

SALVATION ARMY FORMS CLUB OF LIFE TERMERS

Twenty-Eight Eligible Members of Most Unique Shut-in Association Live in Nebraska.

Plans for what is probably the most unique of all shut-in clubs in the world have been formulated by the Salvation Army.

The club is the outgrowth of the Brighter Day league of which Commander Evangeline Booth is president. Although few would care to boast of membership, there are 472 men eligible of whom 28 live in Nebraska.

The club is unique in that no man is eligible to membership who has not had a life sentence passed upon him, and the 472 members are the life sentence men in the prisons throughout the United States as listed at the Salvation Army headquarters.

A president, vice-president and secretary will be elected by the prisoners, each officer representing a different prison group. Preference for office will be given men who have served the longest. Officers at no time may confer together, but all business will be transacted through the Salvation Army prison department, New York City, which will automatically become the clearing house for suggestions, and communications between prisoners.

Through the publications, The War Cry and The War Service Herald, one group of prisoners will be kept in communication with other groups. Proposals from the prisoners will be submitted to the board on the Salvation Army which will take them up and decide what can be done. A personal service will also be carried on by the Salvation Army prison visitors.

To provide for better prison conditions and to help in the personal service work are included in the plan for enlarged home service work in Nebraska.

"Evidence" in "Still" Case Is Stolen and Later On Recaptured

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 2.—To steal liquor from revenue officers after it had been captured is the most daring feat recently brought to the attention of federal officers in this section. Deputy Internal Revenue Collector T. B. Ivins of the Knoxville division, raided a large still just over the Georgia line, near Copperhill, Tenn. Heaped out 500 gallons of beer and took a keg of seven gallons of whiskey to Blue Ridge, Ga., where a hearing of the three arrested was conducted by United States Commissioner Quillin. During the preliminary hearing the keg of whiskey was stolen from the officer's automobile. The officers soon learned of the loss and a thrilling chase resulted in which the officers won. The explanation given by the man who stole the keg was that he needed a drink.

Hastings College Notes. Bayard Funk, who graduated in 1918 and enlisted immediately after, returned to Hastings last week. He will teach the coming year. The college is looking forward to a splendid enrollment. Room rents have been reduced to $1.00 per day for the last three weeks without fall and dormitory rooming. The campaign for funds for Liberty Memorial Hall is also going on very briskly. The campaign for the building of the new building is also going on very briskly. The plan now is to finish this building early in the spring. The contract for the building was let on Friday. The building will be a two-story building and will be a masterpiece of architecture. The building will be a masterpiece of architecture. The building will be a masterpiece of architecture.

News from Franklin Academy. Franklin academy at its thirty-seventh commencement graduated a class of 16 young women. There were no boys in the class because every boy had enough had some time of war service. At the annual meeting of the trustees the plan was voted to enter upon a campaign for $125,000 for buildings, endowments and general funds. The citizens of Franklin had at the time given initial subscriptions toward this fund amounting to about $15,000.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

NEW BUILDINGS AT STATE UNIV TO BE READY SOON

Structures on Downtown Campus to Be Occupied at Opening of Fall Term.

The two new buildings on the downtown campus at the state university will be ready for occupancy when the university opens in the fall. The social science building already presents an attractive appearance with the twelfth street frontage. On the first floor there is an assembly room which will seat 250. The department of philosophy will occupy rooms in the north wing on the third floor. The remainder of the first floor will be used by the department of political science and sociology. The second floor is given to the department of history. American occupies the northwest corner, together with a room for English history. This subject will have some five or six rooms along the west front of the second floor.

European history is provided for in the south part of the hall on this same floor. The college of business administration will be housed in all the rooms on the third floor which are now occupied by the department of philosophy. This will give the business college all the south end. A room for the library of this college is set apart near the south corner. The floors in this building are finished with cork carpet.

The teachers' college building will be occupied exclusively by the one college which, however, embraces a wide variety of activities. The floors in this building, which is fireproof, are of maple. They have been cleaned and varnished and many of the rooms are ready for use. Home corner of the basement with a laboratory and a practice kitchen. In the southwest corner there will be a sewing laboratory. In another part of the basement arrangements are made for manual training. The typewriting room will occupy the southeast corner of the first floor. The new office will be located on this floor as well as the chemistry laboratory. The second floor is largely given to lecture and recitation rooms. These are planned to seat about thirty-five or forty students. At the east end of this floor is a large study room for about 200. This is a most attractive room. Directly above it is the auditorium which seats about 200. It is provided with footlights, stage and dressing rooms. The physics laboratory will be on the third floor and will also be a study room. As yet the surrounding buildings, which are later to be cleared away, give little outlook from the windows of this building, but on the third floor a good vista over the tree tops towards the capitol may be obtained.

The new building around the social science building are rapidly being removed. Desirable views from the various stories are already possible. Both buildings are of reinforced concrete brick.

University Notes

Plans are being considered for offering many extension lectures in the arts and science college this coming year in the city of Lincoln and such other places as may express an interest. Regular members of the faculty of high scholastic standing will be in charge. The subjects handled will be those which are likely to appeal to men and women at this time. Those interested are requested to communicate with Dean P. M. Buck.

Frank C. Campbell, who graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1915, has returned from a year's foreign service with the 315th engineers, A. E. F.

Gordon G. Andrews, a graduate at the winter commencement in 1917 at the state university, expects to enter the graduate school at Harvard this fall to specialize in history and political science.

Miss Esther Anderson of the department of geography at the state university, left the city at the end of the first summer session for a long journey to the coast. She will first visit Seattle, then strike for California thru which she will travel from end to end.

Mrs. L. D. Ohman, '09, state university, writes to the alumni office from Pilger, Neb., where she is interested in organizing a Stanton county alumni of the U. of N. club. Many counties are thus organizing to renew old friendships and cooperate for their alma mater.

Chancellor Samuel Avery and Professor Philo M. Buck, dean of the Arts and Science college of the State university, will accompany the Nebraska Press association editorial excursion to Gering this coming week.

The military prospectus of work done at the University of Nebraska is ready for distribution and may be had by applying to the registrar. It is expected that all male students in the high schools will be interested. The booklet is finely illustrated.

The artillery unit of the State university will have an exhibit at the state fair. There will be shown a British millimeter gun, a French mm. gun, an American mm. gun, a 4-inch American gun, a 155 mm. French gun, a 155 mm. Howitzer, several artillery tractors, a Browning automatic rifle, and a Brown heavy machine gun.

Walter B. Palmer, cadet corporal; Donald D. Parry, cadet captain; Charles A. Eastman, cadet private; and Ernest B. Johnson, cadet private, return to Nebraska early in August after having completed training in the reserve officers' camp at Funston.

C. S. Holcombe, '16, writes to the state university from New York City that he is trying to get passage to Egypt to do Y. M. C. A. work, but conditions there are so unsettled the prospects are none too bright. If he cannot go to Egypt he will select some other possible country for his activities.

Doane College News. The college has secured H. H. Johnston, '17, for the position of all year athletic coach. "Big John" has just arrived from service overseas and the college was fortunate in getting him before he engaged in other work. He was captain of the Doane football team two seasons, '14 and '15, and was a tower of strength to the team. He is a natural teacher as was testified by a number of activities he pushed through to success while in college.

Some good lectures have been taken of the gateway presented to the college by the Doane football team. The plans were presented to the class by Dean and A. R. Dean, architects of Chicago. The Dean brothers were students of the latter part of the Doane football team. They were in the city during the absence of the Doane football team. A chautauqua lecture tour.

Miss Florence Fetter, '12, who taught a month's work for the college in western Nebraska. Miss Marie Bowles, assistant to the treasurer, P. C. Swift, has returned from her vacation in the office in the city. Miss Florence Fetter, who is in Sioux City, Ia., is visiting and camping.

Business Methods on the Farm Found to Be Greatest Value

Business methods on the farm; even the simplest form of bookkeeping and proper rendering of bills and accounts, a neat well-written typewritten letter to the broker, to the commission merchant, to the dealer or to the customer, often make a big difference in prices and determine whether the farm pays or is a loss.

The Omaha Business college is encouraged by the growing interest in its "home study" courses of the extension college. As an example of the scope of this interest may be cited one example of the present enrollment in which a married woman, with the care of six children, is managing to find time for a full stenographic course.

Among the summer enrollments of the Omaha Business college are several teachers who are studying shorthand for their own convenience and possible additional support. A leading county superintendent of schools, in commenting on the great advantage of a knowledge of shorthand for advanced students and teachers said: "I wish every one of my teachers would study it."

ing from here to his old home at Sutton. Mr. Brehm has but recently received his discharge from the navy. J. E. Eastley visited his daughter at the college Thursday.

Miss Aurelia McCormick, who recently had to give up her position in the war relief department in Washington, owing to ill health, expects to return in a short time to the national capital. Miss McCormick was a student in the school in 1914. Her home was formerly at Clay Center, Neb.

Nebraska School of Business. Miss Beulah Overman accepted a position in the office in the city. Superintendent Novotny of the Bridgeport school is interviewing the faculty Friday in search for a commercial teacher for the new high school.

Miss Marie Lord Parker of Chicago is among the recent enrollments. Miss Parker has traveled extensively and was in Rome at the time of the outbreak of the war. She is now in Chicago.

President John Tully of the First National bank at Crest called on Mr. Brehm at the college Monday. Mr. Tully and Mr. Biskalke were former college friends of Brehm.

Chief Yeoman Carl Brehm visited his many friends at the college Monday. Mr. Brehm has but recently received his discharge from the navy.

Great Demand for Machine Operators and Bookkeepers

No better proof that business is every day offering new and greater opportunities to get ahead can be offered than the recent enormously increasing demand for bookkeeping and accounting machine operators.

In line with its policy to furnish business with efficiently trained helpers Boyles college has for some time had complete equipment for this purpose, including Burroughs adding, listing and posting machines, calculators and the comptometer.

Practical, thorough work is given every student taking these machine courses. In addition are taught those little extra phases of office work the student must understand when he takes a position—penmanship, typewriting and pencil calculation. Without these he cannot be the efficiently trained helper business wants and is eager to pay for.
