

SAYS MAN WHO THREATENED HIM STILL AT LARGE

Citizens Say Will Take Law In Own Hands If Police Fail to Arrest Alleged Disturber.

Unless police protection is secured residents in the vicinity of Forty-eighth and Pine streets will organize to protect themselves, according to John Hansen, of 4838 Pine street.

Hansen says that his wife was insulted, that he was badly beaten, and that neighbors are terrorized by a man named Nelson, who "hangs" about the neighborhood.

Hansen says he swore out a warrant for Nelson last Tuesday morning, following Nelson's alleged assault on him, but that police have made no effort to find Nelson.

Nelson is seen about the neighborhood every day, but when Hansen appealed to the police to make some attempt to find the man he was told that all within the power of the police was being done to find him.

"Unless Nelson is arrested shortly we will take some other means of getting rid of him," said Mr. Hansen. "It seems that lawful methods of keeping peace are not in favor here."

Bluffs Prices For Staple Foods Are Lower Than Those Charged By Omaha Merchants

In Omaha the Uniformity of Prices in Downtown Retail Establishments and the Slight Variance on Part of Suburban Stores Very Noticeable—One South Side Store Quotes Considerably Lower Prices Than Other Stores.

A careful comparison of prices fixed on essential food stuffs by Greater Omaha and by Council Bluffs retail merchants shows that prices charged by Omaha merchants are generally higher than those of the Iowa city.

A list of 10 important foods was selected to carry out this comparison. Three of the largest downtown retail grocery houses and a number of suburban stores, including two on the South Side were asked to quote prices on each food in the list.

Prices in Greater Omaha vary comparatively little. Prices on flour, coffee, new potatoes, meats, eggs, butter and cheese were found to be somewhat lower in Council Bluffs than in Omaha.

Selected eggs, guaranteed to be fresh, are selling in large Omaha retail markets for 45 cents. The same grade can be bought in Council Bluffs for 40 cents. A good grade of flour is selling in 49 pound sacks across the river for $3, and the very best grade for $3.15. Here, 48 pound sacks are selling at not less than $3.15, and the better grades bring $3.25. New potatoes are retailing in Council Bluffs for from 3 1/2 to 4 cents a pound. In Omaha 5 cents was generally quoted as the prevailing price. Round steak, which Omaha meat men say is most in demand, is priced at from 35 to 37 cents a pound in Omaha, while any cut may be bought in the Iowa city at 30 cents a pound.

A large discrepancy in the price of coffee and tea in the two cities was found. Cheapest grades of coffee to be found in the larger Omaha markets retail for not less than 38 cents, and more often at from 40 to 45 cents. A cheap grade of coffee may be purchased in Council Bluffs for 20 cents, and one merchant there is offering a 30 cent coffee as his best brand. It is an excellent coffee, he declares, and cannot be purchased in Omaha for less than 40 cents.

Best grades of country butter are selling in Council Bluffs at 45 cents, in Omaha at 52 cents. American brick cheese, best grade, brings 38 cents a pound here, in Council Bluffs 35 cents.

Milk and cream, sugar, tea and green goods sell in both cities with some uniformity of price. Cane sugar is quoted at 10 cents a pound in most Council Bluffs stores, while 11 cents, is the prevailing price here.

Ice, not included in the list of 10 articles, but an essential nevertheless, is selling at 50 cents for 100 pounds in Council Bluffs. In Omaha it brings 60 cents for 100 pounds, with a 10 per cent discount when a ticket is bought.

The uniformity of prices in downtown retail establishments in Omaha and the very slight variance on the part of suburban stores, was very noticeable. One South Side store, however, quoted lower prices on several articles than were quoted, even in Council Bluffs.

The proprietor of this place declared that he was selling a "good" grade of flour at $2.75 for a 48-pound sack, cane sugar at 10 cents a pound, a "very good" grade of coffee for 20 cents a pound, new potatoes at 3 1/2 cents a pound, strictly fresh eggs at 40 cents, an "excellent" tea at 21 cents, and round steaks at 30 cents a pound.

Only a block distant was another grocery and meat store which quoted prices several cents higher on each article mentioned by the first grocer. These prices are only slightly higher than the uniform prices charged by other suburban grocers, yet the store was nearly vacant, while the other store with its lower prices, was filled with shoppers.

Says Man Held Him Up With Gun, Then Tried to Attack Girl Friend

An armed man Thursday night held up Ralph Jones, 2561 Dodge street, near the Happy Hollow club grounds on the Dodge road and attempted to assault his girl companion, according to Jones' story to police.

Police are withholding the name of the girl pending further investigation. Jones told police of the affair yesterday. He said he did not know the man.

According to the story told police, the assailant thrust a gun in Jones' face after first asking him for a match. Then he forced the girl to alight from the car. He dragged her a distance from the car and in spite of her screams attempted the assault. He was frustrated, according to Jones, when the latter braving the threats of the assailant to stir from the car, started the machine and hailed an approaching automobile. The noise of the automobiles frightened the attacker away.

Dr. Anderson With American Live Stock Insurance Co. Dr. J. S. Anderson of Grand Island, state veterinarian for the past four years, has associated himself with the American Live Stock Insurance company at Omaha to direct all veterinary service and educational work of the company.

Dr. Anderson will have charge of the prevention, treatment and eradication of hog diseases and the improvement of sanitary conditions among insured hogs. His work will be conducted from the home offices of the company and he will make personal inspections of herds when necessary.

A graduate of the Chicago Veterinary college and for 24 years a practicing veterinarian at Seward, Dr. Anderson has had a wide experience. In addition to serving as state veterinarian from 1915 to 1918, he was appointed by Governor Holcombe as state veterinarian during the epidemic of Texas fever among Nebraska cattle in 1896. The following year he was again appointed in this capacity to inspect all California cattle shipped into this state.

Steals "Joy Flight." London.—Alfred Jones, a demobilized airman has been fined $50 having trespassed on a military aerodrome and stolen a ride in an airplane. Jones said he felt like taking a flight and intended to ask for permission, but fearing that he would be refused and seeing a machine handy he succumbed to temptation, got into the plane and went up.

K. of C. to Be Host to Orphans and Sisters At Krug Park Picnic

The Knights of Columbus will give a picnic at Krug park Tuesday, July 15, at which the guests will be the children of St. James orphanage and the sisters of the various orders in Omaha, including the 600 sisters who are here to attend the Creighton university summer school.

The children will be taken on automobile rides about the city in the morning and will have the freedom of the amusement devices in the park in the afternoon.

When the sisters arrive at the park in the afternoon 8,000 tickets to the different attractions will be distributed to them. Supper will be served at 6.30, the edibles being supplied by the Catholic women of the city.

Coal Production Dangerously Below The Safety Line

Buy Your Coal NOW

The chart below shows the perilous situation which confronts coal consumers today. It is an exact copy of the report issued June 24 by the United States Geological Survey.

That broad, black line you see, marks, in addition, the average daily coal production essential to meet the country's requirements for the present year.

It is the safety line. When the record is below that line, it shows there is not enough coal for the people and their industries.

Production has been on the wrong side of the safety line since January. It promises to stay there unless YOU BUY YOUR COAL NOW.

Seeing Is Believing Study the Chart

Coal consumers have failed to buy for use during the coming Fall and Winter. Thus it has proved impossible to keep coal moving from the mines, and production in consequence has badly slumped.

Available mine labor has been reduced by the departure of miners for Europe. More than forty thousand already have arranged to leave.

Motive power and cars are waiting for coal transportation now. Soon the nation's great crops of grains and other products will congest the rails and glut the terminals. It follows that coal transportation facilities will be sharply reduced and coal deliveries will suffer.

In making public the above chart, the United States Geological Survey warns you as follows:

"The best time in the year for laying in stocks of coal for next Winter is rapidly passing, with no evidence of general buying for this purpose. The rate of production has not varied greatly since the middle of May, and averaging about 30 per cent below last year, is apparently just sufficient to meet current consumption."

How can production be increased? How can the requirements of the country be met?

BY BUYING YOUR COAL NOW. There is no other way. No other action can avert the impending shortage. Relief rests with you. Conditions urge you to act.
