MINERS DEFEAT ROURKES IN THE FINAL INNINGS

Fine Game for Seven Frames, But Ascension Made in Eighth, With Locals on the Short End.

The Miners slipped it to the Rourkes in the eighth inning of a New York game that was one of the best ever seen on the local lot for seven and one-third innings, slamming out four hits, counting for five runs, breaking Philadeelphia the two-to-two tie and making the visitors winners easily. The local club failed to do anything in the ninth, having one on the bases, Eddie Hazen getting a free pass, but

The Rourkes made a game effort in the final session, Barbeau leading off with a single. Mason popped to second and Townsend went out, second to first, Barbeau going to second on the play. "Whitey" Gislason pegged out a three-bagger and Barbeau scored, but the game was over and the locals were on the short end when Jackson skied to renterfield. end on the play. "Whitey" Gislacenterfield.

The big blow-off in the eighth happened thusly; Jap Barbeau booted Crutcher's little infield poke, but nailed him at second on Burk's grounder. Boehler singled, putting Burk on second. Nutt doubled and Burk scored, Boehler going to third. Pat Collins, the Joplin catcher, had previously made two doubles and Townsend passed him purposely to get Smith. The latter rapped out a Indianapolis Leuisville Columbus screaming single, scoring Boehler and Nutt, while Smith went to second on the throw in. Hall followed with another single and Collins and Smith counted.

Second Baseman Hulswitt slammed a hard one to Townsend, who whirled and threw Hall out at second. Thompson grounded to Gislason at second and was an easy out. Omaha came to bat with great determination but the Miners in the field were as much determined as the locals and though they squeezed one across, that was the limit.

For six innings, the game looked like a no-hit no-run game for Pitcher Crutcher and one-hit, onerun game for Townsend. In the seventh though, each team clubbed two bingles, the Omaha batters getting two runs, tieing the count. while the Miners made one score. In the eighth, Joplin made four hits. giving them seven and that ended it for them. The Rourkes made two n the ninth, bringing their total
