ARMY matrons, who are noted the world over for their gracious hospitality and charm are bringing a bit of the pre-war spirit to our doors with the renewal of the "at home" days at the army posts.

Army Matron to Leave

Mrs. John M. Robinson and Mary Ellen

Soft airs played by the post band were waited in on the summer breeze and iced drinks and frozen dairies were served by the gracious hostess.

Mrs. Jacob W. S. Wuest was hostess at Colonel Wuest's quarters for the members of the army set at Fort Omaha. Miss Helen McCreary of Watertown, N. Y., assisted Mrs. Wuest and the "at home" day at this post will no doubt be an established custom so enjoyable was this affair.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Love Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Do not think I am inquisitive, but would like to ask a few questions. Is the movie actor, Harry Carey, married, and if married, who is she? And how old is he and what is his address?

Religious Differences and Marriage. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Please answer the following questions for me in The Omaha Bee: My future action will depend somewhat on your answers, as I have great faith in your advice. Is it very probable for a girl of 17 and a boy of 19 to be in love with each other? Does a non-Catholic girl have to become a Catholic in order to marry a Catholic boy?

There was a girl, a dear little girl, who suffered mental agony for weeks, trying to solve the same problem. Finally she went to her priest and asked him whether her fiancé should turn Catholic; and could they be married if he did not care to change his religion. The wise priest answered: "He need not turn Catholic if he does not feel so inclined. Religion is a matter of heart and soul—not of rules and regulations. And if you love him you may marry him."

Four Greenhorns—Don't get up a picnic and invite the boys you refer to just for the sake of compelling them to be in your society. If they wish to enjoy your company it will occur to them to seek you. In however, you want to have a picnic because it is a delightful recreation, it would be all right to invite these particular young men. Have some of your persons chaplains you and include other young people, so the boys won't feel that they are forced into paying attention to you.

R. Pierce—See "Friend of the Soldier" column, found on the editorial page of The Bee Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays for reply to your inquiry.

A Reader—There are fluids for aid in keeping the hair in curl on sale at any reliable beauty shop or drug store. We do not know of the particular formula about which you inquire.

K. M.—You ask if a woman who will live only a few years should marry. That depends upon what her illness is, and upon the man's understanding of the case. In no event should she marry without full explanation to him, and even then if there is possibility of leaving defective offspring. As for marrying a man whose past has not been creditable, you are the best judge of his present sincerity and future possibilities.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Suppose you were in my place and had a young man in love with you and you didn't care for him. He

Heart Beats

By A. K.

She is our friend Who smiles with us In stormy weather— Who sees both sides And still condemns us not. The best she gives But grieves to take. Her balanced sympathies In sorrow make Us forget That what we had ever Crossed our path And yet She carries her own, From within. When we grow ill She races to our call To do the biggest things And yet the small. Then The meanest work Taken on an atmosphere Of dignity And greatness— The floor seems A bit cleaner When she's scrubbed it. Big issues are discussed With such intelligence That one would wonder why Mere men vote On them at all. By some kind word She drags us from Our gloom And points with smiles To soft light On ahead. Comes up more crystallized And mellow. Whom she's been near. Ofttimes we disagree Most pleasantly Because she is too fine To snarl. And yet It's not because of What she does— But that something From within Which this cold type Cannot explain That leaves no Criticism For our friend. SELAHI!

How I Nursed My Baby Longer

THE happiest days of my life I were those while I nursed my baby and knew that I—alone—was making him grow strong and well. Then came the days when he seemed hungry after his nursing, and my heart sank. But the doctor said "Don't worry. We'll just add a little more nourishment to his diet with one feeding a day of Nestlé's Milk Food."

So after all I was able to nurse him the full nine months—and when we weaned him and changed entirely to Nestlé's he didn't seem to notice the difference. You see, Nestlé's is really just pure, sweet milk—but changed into a powder so it is easier to digest, and with none of the germ dangers of raw milk. To that they add just the right amount of sugar and cereal—and you simply add water and boil—and watch your baby thrive!

I know the Nestlé Company will be glad to send you enough for twelve feedings and a Mother's book by specialists on how to take care of your baby, if you will fill out and send the coupon below. They want you to feed your baby with health and happiness, too. Nestlé's is pure milk in powder form that is already modified and does not require the further addition of milk. Always pure and safe, and always uniform, and free from the dangers of home modification, Nestlé's has stood the test of three generations and has today the largest sale of any baby food in the world.

FREE! Enough Nestlé's for 12 feedings. Send the coupon!
