Wedding Plans.

Military weddings are still in vogue and they are most attractive. With the cessation of hostilities it seemed that the uniform had been relegated to the past, but one lovely mid-summer bride will have a real military wedding. Miss Alice Coad, whose marriage to Lieut. Milton Peterson will take place Saturday evening will have all the military appointments as the bridegroom will be in uniform and his best man will be Lieut. William J. Phillips of the regular army, who is now stationed at Fort Crook. Lieutenant Phillips and Lieutenant Peterson are members of the 20th infantry, and have been stationed at several army posts together.

Miss Coad is quite the most popular bride-to-be of the summer season for many affairs have been given for her. Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Peterson will entertain informally at dinner at the Athletic club, Friday evening, in honor of Miss Coad and their son.

Sails for Ireland.

Miss Dorcas Dunlap of the Clarkson hospital, will sail from New York, August 9, for Ireland, where she will visit her mother, Mrs. Margaret Dunlap. A reception will be given in honor of Miss Dunlap at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Savidge Friday evening.

Visitor

Mrs. Robert Clayton

Mrs. Robert Clayton, who with her husband, is a guest at the Thomas Cahill home, is an attractive summer visitor. Mr. Clayton has been stationed in Hawaii for the past eight years, where he was in the adjutant general's department of the United States army. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton expect to return to their home in Honolulu in September.

Picnic Party.

The Prettiest Mile Ladies' Golf club will hold their annual picnic at Miller park Saturday evening, August 2.

Miss Josephine Congdon entertained six guests at luncheon Wednesday, at the Country club.

Heart Beats

By A. K.

Our enemies were culled—
From merest nothings
And judged by qualities
We did not understand—
We made them
In our silly moods
And moments
When we were fussy
And too quick to judge.
From friends we like
We segregate all others
Branding one as evil
One as good—
We flatter our
"Good sense" in choosing
Wisely
When wisdom had no hand
In things at all.
But now the light
Comes breaking through
The heavens
And rends the cloud
Of thought before our eyes—
It prostrates on
The narrow path before us
A thousand errors
Of our own design.
There is such good in bad
And bad in goodness—
We dare not draw
That fine dividing line.
We see the convict's
Family love him dearly
Because perhaps
They know him best of all.
And cruel creatures
Slinking round the byways
Are loved
If only by the ones
Who gave them birth—
These mothers
Know them best—
And so we wonder
If
After all
There is so great a chasm
Twixt love and lust
And sin and loveliness
Thus we feel
A little bit more kindly
Toward those souls
We do not understand—
Perhaps if we could only
Know them better
They'd be our friends
And we would love them too.
SELAH!

Catherine, Katherine and Kathryn

We don't know what there is in a name, so we can't inform the estate of W. Shakespeare of Stratford-on-Avon. But we do know that there are many ways of spelling it, as the different ways the bard signed himself show. Take for instance, Elinor Glyn's famous novel, "The Career of Katherine Bush." That has been put into scenario form by Kathryn Stuart, and Catherine Calvert shown above, is booked to star in this Paramount-Artcraft special.

Women in the Day's News

A community kitchen established at the Harvard college kitchen by women of that district has been obliged to move into larger quarters because of its growing popularity.

Because of the exorbitant price of "kosher" meat, members of the Jewish Women's league in several of the larger cities have pledged themselves to observe "meatless meals" until the price is reduced.

King Alexander of Greece has bestowed the medal of military merit upon two Pennsylvania women, Miss C. R. Blakeslee, Drexel Hill and Miss Edith Glenn, Bristol for their service during the typhus epidemic in Macedonia.

Women conductors are employed on auto bus lines recently established in Manila.

Another Wellesley graduate has sailed for France to join the reconstruction unit of that college.

Miss Bernice Van Slyke, a native of Detroit.

German statistics have upset the theory that more boys than girls are born during times of war, the birth records showing 1,086 girls for every 1,000 boys in the past four years.

Two school teachers of Philadelphia, Miss L. H. Haessler and Miss A. C. Wight, girlhood friends and schoolmates, have just completed 35 years of teaching in the girls' high school.

Social problems affecting women throughout the world will be studied by women physicians at a six weeks' international conference to be opened in New York City the middle of September. The conference will be held under the auspices of the Social Morality committee, War Work council, of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association.

Simple Operations Fitted Together

The business of Swift & Company is the fitting together of many simple operations.

No one thing in a packing business is particularly difficult for men trained to do it; but no one thing is enough.

Thousands of other operations, properly performed, are necessary for the completed processes. And some one must fit together all these thousands of simple operations.

The success with which a packing business performs its function of supplying the best possible meat products to the consumer with the greatest possible benefit to both him and the producer depends upon the energy, brains, experience, and faithful effort of the men trained in the business.

Swift & Company turns the producer's live stock into meat for the consumer at a profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound, because it fits these operations together with the least waste, overlapping, and friction.

Do you believe government direction could do it better?

Let us send you a "Swift Dollar". It will interest you.
