Far just experience tells in every soil. That those who think must govern those who toil. —Goldsmith.

Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control. These three alone lead life to sovereign power. —Tennyson.

Society

MISS ELLA FLEISHMAN, war worker in France, is a bona fide member of the A. E. F. Not by the baptism of fire was she received into the great brotherhood, but with a sprinkling of gasoline! Veritably, a solid gold shampoo, for think of the price of this sparkling fluid! The former Omaha girl, who has luxuriant tresses would have much preferred hot water plus large quantities of soap, but the French hairdresser had it his way. Enlisting the aid of three chaplains, Miss Fleishman procured a motor ride to Dijon, about 25 kilometers from Is-Sur-Tille, where she is stationed, and the blithesome four drove into town and halted in front of the shop which bore the largest "Coiffeur" sign and the cleanest looking exterior. The suave-appearing, Van Dyke bearded Frenchman smilingly bowed the young war worker into his inner sanctum, enveloped her in a large towel and began operations. She waited in pleasant anticipation for the foamy lather, but none was forthcoming. Instead a peculiarly familiar odor greeted her for she had just ridden down in a leaky Ford. Could it be, possible? Indeed, very possible for little rivers of the gasoline were trickling down her neck and in her eyes. With one wild leap she left the chair and the French-American combination of sentences tried to convey to the gentleman that she did not want a gasoline shampoo. She begged for hot water, but alas there was none! What should she do? One glance in the mirror at her disheveled appearance and she knew that she was at the mercy of the bearded villain for she could not appear on the street in that condition. So she settled back with a sigh of resignation and let him have his way. A little more patting and rubbing and whir— an electric fan was permitted to blow her tresses about gaily. Slowly but surely the excess eau d'automobile began to disappear and the faintly sweet perfume of eau de cologne to be substituted for it. While behind a gaudy screen, the shop's force laughed discreetly about the amusing American and her ignorance of what was proper and fitting in the best kind of a shampoo!

But when Miss Fleishman returned to camp and related her thrilling adventure—how she had fought the whole war over again in the coiffeur shop in Dijon—not a bit of sympathy did she receive from the blame doughty boys who thronged her hut. "That's nothing! Now you're a full fledged member of the A. E. F. You've been properly de-loused, said they. Finis la guerre!

Marriage Announcement Comes as a Surprise to Omaha Friends.

An out-of-town wedding of wide interest to Omahans is that of Mrs. Charles H. Brown and Mr. George Taylor, which took place at high noon Tuesday at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Charles B. Sears, at 849 Delaware avenue, Buffalo, N. Y. Only the immediate relatives were present at the ceremony. After a short eastern trip Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will be at home at Great Barrington, Mass. Mrs. Taylor, who was formerly Miss Ella Mae Brown, was one of the most attractive and charming of Omaha women. Her girlhood and early married life was spent in Omaha, but she has lived much in the east during later years. She left early in the spring for Great Barrington, where she has a beautiful country home. Mr. Taylor, who is a member of an old New England family, is a graduate of Williams college. The marriage announcement comes as a surprise to Omaha friends.

Dorothy Judson's Guest

Alice Wheelwright

Miss Alice Wheelwright of Minneapolis, who is the guest of Miss Dorothy Judson, is quite like an Omaha girl, for she has made so many friends during her visits. She was extensively entertained at Christmas time, when she was a house guest of the Judsons, and now summer affairs are being planned for her. The two pretty girls are classmates at Miss Somer's school in Washington, where they will return in the fall.

Heartbeats

By A. K. It started With Barnum Who let out a secret "Folks want to be fooled" He said, His word went The gamut Of human endurance Then started All over again. Our movie men have it! Said one young "Mc Tavitt" "They all like The slapstick stuff. If you don't Believe us Just stroll in Some evening And see what brings The applause." We did — And we saw — And we heard But still we suspect That the strongest applause Comes from the noisy lot Who like the Loud cheering And hisses and leering So it is said but true That we don't think aloud — For we do like Good music Good pictures And adventures Unfortunately "The shallow murmur But the deep are dumb." So now we've decided That although We're against it To clap fiercely At the finest pictures For if noise is the Saroneter Of deep appreciation Then deep appreciation We'll show. SELAH!

Personals

Mrs. A. G. Black and two sons of St. Louis, and Miss Frances Adler, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Adler. Miss Catherine McCole of Tilden, Neb., who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bender, returned home Tuesday. Miss McCole has been one year overseas with the Red Cross. Miss Harriet Long of Madison, Neb., is now at Is-Sur-Tille, France, engaged in work for the American Library association. Mrs. Wendell Tuffin and son, John Edward of Yale, Ia., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Miller. Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Drummond will leave the latter part of August for Cleveland, where they will make their home. Miss Claremont Gushee of New York, who is the guest of Miss Jayne Clarke, will return to her home Thursday. Lt. and Mrs. George Lundberg of Fort Omaha, announce the birth of a son Tuesday morning. Discontinue Afternoon Teas. Owing to the extreme heat the hostesses at the two forts intend to discontinue the Tuesday afternoon teas until cooler weather. Fort Crook has, however, opened its swimming pool and no doubt many swimming parties will be planned. The post has a very large pool and every facility for bathers. The women of the post, who are all very much devoted to outdoor sports, are enjoying the water immensely during the hot weather. Mrs. J. D. Pomeroy, who is visiting Mrs. George Van Studdiford, is one of the accomplished swimmers at the post.

Happy Hollow

Many large parties are being given at the country clubs these warm evenings. C. C. Belden entertained the largest party at the Happy Hollow club Tuesday evening, when the guests will number 21. Fred Dale had 10 guests at dinner. R. B. Wheeler entertained six guests. Foursoomes were given by C. F. Folsom and R. R. Evans. First Scenes for Movie. Traffic Officer Dudley, stationed at Sixteenth and Farnam streets, will be shot at sun down Tuesday. No, it isn't for offending some motorist who was caught speeding down Farnam street. It is for the Chamber of Commerce motion picture, "East Meets West," and the hour of sun down was chosen because at that time there are more automobiles skidding homeward which gives Officer Dudley more opportunity to use his arms. All movie fans know the familiar sky line of New York City that the poor country girl sees for the first time when she is lured to the city by the wicked artist with the flowing tie. The camera man snapped just such a view of the Omaha sky line Tuesday morning from the Iowa bank of the Missouri river. Luncheon. Mrs. Robert W. Thompson gave a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Joseph Fowler Ament of Chicago, at the Fontenelle Tuesday afternoon. Her guests were: Mesdames Joseph Fowler Ament, Roscoe C. Alexander, Howard G. Bennett, George H. Bligh and Robert W. Thompson. Mrs. Ament is visiting her sister, Mrs. George H. Bligh.

Wardrobe Trunks Obtainable and Unobtainable

There are several makes of high-grade wardrobe trunks—not so fine, we believe, as the Oshkosh—yet trunks that have earned a well deserved reputation. But in every instance—the enormously increased demands of post war travel have put these factories far behind in their orders until most of them are practically unobtainable—at least with any choice of selection. Good fortune—or good management provided this store with an assortment of the famed Oshkosh Wardrobe Trunks to satisfy local consumption—and though we are selling hundreds of them, we can still show a complete assortment.

How to Remove Stains. At this season of the year we live out of doors more than usual and our clothes often come in contact with things not very beneficial to their appearance. The government has recently issued a concise little pamphlet telling how to remove the common stains. So when you come back from the next picnic with coffee stains down your waist, fruit spots on your skirt, and grass stains on your best canvas shoes, just let the government help you out.

General Rules. Treat promptly. Find out what made the stain. Consider the material. Try simple methods. Work carefully. Keep all stain removers together in a special place and properly labeled. Mark "Poison" if poisonous. Directions for Preparing Stain Removers. (Bleaching Agents.) Javelle Water: One-half pound chloride of lime dissolved in two quarts cold water. One pound washing soda dissolved in one quart boiling water. Pour the clear liquid from the chloride of lime into the soda solution. Let the mixture settle and then strain the liquid through a cloth into bottles. Cork and keep in a dark place. Potassium Permanganate: Dissolve one teaspoon crystals in one pint water. Oxalic Acid (mark Poison). Dissolve one ounce crystals in three-fourths cup hot water. Hydrogen Peroxide: Add a few drops of ammonia to the hydrogen peroxide just before using. This makes it work more quickly. Common Stains and How to Remove Them. Blood and Meat Juice: Use cold water; soap and cold water; or starch paste. Allow the paste to dry on; then brush off as paste discolors, and repeat. Bluing: Use boiling water. Chocolate and cocoa: Use borax and cold water; bleach if necessary. Coffee and tea: (Clear)—Use boiling water; bleach if necessary. (With cream): Use cold water, then boiling water, bleach if necessary. Cream and milk: Use cold water, then soap and cold water. Egg: Use cold water. Fruit and fruit juices: Use boiling water, poured from a height over the material stretched over a bowl. Grass: Use cold water; soap and cold water; alcohol; or a bleaching agent. Grease and oils: Use French chalk, blotting paper or other absorbent; warm water and soap; or gasoline, benzine, or carbon tetrachloride. Iodine: Use warm water and soap; alcohol; or ammonia. Ink: Try cold water; then use an acid or bleach if necessary. Iron: Use oxalic acid; hydrochloric acid; salts of lemon; or lemon juice and salt. Kerosene: Use warm water and soap. Lampblack and Soot: Use kerosene, benzine, chloroform, ether, gasoline, or carbon tetrachloride. Medicine: Use alcohol. Mildew: If fresh, use cold water; otherwise try to bleach with Javelle water or potassium permanganate. Paint and Varnish: Use alcohol, carbon tetrachloride, chloroform, or turpentine. Perspiration: Use soap and warm water; bleach in the sun or with Javelle water or potassium permanganate. Pitch, tar and wheel grease: Rub with fat; then use soap and warm water; or benzine, gasoline or carbon tetrachloride. Scorch: Bleach in the sunshine or with Javelle water. Shoe polish, (black): Use soap and water; or turpentine. (Tan), use alcohol. Syrup: Use water. Stove polish: Use cold water and soap; or kerosene, benzine, or gasoline. Vaseline: Use kerosene or turpentine. Water: Steam or sponge the entire surface of water-spotted materials. Wax: Scrape off as much as possible. Use French chalk, blotting paper or other absorbent with a warm iron; or use benzine or gasoline. If color remains, use alcohol or bleach. How to Use a Bleaching Agent. Place the stain over a bowl of hot water and apply the bleaching agent a drop at a time. When the stain changes color, dip into the water. Repeat until the stain is removed. Neutralize with ammonia and rinse well. If the stain is obstinate immerse it in oxalic acid or Javelle water diluted with an equal quantity of hot water. Neutralize with ammonia and rinse. Caution: Use Javelle water only on white cotton and linen. If the potassium permanganate leaves a stain, remove with a little diluted oxalic acid and then rinse. Stewed Carrots. 1 qt. carrots 1 t. chopped parsley 1 t. salt 1 t. butter 1 t. pepper. Cook the carrots in boiling salted water, keeping the cover on the kettle. Drain and save the water in which they were cooked. Melt butter, add flour, and stir in one cup of the carrot water. Cook to boiling adding onion, parsley, salt and pepper. Scalloped Cucumbers. Pare and slice thin two large cucumbers. Put in a greased baking dish, alternate layers of cucumbers and cracker crumbs, add salt, pepper and dots of butter to each layer. Moisten well with water. Bake three-quarters of an hour in a moderate oven. Will serve six people. Vegetable Oysters. 1 c. vegetable pulp (any kind, though corn of peas are especially good) 1 t. salt 1 t. pepper 1 t. melted butter Salt and pepper. Mix ingredients well and drop by spoonfuls onto a greased griddle. Brown on one side, then turn and brown on the other. Woodman Circle Reception. A reception was held at the Prettiest Mile club Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Kate Remington, Mrs. Mary La Rocca and Miss Dora Alexander, by the Woodmen Circle. Mrs. R. E. McKelvie gave the address. Those in the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Cloyd, Colonel B. W. Jewell, Mesdames Harriet Joy, J. Manspeaker, A. Callaman, Ida Kennedy, Gordon Saunders and J. W. Hood.

Picnic Party. A picnic was given Sunday at Lake Manawa, by the Cudahy Packing company for their office employees. Veils were originally worn by Jewish women with the idea of covering up their hair.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Love Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Bashful or Bold. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: We are two girls of 13 and 15 and will be in the ninth and 10th grades. We are coming to you for him for years. Is it proper for him to take girls of our age home from parties in a car? We have known for years. Is it proper for him to take our arm while walking home from any social doings? Should we allow him to put his arm around us while riding in his car? One of us refused to kiss a boy one night while coming home from a party. He told some boys and now they nick-named me "Bashful." What would you do about it? Please answer this soon, as we are anxious to know. RIETA AND MAY. Provided the boy is respectable it is all right to ride home with him if he goes directly there. Have you girls only one arm for the two of you? Since you have only one, according to your letter, you had better not let him take it, as he might keep the arm. I think the boy would have a rather difficult time to put one arm around two girls and drive the car with the other. He had better behave himself and avoid an automobile accident. Which would you prefer to be nicknamed, "Bashful" or "Bold"?

A Would-Be Movie Star. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I have often read you "Advice to the Lovelorn," also your advice on many other subjects, so I have decided to see what you could do for me. No, my case is not about love affairs, as I have failed to reach the stage where I could express my affections for the opposite sex publicly. I am a middle-sized young girl, 16 years of age. I am not considered pretty in personal looks, but they say that "handsome is as handsome does," and that is where I get my popularity. I have considerable talent for music and dancing and I would like to join the movies. Everybody says they think I could do well in the movies, especially in the comedies. Can you tell me where I could gain any information concerning this subject? I am almost through high school, but would like to get some training before I become too old. Do you think if I wrote to one of the "stars" that I could receive any valuable information? They say it takes money to become an actress, but as far as that is concerned, my folks are well-to-do and could easily stand the expense. I have two chums who would also like to join, but their financial conditions might prevent their doing so. Thanking you kindly, your grateful friend, DARRLENE. About the last thing in the world I should advise a girl to do is join the movies. The life is full of sacrifice, the work is hard and uncertain. If your folks have plenty of money you can find happiness in a much better place than a movie show. Not one girl in a thousand becomes a star. In Norway, a husband and wife who wish to part have first to apply to a magistrate, who sends them to a conciliation board, a committee which investigates the case and tries to reconcile the couple, and persuade them to try again. If the attempt does not succeed they are granted a separation order. At the end of one year the ministry of justice is bound to make the divorce final if asked to do so by either party. The whole proceedings are very cheap, the cost ranging from $1 to $2 up to $25.
