

Here's a sigh to those who love me,
And a smile to those who hate;
And, whatever sky's above me,
Here's a heart for every fate.—Byron.

We can make our lives sublime,

Society

UNDER a blazing sun society maids and matrons attended the flying circus at Fort Omaha, Sunday. Miss Ruth Law, who was quite the center of attraction, was very smart in a white waist, a black and white sport skirt with a large white satin hat. This champion woman aviator had a very "thrilling" ride of two or three feet in the balloon basket and then descended to chat with the girls and officers who were standing near. The fair sponsors wore their can-teen uniforms, lending a little of the war-time spirit to the affair. Miss Dorothy Callender of Pasadena, Cal., was gowned all in white, an armful of brilliant gladioli adding a striking bit of color to her costume. At her touch a myriad of rainbow-hued balloons sped up into the blue.

After the huge ships of the air had sped on their way and a last goodbye was sounded to the officers who will make the flight, Colonel and Mrs. Jacob West entertained at a delightful supper party at Colonel West's quarters in honor of Miss Helen McCreary of Watertown, N. Y., who was one of the honor guests at the circus. Their guests included Major and Mrs. Otto Puts, Lieutenant and Mrs. George Lundberg, Leo Stevens, and Lieutenants Ralph Reynolds and Ned Connelly. Garden flowers and dainty ferns formed a very pretty centerpiece for the table.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rhoades entertained at a large dancing party at the Athletic Club Roof Garden, Monday evening, for the two attractive visitors at Fort Omaha, Miss Helen McCreary and Miss Dorothy Callender. Their guests included many army people and the party numbered 16.

Mrs. Roy Page will entertain a small party at the Athletic club, Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. E. G. Callender and Miss Dorothy Callender of Pasadena, California. Mrs. and Miss Callender leave Wednesday for their home. They will be accompanied by Major and Mrs. R. E. Crawford, whom they have been visiting. The Crawfords are going to California to make their home, as Major Crawford is now discharged from the service.

Kensington Club Luncheon. Fontenelle Kensington club will give a luncheon at Prettiest Mile club Tuesday. A delightful afternoon's program has been planned by the committee in charge.

On the Victrola you hear Kreisler, as he plays, not as some lesser artist thinks he should play. And so it is with Caruso, Galli Curci, Homer and all great artists. The Victrola gives them to you. The greatest artists make records for the Victor exclusively, because they know only the Victor on the Victrola makes their art imperishable, ever living and unmodified.

If you enjoy the artist, you must choose the Victrola, for that is the only instrument that gives you the artist, and it is easily possible to own a Victrola. You can get them at whatever price seems wisest to you—paying but a small deposit down and the balance at your own convenience.

Drop in some day soon and let us show you some Victrolas.

Let us play your favorite pieces. It'll take only a few minutes—pleasant minutes at that. And it may be you'll be surprised to learn how very easy it is to have the happiness a Victrola surely means. Do it—TODAY!

Heart Beats

By A. K.

Walking
On the broad highway—
Looking
Though we did not see—
Thinking
Of we know not what
While gay crowds
Passed us.
Friends smiled
But we did not notice
As we stalked along
Missing just the Thing we longed for—
To be a friend to man
As they passed
In dole procession?
We heard one
Mutter this confession:
"Chin up—head up—
Thinks she's smart."
Then we looked around
Quite blankly
And admit to you
Most frankly
That we didn't mean
A thing—
We didn't see them
Then another friend
Passed snarling:
"Single track.
She must be thinking—
Thinking had I not
Some big problem
Of these epoch making
Days?"
But another voiced
Opinions:
"Snobbishness—that's Pure and simple."
Heaven knows
We are not snobbish—
Though we are both
Fur and simple—
And we don't really remember
What our chain
Of thought was then
But we have a faint idea
That we neither
Thought nor figured—
Our mind was merely resting
Resting—resting—
That was all.

Miss Fisher Could Not Be Bothered About a Mere Two Million.

Miss Betty Fisher

Despite the fact that she has fallen heir to $2,000,000 Miss Betty Fisher, serving as a yeoman second class at Washington, has declared her intention of continuing her work in the navy. "When Uncle Sam's work is done," said Miss Fisher, "I'll go to Oklahoma with my mother." Miss Fisher sat at her desk addressing Victory loan letters when the door opened and in walked C. P. McCauley, an Oklahoma attorney. He inquired for the little yeoman. Then he proceeded to yield his magic wand.

"You have been left the entire estate of your uncle John Patrick McGowan, a wealthy oil man or Meridian Logan county, Okla. You are worth $2,000,000. You will have to sign some papers but we are prepared to pay you down a substantial sum."

"I can't be bothered about signing any papers now," said the little millionaire. "The women are scheduled to parade and reviewed and I can't let any mere legal matters stand in my way. I'll meet you after the parade and after I have finished my work here."

Misses Esther Dugher and Jeanette Sample, who have been spending several weeks in Colorado, returned Monday morning.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Love Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Answer to Lonesome Woman. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Although your answer to "Lonesome Woman" in last week's paper was exceptionally good, yet I would appreciate the courtesy if you would kindly find room in your valued column to give space to my advice to her.

I am also a young divorcee of the same faith, so I am in a position to realize her predicament and know how much she must have suffered before taking her step, but still I manage to enjoy life, by helping to alleviate the misery and sufferings of others, more unfortunate than myself, by taking an interest in communal work, instead of worrying for "Mr. Right," for when it will be kismet for him to arrive, he will be there. Johnny on the spot, and fate will find the way and means of arranging a meeting in predestined time.

In regard to "Lonesome Woman's" statement that we do not approve of divorcees, I must say that while we do not sanction them, neither do we condone divorcees, the same as any other religion, but we deem them as essential in some cases as a surgeon's knife in time of an operation.

If "Lonesome Woman" thinks she has tasted of the bitter cup of life, please give her my name and address, and I will tell her the story of one who has tasted of the bitterness of life to the very dregs, far more than she has, but still is not lonesome or despondent for the opposite sex or for girl friends, but is happy and optimistic, because every cloud must have its silver lining, and we must taste the bitterness of life to appreciate more fully the sweetness that is allotted to us, and to profit by our experience, so she should not become despondent through morbid or foolish thoughts.

As general secretary of a large organization for young girls, I will gladly accept her application to our society, thereby placing her in a position to become acquainted and to mingle with young girls, (as I do), giving her opportunity to forget her past and to attain her achievement in life—matrimony—by meeting the people of her own age.

THE HAPPY OPTIMIST. I shall be very glad to give her your name and address if she discloses her identity.

Perplexed—You say: "Our wedding will take place in July. Our honeymoon will follow." Am so glad you explained about the honeymoon. Bon voyage.

Kissed, But Innocent. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Having great faith in your wisdom, I come to you for advice. I have known a certain young man for 10 years and like him very much. He has asked me to marry him, but I think I am too young. Don't you think it would be better to complete my schooling? I am only 18 and am in the 10th grade. Am I far enough advanced?

What course should a lady pursue if a man would kiss her without her consent?

Hoping to see an answer in The Bee, I am, INNOCENCE. It is usually better for a girl not to marry as young as 18, especially if she will continue in school. You are not particularly well advanced in school for your years, but that is not necessarily a test of your ability. Book knowledge alone does not represent the sum total of one's wisdom; and, too, there may be various reasons why one does not reach a certain grade in a certain year. You ask what course to pursue in case a young man kisses you without your consent. (He is making progress, and I therefore advise a course in domestic science). Seriously, you must make up your mind first whether you really resent it or not. He'll see through anything you say or do to the real truth back of it. If you truly resent it, as you should, your own instinct will tell you what to do, whereas if your objections are merely camouflage, any rule of conduct I might give you would fall flat. In other words, what you do or say, has no punch unless there is conviction back of it.

It's Cheap Food

Compared with prewar price levels, beef is one of the cheapest of essential foods today. Other foods have advanced to much higher points—and remained there.

A survey conducted by the Health Commissioner of Chicago showed the following price increases for the current year over 1913-14:

Flour	210%
Sugar	115%
Milk	87%
Round Steak	86%
Eggs	80%
Sirloin Steak	61%

Beef is one of the best values in the food line and there is plenty of it

The need for conservation for military purposes is past.
