Washington, Aug. 3.-From 3,000, 000 to 6,000,000 American children are not getting enough to eat because their parents are unable, on their present incomes, to buy sufficient food, said a statement issue today by the children's bureau of the department of labor. These are the children, the statement said, who are often pronounced by parents and teachers to be "delicate," "ailing," "lazy" or just plain "ornery," al-though their true affliction is malnutrition.

The number of school children in the United States who are not getting sufficient food was placed at from 15 to 25 per cent, while this was said to be true of one-fifth of the children attending school in New York City.
