The run consisting of 65 per cent feeders and 35 per cent killers and 25 or 30 loads of Wyomings were included in the offerings. Packer demand was very dull and dragsy from the start with frend of values Wyomings were included in the offerings. Packor demand was very dull and draggy from the start with trend of values lower, various early sales indicating a general decline of about 25c both on fat sheep and lambs. Feeder trade also ruled slow and lower owing to heavy supplies and the fact that two railroads serving Iowa and Illinois territory have refused to accept feeder shipments. Best feeding lambs are not quotable over $14.75 with medium grades bringing $14.00 £014.50.

New York Caffee.

New York Aug. 4.—The market for coffee futures was easier today owing to the continued agitation against the high cost of living, reports of a decline in futures at Santos, and weakness in the stock market. After opening at an advance of four points to a decline of five points, prices firmed up a few points on covering, but soon weakened with December and May both selling off to 20.60c in the late trading. The close was at the low point of the day on most months, showing a not loss of 34 to 39 points. GRAIN MARKEI

Omaba, Nob., Aug. 4, 1911.

Oranda, Nob., Aug. 4, 1911.

Oranda, Control the December delivery, which at the last minute was still failing rapidly after having dropped about 25c a bushel since less than a week ago. Inasmuch as the December delivery is the principal future trading equivalent of the 1919 corn crop, the shrinkage in values which has taken place during the last week might be figured at considerably more than half a billion dollars. Actual cash prices for corn available for immediate delivery however have not been cut more than 10c to 15c a bushel in the last week.

In oats as well as in corn, virtually the sole factor was the bearish influence of agitation over the high cost of living. Talk of large export sales of oats could not be confirmed.

Provisions were for the same reasons as grain without any adequate support.
