WOUNDED 25 TIMES, YET "AFRAID" TO FACE CROWDS.

Des Moines, July .- Private Clyde M. Boyd of Payne, O., cared so little for danger when facing German fire in France that he came out of the war with 25 wounds, one leg missing, one thumb missing, a finger split in two, the Croix de Guerre, the Distinguished Service Cross and a special letter of commendation from General Pershing.

However, he and Private Joseph Buffalo of Bixby, Okl., and Cor-poral John Coakley, of Kansas City, sent a communication to the commanding officer at Fort Des Moines asking that decorations they are to receive Sunday be presented in the hospital because they were "afraid to face the crowd," expected to attend the July Fourth celebration. It is estimated that never before in the history of Omaha have such great stores of liquor been conveyed here. Persons who are in close touch with the situation de clare that not even when licensed saloons were running full blast was there as much whisky stored in Omaha as there is today.

"We never did have much fear of the Omaha police, said one man who came into the city from Missouri yesterday with his car loaded down with 36 cases of whisky. 'I have always figured that I would get caught with about one load out of 25, and would charge it off to profit and loss. I have been caught just twice, and was fined once."

FIGHT EXPECTED TO BE GREATEST EVER STAGED

Queensbury Rules; One Minute Rest Periods; Ollie Pecord, Referee; Two Judges; Twelve Rounds; Even Bets.

Toledo, July 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—With the world's heavyweight pugilistic championship at stake, Champion Jess Willard and Challenger Jack Dempsey will box 12 rounds at Bay View park, on the banks of the Maumee river here, July 4, in what is expected to be the greatest event of its kind ever staged. Eclipsing all previous records in this direction, Promoter Rickard had guaranteed $100,000 to Willard, win, lose or draw, and $27,500 to Dempsey under the same conditions, while the profits from the moving pictures will be divided into thirds. An arena to seat 80,000 spectators has been erected at a cost of $150,-000 and if the gate receipts are up to expectations, more than $1,000,000 will pass through the hands of the promoter. Seven per cent will go to local authorities, 10 per cent to the government in the form of a war tax, while scores of other expense details will cut heavily into the huge sum.

The giant boxers agreed to box under the Marquis of Queensbury rules, with the kidney punch land earned the right to government in- the side hand chop blow or rabbit punch barred. of the referee in counting out the fallen boxer will close the bout. If the judges disagree after 12 rounds of boxing the referee will cast the deciding vote. He will also be required to secure confirmation of at least one judge before disqualifying a principal for fouling or other violation of the rules.

Although Dempsey will wear especially constructed five-ounce gloves, Willard's will weigh nearer six ounces, due to the size of his hands. There will be no more padding in his gloves, however, than in those of the challenger.

The contest will be fought in a 20-foot square ring and each boxer will be allowed 5 seconds in his corner. Soft bandages and a rea-(Continued on Page Two, Column One.)

Willard Sure He'll , Retain His Title; "I'll Win"--Dempsey

Toledo, July 3.—In statements prepared for the Associated Press, Willard and Dempsey gave their views on their contest.
Champion Jess Willard said:
"From the day I signed the contract to defend the championship it has been my one idea to enter the ring in condition to give my best efforts to the public and titular honors, which I am fortunate enough to hold. "I have trained with this in mind for a period of more than three months to the best of my ability and intend to give every ounce of strength and degree of skill that I possess to the defense of the championship. I know that some followers of boxing do not agree with my system of training, but I am convinced 1 know myself and my conditioning requirements. I believe that I am in perfect shape and confident that I shall successfully defend the championship. If it should prove that I am wrong I shall stand up like a man and admit the superior boxing ability of my opponent without quibble, excuse or alibi. Beyond that I feel that events must speak for themselves.' Challenger Jack Dempsey forecast his victory in the following

"Six weeks of consistent training has made me fit for the big event of my life. In all my career I never felt better than I do right now and I am as certain of victory as man can be. The bigness of Willard does not bother me. I like the big ones. Carl Morris and Fred Fulton were not dwarfs and I put both of them away, doing the trick every time in less than one round. No man in the world can withstand the attack I will wage when I enter the ring with Willard. My youth, strength and natural fighting ability will prove more than an offset to the extra poundage of the champion. "That I have real confidence in my ability to take the title away from Willard is to be believed. I have never yet met a man I feared. They all look like to me and unless Willard is the superman claimed by his supporters, I will knock him out in a hurry. I would not be surprised to list him along -with Fulton, Morris and the other one-rounders. He may get by the first, but if he does he is only framing a lot of trouble for him self. I'm sure ready to go to him. I hope it is a good battle, no matter how short it is. Take it from me, though, you are talking to the winner."

His announcement that the former German emperor would soon be placed on trial before a tribunal sitting in London was cheered most of all, while his presentation of the Anglo-French convention, providing for British aid if Germany should attack France unprovoked-a convention analogous to one between the United States and France-was greeted with unrestrained approval.
