

South Side SOUTH SIDE MAY GET MONUMENT FOR WAR HEROES

J. J. Breen Proposes That Men From Each District Be Honored; Suggestion Well Received.

A monument to be erected in each district in memory of the men of the district who gave their lives in the service of their country was proposed by J. J. Breen, chairman of exemption board No. 2 during the war, in a speech at the postponed Fourth of July celebration Sunday afternoon in Mandan park. The suggestion was received with applause, making it probable that a memorial bearing the names of the South Side men that died in service will be erected soon.

Three Men, Fined on Liquor Charges, Appeal Cases to Higher Court

Three men were each found guilty of having intoxicating liquor in their possession and fined $100 and cost in South Side police court Monday morning. Each appealed his case. Raymond Cotter, 4315 South Twenty-fifth street, was charged with having 11 pints of liquor at his home when visited by officers. Police testified that at the residence of Tom Patsolowski, 5409 South Thirty-third street, they found 500 empty bottles and 100 bottles of "imitation whiskey," described by them as a mixture of tea and oil, with a quart of genuine whiskey. Joe Lenczowski, 4056 I street, admitted that he had at his home two pints of liquor, but said it was there as medicine for a sick baby. He also said that he possessed a doctor's prescription for the medicine, but did not produce it.

Stockmen Look for Heavy Run of Beef Cattle Soon

The heaviest run of cattle ever received at the local live stock market is expected soon by stock men. High prices and scarcity of beef have stimulated breeders to enlarge their herds and to ship close. As a result, a few heavy loads, fore-runners of the big run, were received yesterday. Dry ranges are expected to cause early shipping.

Joe Scully, 68 years old, for 15 years a resident of the South Side, died at a local hospital Sunday following three months of illness. The funeral was held Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the Larkin undertaking parlors to the St. Agnes chapel. Interment will be in the Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

Census Shows Total of 43,074 Children of School Age in Omaha

The Board of Education held a brief meeting last night in shirt sleeves. Secretary W. T. Bourke reported that the school census just completed cost $2,634 and showed a total of 43,074 persons of school age in Omaha, compared with 41,467 last year. There is an average of one child of school age in every Omaha home, and in 20,340 homes there are no children of school age. The legal school ages are between 7 and 21. The official census returns show only 1,377 vacant houses in Omaha. There are more than 42,000 homes in this school district. The Beals and Field school districts have only four vacant houses each. The Cass school district tops the list with 90 vacant houses.

Sold Liquor to Minor, Is Charge; Man Now Is Held for Government

Joseph Somulvek, 4427 South Thirty-fourth street, is the first person on the South Side to be arrested under the wartime prohibition act. Somulvek was taken into custody Monday morning by the federal authorities after he had been convicted before Judge Foster, who gave the man a sentence of 60 days for selling whisky to a minor.

Evidence showed that Somulvek on July 4 sold to 11-year-old Edwin Pokorski, 4051 Hillside avenue, a pint of whisky for $4. The lad testified that he was playing in the school yard when he was approached by a woman, who gave him $5 to go and buy the liquor, which he did, keeping $1 for himself. Complaint was made to the police by Mrs. Sophia Horskay. Police intercepted the boy soon after he secured the whisky and seized the liquor.

Judge Foster gave the most severe sentence the law permits on account of the alleged sale having been made to a minor. Somulvek appealed the case and gave bond for $500 just a short time before his apprehension by the federal authorities.
