On the other hand we have a black haired Irishman who knows navy range at Caldwell, N. J., from of Jack Dempsey, before he allows the challenger to enter the ring with Willard July 4. Kearns made known his decision tonight.

The punch is a blow delivered to the back of the neck while the men are fighting in clinches with at least one arm free. Both Willard and Dempsey have been using it with punishing effect in their training bouts and Manager Kearns claims that while the blow is a favorite with the champion, it is not at all important in Dempsey's repertoire of punches. Such a delivery is barred and has been forbidden in big fights. The rules of the Toledo boxing commission are silent about this punch They insist upon clean breaks and prohibit the kidney punch while the boxers are clinched. The blow however, is permissible under the Toledo rules if the boxers are not locked in an embrace. Kearns said he will request Ollie Pecord, referee, to see that the punch is not delivered and will insist upon having an understanding with Willard to that effect before
