Trade during the last part of the day

Trade during the last part of the day was light and the general disposition seemed to be to take a waiting attitude pending crop developments. The close was unsettled, varying from 1c net decline to a like advance, with September $1.95\% to $1.95\% and December, $1.65\% to $1.65\%.

Most of the gains disappeared toward the last when demand for corn seemed to be at a halt.

New York Coffee.

New York, July 25.—The market for coffee futures developed weakness around the opening, when prices were 35 to 40 points net lower under heaviness in foreign markets, but railled later in the day and closed steady at a net decline of only 2 to 10 points. It developed that traders believed the decline in early cables was not fully justified, and upon attempting to cover they came into competition with Wall atreet buying, which railled the market 20 to 30 points from opening levels. FINANCIAL

New York July 25.—Trading on the stock exchange Friday was characterized by comparative duliness and irregularity Total transactions barely exceeded 1,600, 1000 shares, which represented the smallest full session in many weeks.

In many respects dealings were reminiscent of midsummer markets of previous years. The cbb and flow of prices, ranging in some instances to 5 points, bore no definite relation to current developments and little attention was paid to events in the broader field of finance.

Bankers heard with interest of reported negotiations for the placing of a large German loan here, but were not inclined to attach much importance to such undertakings until certain international financial plans assume more concrete form.

Left largely to its own devices or the caprices of traders, the stock market became listless after the fairly strong opening, yielding easily during the mid-sessession.

Distinctive features were lacking in the day's operations, aside from the day's operations aside from the day's operations, aside from the day's operations.
