STREET CAR MEN SAY STRIKE WILL BE LAST RESORT

Committee Representing Employees' Union Presents Revised Demands to the Company.

A committee representing the Street Car Employees' union yesterday presented revised demands for a raise in pay, better working conditions, promotion by seniority without regard to previous strikes, and relief funds and vacations, to R. A. Leussler, assistant general manager of the street car company.

Ben Short, president of the carmen's union, said that he believed the company would meet the demands. As a last resource, he declared a strike would be resorted to. Mr. Leussler said he had not read the demands. "The men seem to have taken a reasonable attitude, however," he said, "and I have agreed to confer with them in the absence of Frank T. Hamilton, president of the company. The men asked me to take the demands before the board of directors of the company. The demands speak for themselves, I suppose, but as I have not read them, I can make no comments."

HARVEST HANDS SEIZE TRAINS AND MOVE NORTH

Railroads Unable to Stop Men From Taking Free Rides; 150 Board Train, Defy Crew.

Passenger travel on the freight trains is the heaviest in years, yet it is not a revenue producer for the railroads, or for the government. The men who are riding are harvest hands and they are moving north out of Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska. They are riding in cars, and railroad officials are unable to stop the movement or collect fares. The facts are that, as a rule, they are permitting the men to move on to the fields of the Dakotas and Minnesota, there to gather the grain that is about ready for the harvest.

A few weeks ago the railroad administration and the government labor employment bureau, through publicity departments, urged men to hurry to the harvest fields. The result was that they swarmed over Oklahoma and Kansas. When the harvest was finished in these two states, the harvesters invaded Nebraska and with the small grain crop gathered in this state, the men are ready to move north and they are moving.

Monday night something like 150 harvest hands boarded a Burlington freight train at small stations in southern Nebraska and northern Kansas, defied the train crew to put them off and rode on north. Something like 100 of them stopped off in Lincoln and the others came on through into Omaha. Yesterday they were in the freight yards, waiting for a train going north. The Union Pacific and Rock Island are having similar experiences. The harvest is over and hundreds of men are moving, or ready to move north.

Each car placer to be off duty every alternate Sunday until noon with the exception of bad weather, and vacation of two weeks with pay after a year of service. It is also demanded that any employee taken out of the service for any cause shall have the right to a full investigation and to be represented by any one of his choice. When it is proven that any road officer or foreman has discriminated against any member of the association, or any of the articles in the agreement, he must be removed from the employ of the company. All appointments to positions as road officers or foremen shall be made from the ranks of the trainmen. The agreement presented yesterday to the company will be in force, if signed, until June 15, 1920, and shall continue thereafter until either party has given the other 30 days' notice of their desire to change.
