

SINKING SHIPS HELD VIOLATION OF ARMISTICE

Council Informs Germany
That Commanders Will Be Punished and Reparation Exacted.

Paris, June 26.—Germany has been notified in a note sent today by the allies that they possess the right to punish the persons responsible for the destruction of the German ships and to collect reparation for the loss. The sinking of the fleet is denounced as a violation of the armistice and a deliberate breach in advance of the conditions of peace.

When the investigations have been completed, the note states, the allies will exact "the necessary reparation."

We have announced July 1st as the date of our removal to the Barker Block, 15th and Farnam streets. We have stated that this would be the finest dental office in the middle west. That the public may know, we invite them to visit us.

In the past number of years we have done dental work for thousands—always with the understanding that we guaranteed our work. To these we suggest that if they so desire, we would be glad to inspect the work done and if any attention is necessary we are ready and would be glad of the opportunity to make good our guarantee.

With larger office quarters, improved facilities, greater capacity, the presence of specialists in every branch of dental surgery, we can renew our promise to our friends and patrons that all our work in the future as in the past, is done under a guarantee which at all times we stand prepared to protect.

Until July 1st we may be found at the 403 Brandeis Bldg. office. After July 1st in our new home on the Fourth Floor, Barker Block.

Empress—A Japanese operette heads the vaudeville bill at the Empress this half of the week, and as the photoplay attraction there is offered Bessie Barriscale in "Tantamount," a stirring story of how a woman vindicates her character.

Richard Jones, the Sennett comedy director, made a sensational debut in motion pictures. The first time he came into a studio, Mr. Sennett was working in a comedy with the late Fred Mace. On that day pie throwing was at its height. Somebody was trying to hit somebody else with a pie. They missed the mark every time. "Here," said Mr. Sennett, looking up and catching sight of Jones, "you try this." Mr. Jones, having been a star college baseball pitcher, got the pie, wound up the way they do, hoisted one leg toward the chandeliers, balanced himself on the other foot and let her go—zowie! The outdoor drop struck Mace in the eye and nearly knocked him out. Jones got a permanent job with the company, but they never asked him to throw any more pies. For safety's sake, they put him in the chemical department.

Strand—A really worth-while photoplay is "The Haunted Bedroom," starring dainty Enid Bennett, which is on view at the Strand. The mystical atmosphere imparted by the story fills the spectator with thrills and there isn't a dull moment throughout the action. It is quite certain that all who see this production will find it entertaining to a degree. The support is excellent.

Muse—The jovial Taylor Holmes has never been funnier than he is in this story, from the popular monthly magazine, by George Agnew Chamberlain. The laughs start during the first reel, when the hero must sacrifice his fortune because he has rescued a little girl from the back row of the chorus. He becomes a taxi driver to fill the void caused by his loss. When he meets her, the maid-of-all-work, Maude Eburne, at the chauffeur's lodgings, attempts to force her unwelcome courtship by her supposed knowledge that her hero is the "taxi bandit," even the most chronic grouch won't be able to keep his face straight.

Rialto—A new picture in which that delightful and popular little star, Vivian Martin, plays the leading role. An Innocent Adventure, which will be shown here today and Saturday. The picture shows how the innocence of a little girl can sometimes become a great and powerful force for good and cause the regeneration of a man. In this instance...

Police Find Alleged Clearing House for Stolen Automobiles

Declaring they have discovered a clearing house for stolen automobiles, police yesterday announced the recovery of one machine and stated that others would be brought in within 24 hours.

The missing link in the chain of evidence is the disappearance of William Raut, 302 South Twenty-fourth street, for whom police are still searching.

The car recovered yesterday was found in Raut's garage at his home. It was stolen June 12 from O. Perry, 712 South Seventeenth street. The motor numbers of the machine had been changed and other parts of the car manipulated as to almost prevent identification.

Recommend Maximum Height of 150 Feet for Buildings

The city planning board will recommend to the city council that a maximum height of 150 feet shall be included in the city's building code. This action is on the recommendation of Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the St. Louis planning board and consulting engineer of the Omaha planning board. The St. Louis limit is 150 feet. There are five buildings in Omaha which are more than 150 feet in height.

Now the Mayor Offers an Ice Ordinance to Council

Mayor Smith yesterday offered to the city council an amendment to the Sunday ice ordinance, proposing that Sunday sales shall be permitted in cases where purchasers want the ice for their own use and will do their own delivering. This will not affect the existing prohibition of Sunday deliveries by dealers. The amendment was held over for passage in eight days.

stance the man was a mere boy who had once been a thief, but who now is trying to live up to the higher ideals of life—honesty, truth and faithfulness. A queer turn of circumstances causes the boy to think the girl a thief and, thus deprived of this inspiration, which had kept him from joining his pals, he now goes back to the old "game."

Brandeis—Monroe Salisbury is at the Brandeis theater in his latest photodramatic production entitled "The Sleeping Lion." Mr. Salisbury is awarded the role of Tony, an Italian who, after working years at sea, returns to his home in New York, finally accumulating enough money to enable him to go west and buy a ranch. He takes with him little Tony, a newsie he has adopted, and also a promise from Carlotta that she will wait for him until he has the funds for her traveling expenses. His experiences with the inhabitants of the non-friendliness west constitute the major part of the action. In his work he is ably assisted by little Pat Moore as the boy, by Rhea Mitchell as the girl he meets in the west and by Herschel Mayall as his sworn enemy.

Alfred Hickman is playing an important role in support of Creighton Hale and June Caprice in "The Unknown Dancer," now in the course of production at the Capellani studio, under the direction of George Archambaud.

To Install Automatic Telephones in Tyler and Douglas Exchanges

Douglas and Tyler exchanges of the Nebraska Telephone company will be supplied with automatic telephones to supplant the less modern "manual" instruments now in use, according to an announcement by President W. B. T. Belt.

Though the change has been definitely decided upon, it will not take place until some time in 1921, before which time the supplies and equipment necessary for the installation of the new instruments cannot be manufactured and transported to this city.

The material and equipment has already been contracted for. A year will elapse before the new equipment can be installed after it arrives here, said Mr. Belt.

All employees of the company will be retained after the substitution, although this will necessitate the transfer of many girls now employed as operators to other departments.

The shortage of employees is so great at present that it is believed the Tyler and Douglas exchange operators may find positions in other exchanges.

First Flight of Omaha Commercial Plane Ends Disastrously

After several delays the birdmen started for North Bend, Neb., where they were under contract to give an exhibition yesterday. After flying about a half mile the engine failed to work and the plane swooped downward, catching on some wires as it fell.

Police Inefficiency Is Cause of Another Drowning Tragedy

Commissioner Ringer Admits Pulmotors Were Not Repaired After Death of Four Children Month Ago. He Says: "We Don't Believe in Them."

Police inefficiency and Commissioner Ringer's refusal to keep the pulmotor in repair were directly responsible for the death Wednesday night of Joseph Wiley, the 12-year-old boy, who died after being rescued from George's lake between Benson and Happy Hollow, according to Mr. Ringer's own admission. Young Wiley was taken from 25 feet of water and life was not extinct for half an hour.

Had there been one of the paid city physicians at the police station to answer the emergency, as there is supposed to be at all times, and had the pulmotor been in working order, young Wiley would be alive today.

This is the belief of those who exerted all of the efforts at their command to save the boy's life.

Ringer Admits Charge.

Commissioner Ringer, who was criticized severely for not keeping the pulmotor in repair, which resulted in the death of several school children a month ago in Riverview park, admits he has made no effort to put the lungmotor in working order. He declared he did not believe in pulmotors, notwithstanding the fact they are used successfully every day all over the country.

No effort is being made, said Mr. Ringer, to keep the police pulmotor in working order. "On the advice of Health Commissioner Manning some time ago, we are not keeping these pulmotors up. Dr. Manning advised us that the manual form of resuscitation is the most reliable," said the police commissioner, "and that the pulmotors are not reliable and not worth keeping in working condition."

Police Commissioner Ringer's refusal to repair the lungmotor was the cause of the death of one or two of the children in Riverview park, according to the statement of one of the policemen who helped take the children from the water at that time.

Showed Signs of Life

S. S. Montgomery, 5019 Chicago street, declared that while he was attempting to resuscitate Wiley Wednesday, the victim showed signs of life, and that it is more than probable if the police, who were already on the scene, had been accompanied by a physician ready to use the pulmotor, the child's life would have been saved.

Montgomery, who is indignant over the inability of the police department to meet emergency cases of this character, made the following statement:

"When I reached the scene of the drowning the police were there without a physician or pulmotor. I
