

DANGER SMOKING OF CIGARETS IN EATING PLACES

New State Law Imposing License on Sale of Tobacco Went Into Effect Yesterday.

Under a new statewide law which imposes a license on the sale of tobacco products, cigars may be smoked by any person of 21 or more years of age, in any place except public eating establishments.

It is lawful to smoke a corncob pipe or a cheroot in an eating place, but against the law to smoke a cigar.

This new law, which went into effect yesterday, also provides that cigars may be sold by dealers who have complied with the license feature of the law.

The new law contains the following special provision pertaining to the advertising of cigars: "Cigars shall not be advertised in any public place, or within view of the public, or on any sign, billboard or building in the state of Nebraska."

A patron of a local cafe was asked last evening to put away his cigar, while another patron at the next table smoked his cigar without interference.

City Clerk W. H. Hunter will have license blanks ready Monday for Omaha retail and wholesale tobacco dealers, many of whom have called to pay their license money.

Lobster Palace Cabarets Down and Out Following Death of John Barleycorn

Small Army of Highly Paid Entertainers Must Now Look for Jobs at Smaller Salaries or Engage in Some Other Line of Work—Restaurateurs Cannot Afford Expense of Costly Revue.

New York, July 19.—It's thumbs down for the Broadway restaurant cabarets since John Barleycorn died a protesting and painful death July 1. However, good or bad—and some were very good indeed—the cabaret is swiftly passing, and a small army of highly paid entertainers must look for jobs at smaller salaries or engage in some other line of work.

The majority of the most popular cabarets were in the glittering lobster palaces where food and wines and liquors were sold at top-notch prices. People were willing to pay the prices and thought they got their money's worth.

Drinks Paid For Shows.

There was no difference of opinion among members of the Society of Restaurateurs regarding the impossibility of running an expensive cabaret or revue upon the profits from the sale of food alone.

Some believed that the public had such a fondness for cabarets that it would continue to meet their cost to the various managements by buying with their meals such exhilarating drinks as lemonade, gingerale, sarsaparilla at 50 cents a glass.

Charging that the daylight saving law which President Wilson last week refused to repeal is working enormous harm to the children and mothers of America, petitions are being circulated in Omaha, Nebraska and other states, asking the president and congress to repeal the law immediately.

Mrs. Grace J. Holmes, 5102 Capitol avenue, is the originator of the movement.

Says Harms Children.

"I observed the harmful effect on my own children first," said Mrs. Holmes. "Their physical health and nervous systems have been seriously affected by the curtailment of their hours of sleep. For, while we are able to order the children to bed while it is still light we cannot force them to go to sleep. My children have lost three pounds each in weight, and I notice a decided irritability which I can ascribe to no other cause. Teachers in the schools tell me the same thing and the 200 mothers who have signed the petition say they have noticed the same symptoms in their children during the period of operation of the law. And there is an added strain on the already overburdened mothers."

Other Women Active.

Mrs. Holmes has enlisted the aid of scores of other women in Omaha all of whom are set against the daylight saving law and have noticed its bad effects on their children.

These women have done an enormous amount of work already and have made a national affair of the movement. They have mailed petitions to friends in all parts of the country and these are now being circulated in nearly every state in the union.

As fast as sheets of petitions are filled they will be mailed to the United States senators in Washington. Mrs. Holmes and her associates believe that the senators see this indication of the will of the mothers of the country the daylight saving law will be repealed.

Among the Omaha women who are working are Mrs. F. L. Prawl, 3340 Harney street; Mrs. George Mickle, 3331 Harney street; Mrs. Sylvia Franklin, Mrs. Joseph Lawrence, Mrs. Otlio Johnson, Mrs. W. W. Davenport, Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. L. A. Smith, Miss Catherine Worley.

Physicians Oppose Law.

Mrs. Holmes has talked to a number of physicians including leading specialists in children's diseases and says they are unanimous in stating that the law has an injurious effect on children. Among the doctors she consulted are Dr. J. A. Henske, Dr. H. M. McClanahan, Dr. Frederick Bacon, and Dr. Stoit.

"One mother took her child out of school this spring because the effect of the daylight saving law was such that the child was nervous, was bolting its food in the morning to get to school on time and was losing weight alarmingly," said Mrs. Holmes. "We noticed the difference in the way our children got along at school before the clocks were set ahead and after they were set ahead."

The petitions being circulated are being signed chiefly by women. They are intended especially for women, though no man who wants to sign is prohibited from doing so.

Snowfall Reports in Highlands About Rome

Rome, July 19.—A severe cold wave is sweeping the provinces with a heavy snowfall reported in the highlands surrounding Rome. The inhabitants have been forced to put on their winter clothing and fires have been started in their homes.

The cold weather in a season which is usually hotter than the tropics recalls a legend dating back to the fourth century when it is stated the Virgin appeared to Johannes and Pope Liberius. They were commanded to build a church on a spot where snow would fall the next morning, August 5. Accordingly, the Basilica Santa Maria Maggiore, then the largest church in Rome, was erected and dedicated to the Virgin.

French Author Interned "Somewhere in France"

Geneva, July 19.—Romain Rolland, the famous French author, has been and still is interned "somewhere in France," it was learned through word sent by himself to friends living in Switzerland.

Some months ago, Rolland, who had been living in Switzerland since the early part of the war, heard of the death of his aged mother, a little French town. Disregarding all warnings, he hastened to attend her funeral. He now has sent the first word that he has been held under strict surveillance ever since, and that everything he writes must be submitted to a stringent censorship.

Steel Ties Advocated to Conserve Lumber

Washington, July 19.—Proposing use of steel railroad ties, E. H. Clapp of the forestry service told a committee that the country's timber consumption had become three times the production and that at the present rate of cutting the American forest capacity was falling off about 60,000,000,000 feet annually.

H. P. Douglas, chief engineer of the Chicago and Alton, said mechanical wear and not decay was the great roadbed destructive agency now. The cost of ties had trebled in the last few years. The committee is considering the advisability of using iron ties.

Conferences Fail to End Strike of Boston Carmen

Boston, July 19.—Efforts by state and city officials to end the strike of carmen employed by the Boston Elevated Railway company failed Saturday, despite conferences. No talks were held since the strike began Thursday.

John M. Reardon, general executive board member of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, announced that union men in Ottawa had sent him a telegram to the effect that strike breakers had left that city for Boston. The trustees of the road have said that they will not attempt to operate cars with nonunion men.

Retail Grocers to Stage Pure Food Show in Omaha

Demonstration of Manufactured Products for the Table Will Be Held at the Auditorium Week of October 25 to November 1.

Officers and members of the Omaha Retail Grocers' association have unanimously decided to stage a pure food show the week of October 25 to November 1. It will be the first real show of the kind ever attempted in Omaha. All of the 500 retail grocers of the city are behind the movement.

Secretary Cameron of the association will devote most of his time to working out the details of the show. Within a few days he will leave for Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis, where he will close contracts with manufacturers and specialty men who are already clamoring for space on which to show their goods.

The pure food show will be held in the auditorium, where 80 booths will be installed for the exhibition of pure food products and demonstrations. The style of the booths will be uniform, as will be the decorations. They will be arranged on the main floor of the auditorium and on the stage.

Twenty-eight booths have been sold, most of them to Omaha jobbers and manufacturers of pure food products. Omaha grocers estimate that within Omaha and its suburbs there are 300,000 persons. A show of the best food goods produced, it is thought will do much to familiarize customers with brands and at the same time give men and women an opportunity of ascertaining just what is on the market in the way of good things to eat.

Secretary Cameron is of the opinion that a number of manufacturers of special lines desire to exhibit at the show and his trip east is to be made for the purpose of letting them come to Omaha if they so desire.

The pure food show is to be to a great extent for the benefit of the consumer and therefore every possible effort will be made for the entertainment of that individual. Goods will be displayed in the most attractive manner and at each booth there will be attendants whose duties will be to give information relative to manufacture.

Each day during the show the Auditorium will be open from early morning until late at night. There will be rest and lunch rooms so that those who desire to do so may put in the entire day. Each evening there will be music and some other form of entertainment. On certain evenings, to be decided upon later, there will be lectures on foods and food values, together with demonstrations.
