

tale of action. Strand-Douglas Fairbanks makes his reppearance as "Old Doc Cheerful." in "The Knickerbocker Buckarco." which will be shown here today to Thursday. The moral of this story is that doing something for somebody is a worthy and laudable ambition, but that unselfishness can sometimes be carried too far, and unless guided by calm judgment, may bring the unselfish one results he doesn't expect, and, secondly, that the proper place to start any reconstruction in char-acter is at home. End Bennett has the role of a young sculptress in "The Law of Men," which will be shown at the Strand next Friday and Saturday. The story was written by John Lynch and adapted by Ella Stuart Carson. Fred Niblo directed. The scenes are laid in Washington Square. New York, and Miss Bennett, when the picture opens, has sained quite a reputation for her work in clay. She is loved by two men, and under the protection of a guardian. The picture develops into a strong drama, with a mystery element predominating.

Miss Fisher in the role of the chorus girl bride-now pathetic and wistful, now furiously angry, but always audaclously beautiful-does the most exacting emo-tional work of her screen career. Emory Johrson is the husband who adopts the peculiar course of action aforesaid, for reasons which he at least deems good and sufficient.

reasons which he at least deems good and sufficient. Tom Mix, the cowboy staf, has turned into a photopiay, "The Wilderness Trail," by Frank Willams. "The Wilderness Trail." will be here Tuesday to Saturday. The story has to do with the Hudson Bay Company in the wilderness of Canada. It shows wonder-ful photography of life and romance in the land of measureless snows and grim forests where human hearts are very warm and vital. The piece is all action and surprise, and entirely wholesome. Colleen Moore is Mix's new leading lady. She's pretty and dainty and a capital actress.
