brown's apartment, subject her to unnecessary humiliation by insisting on remaining in her room while she was dressing?"
More Proof of Guilt.
According to Mrs. Brown's word and the testimony of Thomas Brown, her son, and Miss Dorothy Brown a daughter, Herdzina did remain in Mrs. Brown's room while she dressed until he was thrown out by Mr. Brown.
Mayor Smith also laid stress on this question when he read his statement to the members of the council:
"Was Mrs. Brown denied the right to give bond when taken to the police station, and was she treated with unreasonable severity and subjected to cruel treatment by being required to spend the night in a cell also occupied by criminals of the lowest character?"
It has been established that Mrs. Brown was denied the right to give bond. She was abused by the city jailer until it was necessary for her to remain in the hospital for a week after she was released from jail.
"I respectfully recommend that this council at the proper time enter upon a thorough examination of these matters," is the closing injunction of the lengthy document, which the mayor read to the members of the council immediately following the filing of the complaint by Attorney Lloyd A. Magner against the two detectives.
All Questions Answered.
All of the mayor's questions have been answered. They have been answered to the extreme detriment of Detectives Herdzina and Armstrong. So far as is known, neither of the detectives have even been taken to task.
While Mayor Smith, either by design or through an oversight made no reference in his original statement to the charge that the two detectives were drunk when they raided the flats, according to the testimony of a half-dozen witnesses, the men were intoxicated.
Kelly says he got drunk with them. The girls living in the flat at 2106 Cass street, say they were drunk. Miss Dorothy Brown and Thomas Brown say they were drunk, and the policeman who drove Herdzina and Armstrong to their homes following the raids, said that the detectives had been drinking.
Now the mayor has again delayed the hearing in order to get Kelly. He says he wants to hear Kelly, too, say the men were drunk.

POSTPONE SHOW IN BLUFFS; SMALL CROWD PRESENT

Promoter Al Fiori to Stage Same Men at Ball Park on July 15 in Open Air Carnival.

Fear of sweltering in the Council Bluffs auditorium kept the fans away last night and only about two dozen were present at half past eight, the hour billed for the opening event of the program and promoter Al Fiori called the entire show off rather than let the men go out for the little they could get out of such a small house.
Both the main event contestants were on hand and ready to go on had Fiori decided to put the show on, but he figured to lose as well as be able to pay the wrestlers to put a star wrestling carnival on in the open, at the ball park, on July 15, with Peters and Gana in the main event, Everett Miller and Jess Queen in the semi and Tom Ray and Young Remington in the opener, making a real all-star card that should draw a capacity house.
The tickets for this show will be placed on sale early next week, in several places in Omaha and Council Bluffs. The Merchants hotel and Ernie Holmes' billiard parlors and probably one or two other Omaha sporting quarters will handle the tickets. The prices will be $1, $2 and $3.
Every bout on the card will be billed for a finish, the first two to go to one fall and the main event to best two out of three falls. Kid Graves, sporting editor of the Bee, will referee the entire card.

BELGIAN KING BIDS GODSPEED TO PRESIDENT

as I understand them, their neutrality was insecure, but because their neutrality put them upon a different basis of action from other peoples. In their natural and proper pride they desired to occupy a place that was not exceptional, but in the ranks of free peoples under all governments.

"I honored this instinct in them and it was for that reason that the first time I had occasion to speak of what the war might accomplish for Belgium, I spoke of her winning a place of equality among the nations. So, Belgium has, so to say, once more come into her own through this deep valley of suffering through which she has gone.
Cause Links World Together.
"Not only that, but her cause has linked the governments of the civilized world together. They have realized their common duty. They have drawn together as if instinctively into a league of right. They have put the whole power of organized manhood behind this conception of justice, which is common to mankind.
"That is the significance, gentlemen, of the league of nations. The league of nations was an inevitable consequence of this war. It was a league of rights, and no thoughtful statesman, who let his thought run into the future, could wish for a moment to slacken those bonds. His first thought would be to strengthen them and to perpetuate this combination of the great governments of the world for maintenance of justice.
"The league of nations is the child of this war, for it is the expression of those permanent resolutions which grew out of the temporary necessities of this great struggle, and any nation which declines to adhere to this covenant

Sees Danger of War in Shantung Settlement

Washington, June 19.—Jeremiah J. Jenks of the University of New York, told the house immigration committee today that the greatest danger of war in the future lay in the action of the Paris Peace conference in awarding to Japan "the alleged claims" of Germany in Kiaochow and the province of Shantung.

deliberately turns away from the most telling appeal that has ever been made to its conscience and to its manhood.
"The nation that wishes to use the league of nations for its convenience and not for the service of the rest of the world deliberately chooses to turn back to those bad days of selfish contest, when every nation thought first and always of itself, and not of its neighbors; thought of its rights and forgot its duties; thought of its power and overlooked its responsibility.
"Those bad days, I hope, are gone, and the great moral power backed, if need be, by the great physical power of the civilized nations of the world will now stand firm for the maintenance of the fine partnership which we have thus inaugurated.
"It cannot be otherwise. Perhaps

Vested With Too Much Power.
"By the issuance of injunctive decrees by our courts, by the restraint they place upon the normal and rightful activities of a free people, by the punishing of free men in the exercise of their constitutional rights without opportunity to a trial by jury, by the removal of safeguards thrown around the individual against extreme and excessive punishments and the denial of an opportunity of executive clemency, our courts have vested themselves with a power greater than any despot ever heretofore possessed.
"The fate of the sovereignty of American people again hangs in the balance. It is inconceivable that such an autocratic despotical and tyrannical power can long remain in a democracy. One or the other must ultimately give way, and we believe that this convention should declare that as wage earners and citizens of a free and democratic republic, we shall stand firmly and conscientiously on our rights as free men and that injunctive decrees that invade our personal liberties as unwarranted, in fact, unjustified in law and illegal as being in violation of our constitutional safeguards and accept whatever consequences may follow.
Want Adequate Laws.
"Immediate steps should be taken by the executive council and by all state organizations for the early enactment of adequate laws to deny the further usurpation of these unwarranted powers by our courts and that congress should be petitioned to impeach all judges who exercise governmental functions and authority not expressly delegated to them. The public mind and conscience should be fully aroused to the dangers confronting the liberties of our people."
The convention also adopted a report providing that all labor organizations in the United States should closely co-operate with trade unionists in Canada in establishing stable conditions and should give Canadian members of international organizations advice and counsel and call "attention to the sinister influences which are working in Canada to split up organized labor."
Without even a debate the convention went on record against the formation of a political labor party.
