

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

We, ignorant of ourselves, Beg often our own harms, which the wise powers Deny us for our good; so find we profit, By losing of our prayers.—Shakespeare.

He prayeth best who loveth best All things both great and small; For the dear God who loveth us, He made and loveth all.—Coleridge.

Some Complexion Hints

Maris Walcamp, star of the Universal serial, "The Red Glove," receives many letters from admirers all over the world, asking how she manages to preserve such a beautiful complexion. Her recipe is simple: "Fresh air and cold water are the best beauty secrets I know," says Marie. "A good cream in moderation is useful, but other lotions and massages I consider positively harmful. The pores should be kept open. Get a good complexion soap and wash the skin frequently. I never allow the sun to beat upon my face, but wear a wide-brimmed hat, and often a veil. "Ice is excellent for hardening the muscles under the skin, thus preventing wrinkles. Plenty of sleep also is essential to a good complexion." Girl students of Stanford university, California, are organizing a first class base ball team.

Mrs. William Herbert Smail and Bridal Attendants

Left to right: Miss Grace Slabaugh, Miss Jacy Allen, Mrs. Herbert Smail, Mrs. Earl Burket, Miss Helen Smail and Mrs. Rollin Sturtevant. One of the most beautiful home Wednesdays evening when Miss Mabel Allen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Allen, became the bride of Mr. William Herbert Smail. The attendants of the bride included Miss Helen Smail, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid; Miss Jacy Allen, cousin of the bride as maid of honor; and Mrs. Earl Burket, as matron of honor. Miss Grace Slabaugh played the wedding march and Mrs. Rollin Sturtevant sang.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Love Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A Smart Little Girl. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I have written to you before and thought your advice just fine, so I'm writing again. I am 12 years old. Do girls of my age wear silk georgette or chiffon dresses? Should I wear my hair down? Nearly all of my friends wear their hair down. Would you please tell me who Billie Burke married and how old and how does she name her baby? How old is Mary Pickford and Anita Stewart? Do girls of 17 wear silk dresses now? I have brown hair and blue eyes. Would a green dress suit me? Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain, ROSY CHEEKS.

What a category of questions! You can think pretty fast for such a little girl, and evidently have a thirst for knowledge. Let that active, dancing brain of yours spend itself on your school work, good reading, music lessons, etc., and permit your mother to decide upon the kind of sleeves you shall have. (She may want to "make over" something for you and it would be a shame for me to spoil her plans by saying you shouldn't wear it.) Simple styles and inexpensive materials are best for a girl of 12. Think of all the years you can do your hair "up" and then wear it "down" while you can.

Billie Burke is Mrs. Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., and her baby's name is Patricia Burke Ziegfeld. Mary Pickford is 26 years old; Anita Stewart is 23. Nancy—Frankly, I don't think that you are at all in love with any of your three admirers. If you were, you would not hesitate. Beside at 18, with your longing to travel and see various parts of the world, I think that you will not only make yourself miserable, but any one of the eager three.

Don't you think that it is the man, as you say, who is undertaking a large proposition in marrying without your love? You have forgotten yourself—and it is just there where the important commences. The ring being slipped on your finger is all very well, but remember that that is only the beginning. I do think, judging by your letter, that you are too young. Years do not signify everything, although 18 is very young. It is what you are ready for and what you want. You will be losing the best and biggest out of life if, as in a lottery, you merely become engaged to one of these three boys, for the sake of being engaged. You're only a girl—that's all.

Unprofitable. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: We are constant readers of your columns and we think your advice is very good, so we are coming to you for some advice. We are two girls, 13 and 14 years of age. We are in the Eighth and Tenth grades, respectively. Now, the question is: Are we far enough advanced for our ages? Are we too young to go with boys? Is it proper to stand on the corner and talk to boys in the day time? Are we too young to go to public dances? Thanking you in advance, we are, PAULS.

P. S.—When you have not too many letters would you please publish this in The Omaha Daily Bee. You are well advanced—in school—for your years. This being the case, I believe your judgment will tell you when it is, or is not, proper to stand on a street corner and talk to boys. It is a bad habit, but in the course of one's lifetime there is likely to be an occasion or two when it is quite all right to stop for a brief word on the corner or elsewhere.

It is just as important in life that we know what to omit as to what to include. Girls of your age can omit public dances without regret because there are so many wonderful ways in which time may be better spent—music, literature, art, athletics, wholesome companionship with people, your elders, or girl friends, and boys need not be excluded. But dances mean late hours, conscious association with boys, and—at your time in life—an unprofitable expenditure of time.

Mary—Of course you meant to do "your bit" as did hundreds of other girls who found headaches afterward. At 16 you should not have taken the hallivators from an acquaintance such as this boy; you should not have allowed those letters to become so much more than friendly, but you did, and now since he has stopped writing, for your own happiness put him out of your mind, return the hallivators and just resolve that in the future you will not continue this habit. If you send the necklace back, I think that that is sufficient. The fewer letters that you write the sooner you stop mistaking him for a friend. You should have so many other interests at 16 that this need not be the paramount one.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am a young girl of 19 and have come to you for advice. Am I too young to go out with boys? My parents seriously object to having young men call at my home. I weigh 299 1/2 pounds. While out car riding is it proper to sit on a boy's lap if the car is crowded? I am considered very beautiful and am highly respectable. Do you think I am too old to wear my hair in curls and wear ribbons? How is my writing and grammar for a child of my age? I am a graduate of Darr university. Hoping to see this in print soon and thanking you in advance, I R. CUTE. You're all right in your way, but you weigh a little too much.

Movie Actresses. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Will you please tell me the address of Jane and Katherine Lee, also the addresses of Viola Dana and Mae Allison. I remain, Y. C. The Lee children's address is 5704 La Mirada avenue, Los Angeles, Calif. Mae Allison—Address Metro, Hollywood, Calif., and Viola Dana, 7070 Franklin avenue, Los Angeles.
