

NEW ORDINANCE ON PARKING NOT IN FAVOR HERE

Omaha Motorists Express Dissatisfaction With "Parallel Order" On Downtown Streets of City.

Motorists are much dissatisfied with the new parallel parking ordinance which requires all cars to be parked with both right-hand wheels within two feet of the curb and the front of the car not more than five feet from the vehicle immediately in front. The ordinance applies in congested districts, on all car line streets, and on paved streets where the distance between curb is 40 feet or less.

Many motorists are absolutely ignoring the ordinance.

"Three-fourths of the parking space downtown has been taken from the motorists by the new parking ordinance," said Clark G. Powell, prominent on automobile row. "There was need for a change from the old parking ordinance, but the city council went too far when it innovated this one. The clause, which specifies that the two right-hand wheels of the car shall be within two feet of the curb, is absolutely impractical. I marked my car downtown yesterday in accordance with the ordinance. When I tried to get out, I found I couldn't move either way. The worst of it is, many motorists are paying no attention to the ordinance, which makes it more difficult for those who do."

"The parallel parking of cars certainly robs the motorist of parking space," said S. E. Smyth, secretary of the Omaha Automobile club. "Motorists are also left without a down-town place to park their cars, since the short-time parking ordinance was innovated on Douglas street. The Omaha Automobile club fought to secure permission for all-day parking on Douglas street, but the city council refused to grant it."

"Motorists also have reason to be wrought up over the wheel tax levied by the city council. Cars which carry over five passengers are taxed $4, and smaller than five-passenger cars, $2. When the wheel tax ordinance was put through, the city council agreed to spend 60 per cent of the returns on street improvements and 40 per cent on those of a car and be struck as it should have been, but now the returns are being placed in a common fund for public improvement of any kind."

"I would not blame the motorist if he did not pay the wheel tax. He would not be violating the law any more than the city council by not using the fund as was promised."

The failure of the council to pass the "jay walker" ordinance, prohibiting pedestrians to cross the street except at the regular intersections, is another thorn in the motorist's side. The entire responsibility is thus placed on the driver of the car, motorists say. Should a man dash into the middle of the street in front of a car and be struck, the motorist now gets the blame, whether it is his fault or not.

Want Bids for Power Plant for Nebraska Medical College Here

Up to noon of July 26, at the office of John Latenser & Sons, Bee building, bids will be received for the construction of a complete and modern power plant at the Nebraska Medical college on Dewey avenue.

The power plant proposed by the state is expected to cost about $100,000. Work of construction will begin as soon as possible after the awarding of the contract. The structure will be of brick, stone and steel, 60x100 feet and two stories high. It will be equipped with the latest in the way of boilers with automatic stokers. The stack will rise 250 feet above the foundation. The new plant will supply all of the medical college buildings with heat, light and power. In addition, a siding will be constructed from the Belt Line tracks to the power plant, thus doing away with the hauling of coal by team or auto.

At the present time the college buildings are supplied by heat and power from adjoining structures.

Lawyers Receive Fee Of $18,500 Each for Handling Single Case

One of the largest legal fees received by an Omaha attorney is said to be that just paid to Byron G. Burbank and James H. Adams, attorneys for the American Security company in its litigation against the Barker company, involving the building on the northwest corner of Nineteenth and Harney streets. Each of the attorneys is reported to have received $18,500.

The case has been fought through the various courts since 1914, and a decree was finally awarded November 16, 1918. A few weeks ago the building was sold by the sheriff for $152,000 to the Thomas Davis Real Estate Co. The proceeds were divided, according to the court's decree, equally to the American Security company receiving $76,050. The two lawyers are said to have received half of this in accordance with an agreement made when they took the case.

W. J. Connell, attorney for the Barker company, received a fixed fee of $5,000.

Des Moines Tractor Company Will Open Branch Office Here

The Herring Motor company of Des Moines is opening a branch in Omaha and has secured temporary quarters in the Sterling Manufacturing company building, Tenth and Jones streets. The firm expects to build a plant of its own here in the near future, according to W. R. Hershey, manager of the parts department, who is assisting in opening the branch office here.

Mr. Hershey says this company is the largest accessory concern in the United States and that it is that exclusive agent for the Fordson tractors and parts in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. It is their plan to carry in stock in Omaha, besides the tractors, about $75,000 or $80,000 worth of parts and make this the main distributing point in Nebraska.

The company has six traveling salesmen in this state and the force will be enlarged probably in a few months.

C. L. Herring, president, whose main office is in Des Moines, will be in Omaha today to complete arrangements for the opening of the office here. J. W. McLain will manage the business, together with J. Jones, who is now the chief salesman for the firm in Nebraska.

Mr. Hershey says 8,000 Fordson tractors have been sold in this state by his firm.

Commissioner Argues Rock Island Road Did Not Pay Him His Fees

United States Commissioner McLaughlin argued his own claims against the Rock Island railway for $2,100 which he says is due him for services as grand master in settling a law suit, before Federal Judge Woodrough yesterday.

Commissioner McLaughlin was appointed grand master to decide merits of a $68,000 damage suit brought against the Rock Island by the Union Pacific six years ago. He decided against the Rock Island and filed a claim for $2,100 for his services.

His decision was confirmed by higher courts and the Rock Island was forced to pay the Union Pacific the amount it sued for. The Rock Island refused to pay him for his services, however, Commissioner McLaughlin alleges.

Judge Woodrough continued the case.

Motion Pictures of Balloon Carnival Shown at Strand

The first aerial motion pictures ever taken in Omaha are a feature of the Strand theater program this week. The balloon carnival at Fort Omaha is the subject of the reel and Don Moore of the Omaha Flying company was the photographer who took the pictures. It was Moore's first photographic work from a moving machine and he obtained several hundred feet of film of the balloons which took part in the big carnival.
