

Man in society is like a flower
Blown in its native bed; 'tis there alone
His faculties expanded in full bloom
Shine out; there only reach their proper use.—Cowper.

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away.—Longfellow.

A greater advance has been made by the women of Great Britain in the matter of equal industrial opportunity and pay in the last four years than in the previous century.

considered as too heavy work for women, is now done by electrically heated forges, which are clean, simple to operate and easily portable. They can be readily handled by women, as has been demonstrated since women entered war industries.

Organdie Morning Dress

By GERTRUDE BERESFORD.
The cool charm of organdie keeps it still in the lead for frocks to be worn at any hour of the day, morning, noon and night. White organdie dotted in coral, blue, yellow or red makes effective morning dresses developed in simple lines. Such a dress is illustrated with a vest of white organdie tied with grosgrain ribbon which matches the dot in color. A broad sash of white organdie ties the waist and finishes with loops and cash ends bordered with lace ruffles to match the cuffs, pockets and scallops of the tunic. The pockets and cuffs are also of the white material. This is a very smart and girlish model and may be developed in plain brown organdie or gingham. The hat worn with this costume is a model of white georgette crepe embroidered to match the color of the dot.
