Willard probably will enter the ring weighing about 245 pounds, while Dempsey is expected to be near the 200 mark. In almost every physical measurement, the champion will have the advantage of the challenger, being the largest man who eyer held the title. Notwithstanding these physical handicaps Dempsey has the popular following and he is selected to win by many shrewd ring followers, partly due to his youth, for he is 24 years old, to Willard's 37, and his impressive evidence of any plot by radicals for unlawful demonstration Friday Wagering on the bout indicated

While wagering reflects the opinion of those who take more than a casual interest in such matches, it has no effect upon the ability of the principals. and Gets Hot Answer

My Dear Mr. Ringer: I have your letter of July 2 to which I hasten to reply because I fully agree with you that "everyone except the criminal is interested in seeing that the laws are vigorously enforced," although you more particularly, because of your oath of office, have a special duty and responsibility far beyond the ordinary citizen. You, Mr. Ringer, however, seem to be obsessed with the idea that the law against bootlegging is the only law on the statute book instead of only one of the laws you are expected to enforce. You ask me for specific information that will enable you to get full data for the purpose of prosecuting those who are violating the law against bootlegging, but you, for some reason I can not understand, show no disposition to go after the violation of other laws when specific information is furnished you.

You know, or should know, that a traveling gang of skin-game gamblers, known as the Patterson shows, recently operated in Omaha unmolested for three days, that a detail of ten of your men under Sergeant Dillon, in uniform and in plain clothes, personally su-perintended the robbery on those grounds of little boys and girls with lawless gambling devices until they learned The Bee was taking photographs, when they merely ordered the law breakers

Gambling Carnival.

If this gambling carnival was not unlawful, why did your police close it? If it was unlawful, why did they make no arrests? If you want testimony about this I will furnish it, having myself been a witness. If you are as eager for law enforcement as you profess, why have you taken no action as to the officers who protected and connived in this law breaking? You further certainly know that another member of your police department has been publicly ascused of releasing an automobile thief whom he was sent to bring back from Hastings, in consideration of the payment of $110 by the prisoner, who was thereupon released, and that while the charge is made by a criminal, it is corroborated by much circumstantial evidence. So far as I know, this officer was not even suspended pending investigation. What have you done to enforce the law against bribe-taking in this case? The abuses practiced in your detention home have been repeatedly brought to your notice, but the doctor who was shaking down the poor women of the street for money to keep out of that vile place is still connected with your department.

I make only passing reference to the outrageous Brown case. Instead of suspending or dismissing the culpable officers, you are demanding the resignation of a patrol driver for telling the truth about them. When the excuse was made for this inexcusable outrage that the police always arrest the owner or agent of a raided house, a picture was printed of another raided house whose owner has not yet been arrested, presumably because he is your friend and active supporter. If you are so eager for law-enforcement, why don't you do something? Now, Mr. Ringer, The Bee and I supported you for the commission in the belief that you meant

There was a scene like those which frequently occurred in the "suffragette" days during the debate after the premier's speech. A wo-man in the gallery shouted: "There is no need to send men to Russia. The war is over." Attendants carried her out strug what you said about giving us an efficient police administration, and that you would be on the square. For this support you came and thanked me. Your letter to me asking for information about bootlegging - information which your retinue of police officers, detectives and morals squad men are paid to get—is the most naive admission of the woeful inefficiency of your department that could be furnished. I don't wonder that you feel that you are falling down in enforcing the law against bootlegging when the bootleggers are so numerous and so brazen, and when it can be proved that members of your own police department have been peddling booze.

But what's the use of giving you further information until you show some good faith by acting on the facts you already possess, which I have enumerated. When you do something to clean out the crooks and incompetents from your own department, I will be glad to back you up and go the limit with you for law-enforcement without favor or discrimina-
