

ESCH-POMERENE BILL OPPOSED BY M'MASTERS

Assistant Attorney General Says Broader Power for Commerce Commission Not Beneficial.

By a Staff Correspondent
Lincoln, July 23.—The passage of the Esch-Pomerene bill now before congress, which would broaden the powers of the Interstate Commerce commission, in the opinion of Assistant Attorney General McMasters would not be beneficial to handling rates and other like matters by state commissions, but would take from the state commissions the power of regulation of intrastate trains and would be a contradiction of rulings of courts of the United States.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.
In 1855 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.
In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.
This product MORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

not only the carriers but of the general business of the country. It is interesting to note that at the very time it is proposed to take away the power of the state commissions it is also proposed to establish regional commissions. No one supposes that the Interstate Commerce commission could take care of the added work and responsibility that would be created by this bill. Some kind of local commissions would have to be provided. It seems strange that with the machinery the states already have at hand, the power should be removed from them and new bodies created. Whatever is done should be done by constitutional methods."

Burlington Road Appeals Judgment Given Cattlemen

Lincoln, July 23.—(Special)—The Burlington railroad has appealed from a judgment for $1,507.52 given by the district court of Custer county to John F. Tierney and John Conway.

Tierney and Conway September 16, 1916, drove a bunch of 795 fat steers to the yards of the company at Theford for shipment to the market. While the cattle were in the yards a train frightened the cattle and they broke through the fence and became scattered over the country. The owners of the cattle alleged that the fence was out of repair and the posts decayed; that the cattle were not used to seeing trains go by and surging against the fence, broke it down. Before they could be rounded up again and reach the market they shrank 31,800 pounds, which at the market price of $7.17 per 100, made a total loss of $1,990.38, the defendants alleged. The court gave them $1,507.52.

NEBRASKAN BACK FROM VISIT TO CITY OF MEXICO

Rode On Train Guarded by Carranza Soldiers; Return Trip Made On Ambassador's Special.

Grand Island, Neb., July 23.—(Special)—Guarded by federal soldiers of Mexico on his trip to Mexico City and on his return journey, Prof. S. B. Wolbach of Harvard university, son of S. N. Wolbach of this city, made both trips in safety and reached Grand Island yesterday after a somewhat adventurous outing. He spent a short time with relatives here and left later for Boston.

A plea from the leading medical men of Mexico to Harvard for assistance in combating typhus, caused Professor Wolbach, bacteriologist, to make the trip to the capital of the troubled southern nation. He began the Mexican ride at Laredo, east of El Paso. The train on which he rode, was preceded by a pilot train carrying a score of soldiers, who were on the lookout for bandits. When he was ready to return, Ambassador Bonillas, Mexico's representative to this country, invited Professor Wolbach to accompany him on his special train. The governor of Coahuila also was on this train. Two hundred soldiers and two machine guns protected this train.

The El Paso trains to central Mexico have been taken off since the Villa trouble. Professor Wolbach said the Villa's activities are confined to the state of Chihuahua.

At Mexico City the professor did his research work at the national institute and at a hospital, laid out by Porfirio Diaz. Both are splendid places. Professor Wolbach plans to return to Mexico City in February. He found the medical men and civil authorities anxious to co-operate.

Speaking of the recent attack on sailors from the U. S. S. Cheyenne by bandits, Professor Wolbach said the Carranza government is doing its best to police the territory under control. However, so many of the soldiers have become free lance desperadoes that the government cannot furnish positive protection along the coast outside of a few ports. He said he did not believe the central government could in any way be blamed for the Cheyenne affair as it was doing its best with the men available.

Mr. and Mrs. Dairyman, who have a cozy home on the outside, have given up their residence and taken apartments in room 29, dormitory building, and hereafter will answer for their meals in the dining room at the convalescent hospital.
Comrade David Rumbarger, who recently returned to Burkett after a visit at his old home near Alda, declares that he was much disappointed in the yield of wheat, also of oats, which will be short of former expectations. The potato crop, too, he says, is short of estimates.

ASK WILSON TO SPEAK IN OMAHA ON LEAGUE ISSUE

President Wilson has been invited to visit Omaha when he makes a tour of the country, speaking in behalf of the league of nations. The invitation has gone forward, a telegram having been sent to him yesterday, signed by President Gamble of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

Soon after President Wilson returned from Europe the matter of inviting him to Omaha came up before the executive committee of the chamber. The invitation was held back owing to the fact that the president had not fully decided upon making the trip. However, President Gamble was given full power to act in the premises.

Yesterday press dispatches indicated that the president had about decided to start on the trip and during the afternoon President Gamble sent this wire:

"The citizens of Omaha, through the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, extend to you a very cordial invitation to include Omaha in your itinerary when making a speaking tour of cities in the interest of the league of nations."

Alkali In Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.
The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Adv.

Non-Resident of City, Reason for Dismissal of Divorce Action

District Judge Troup yesterday dismissed the divorce suit of Mrs. Anna Sedlack against Stephen Sedlack on the ground that she had not lived in Nebraska a year before the suit was filed.
Mrs. Sedlack admitted that she left Omaha June 28, 1918, and lived in Kansas City until January, 1919. She never intended to make that her home, she said, but went there to escape the alleged brutality of her husband.

Judge Troup held that a person must have had an actual residence of one year in Nebraska before having the right to sue for a divorce here. Mrs. Sedlack gave notice that she will file an amended petition asking separate maintenance of herself and three children in place of the divorce.
