

PASTOR HAS FILL OF SETTLING FAMILY ROWS

Rev. W. G. Jones of Red Oak Resigns Following Bass-Sedam Hearing by Baptist Association.

Red Oak, Ia., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—The Rev. W. G. Jones, pastor of the Baptist church here, where the Southwestern Iowa Baptist association council found it necessary to meet last week to hear the family troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Judd A. Bass and their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Sedam and her husband, has resigned. He will enter the newspaper business.

The Rev. Mr. Jones declared that settling family disputes is an objectionable feature of a pastor's work, and one of which he has had his fill. He maintained, however, that he is leaving the ministry temporarily for a rest.

He has not had occasion to speak to the Judds or the Sedams since the church hearing, and that hearing, he said, had nothing to do with his resignation. He has contemplated the step three months, he said. He has been pastor at Red Oak just one year. He has been 17 years in the ministry.

The resignation came as a complete surprise to his congregation. He resigned last March, when the problem of settling family disputes in his church seemed to be too great, but so many members of the congregation urged him to stay that he reconsidered his resignation.

During his 17 years as a minister, the Rev. Mr. Jones said he had frequently been called to mediate family and neighborhood quarrels. The council on the Bass-Sedam hearing voted to refuse the hand of fellowship to Mr. and Mrs. Judd Bass and Mr. and Mrs. George Bass.

Between 8 and 11 o'clock last night the mercury dropped from 88 to 79 degrees and at midnight it was still going down. At 2 p. m. yesterday the thermometer registered 94, the maximum reached yesterday.

ALLIED COUNCIL REJECTS TERMS OF ROUMANIANS

Recognition of Ultimatum to Hungary Refused by the Peace Conference.

Paris, Aug. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Nicholas Misu of the Roumanian peace delegation was summoned before the supreme council today which gave him a communication for his government, saying that the Roumanian ultimatum to Hungary cannot be recognized by the peace conference and calling upon Roumanians to live up to the armistice terms. Misu said that the Roumanians were taking back supplies which the German field marshal, Von Mackensen, took from them, but his explanation did not alter the decision of the supreme council, which was unanimous.

While the French hitherto apparently were inclined to regard Roumanian occupation of Budapest favorably, it was evident at the council meeting that they have changed their position since seeing the Roumanian ultimatum and at the American and British position which the Italians have been supporting consistently.

It was made clear at the meeting that Roumanian ambitions would cut off the communications of Central Europe and make it impossible to feed large populations and also would greatly interfere with reparations.

Drive on Prices Forces Drop

Woman Kills Herself Despite Patrolman

New York, Aug. 6.—Checkmating a patrolman, who sought to prevent her from committing suicide, Mrs. Sybil Boblitt, formerly of Memphis, Tenn., sent a bullet through her brain in a Madison avenue office building Wednesday night.

The policeman was summoned by Frank H. Goddard, a New York salesman, who informed him that the woman was about to commit suicide in his office. Hurrying to the office, the policeman found her sitting at a desk with a revolver pressed to her temple.

The patrolman and the woman gazed fixedly at each other for several minutes while he tried to induce her to lay down her weapon. Finally, thinking she was off her guard, he leaped toward her, but before he could reach her side, she shot Goddard told the police he believed Mrs. Boblitt, who was a widow, killed herself because she felt he did not reciprocate her infatuation for him.

In her purse was found a card bearing the inscription, "Sister, Mrs. E. H. Foster, Denver, Colo."

May Import German Potash Into America

Washington, Aug. 6.—German potash may be imported into the United States under a ruling by the War Trade board. The commodity, the board announced, has been removed from the limited list of materials on which wartime restrictions were retained when the general blockade was lifted July 14.

Importation of potash from Germany, the chief source of the commodity prior to the war, has been a subject of controversy practically ever since the signing of the armistice. The American potash industry, which was war-horn, asked that protection be afforded for several years at least.

Farmers' organizations requested that importation be permitted as a means of lowering the cost of living. Legislation now pending before congress would levy a higher tariff on potash than that now imposed.

Omaha Labor Union Is Not Interested in Recall Move

H. J. Tolliver, the president of the local Central Labor union yesterday issued the following statement in connection with the announced move to recall some of the city commissioners:

"It has been stated in many quarters that the labor organizations in Omaha are back of the recall of the city commissioners. So far organized labor has not taken any action in the movement to recall some of the commissioners and is taking a disinterested attitude. Each commissioner will be judged on his individual fitness for the office and labor as a body will take no active part in the recall if it comes up to the voters at an election."

Negro Taken to Arkansas for Murder Was Wrong Man

Lee had also been indicted for a murder in Mississippi, but was taken there but was again found to be a victim of mistaken identity.

It was shown that Lee was working in the Burlington freight office in Council Bluffs at the time the murder was committed.

DES MOINES CAR STRIKE HELD UP UNTIL SEPT. 9

U. S. Judge Grants Street Car Company Permission to Borrow Funds to Pay Wage Increase.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—The Des Moines street car strike, scheduled for next Friday morning, was postponed at least until September 9, and perhaps averted, by a decision handed down by Federal Judge Martin J. Wade, under whose orders the bankrupt company now is operating.

Judge Wade permitted the company to borrow from funds on hand sufficient money to pay the wage increase granted the carmen by an arbitration board, from August 1 to September 9. Unless the city council, by the latter date, has made considerable progress toward working out a new franchise which will allow the company earnings large enough to maintain the higher pay scale, a strike again will be in prospect. Judge Wade said he will not extend the order unless it has become "reasonably certain that provision will be made to advance fares." The men have announced their intention to strike just as soon as wages drop back to the old level.

August Fur Sale

LAST Sunday in our large advertisement in the Omaha Bee we explained how Mr. Aulabaugh, by his system of keeping trading posts among the Indians of the Hudson Bay country of Canada, is enabled to procure throughout the year, pelts for his stores in Omaha and Lincoln of exceptional excellence and luxuriousness.

How—with his frequent trips to the Northland—he is able to select the skins which are best suited for draping into fur garments; how—by his careful process of manufacturing, etc., he is able to present the finished garments to his customers at prices much below the houses who are forced to purchase their garments from the wholesale manufacturers.

How—because of his intimate knowledge of the materials which are used—inside and out—he is able to place his unconditional guarantee behind every article—and in case of any latent defect he is able to make it good in his own shop, thus preventing avoidable delay.

Speed—and the price of Meat

Forty-eight hours after cattle are purchased by Swift & Company they are hanging up as meat; within two weeks the fresh meat has been sold.

This speed means money in the pocket of the one who raises the live stock and of the one who eats the meat. It means a rapid "turnover" of capital and investment—making possible the transaction of daily business on a narrower margin of profit.

Speed permits Swift & Company to do a successful business on a profit of a fraction of a cent per pound.

Such speed, with its rapid turnover and smaller profits would be impossible without the efficient organization and wide scope of Swift & Company, the results of fifty years' experience in handling meat.

Do you believe that government interference with the complicated and efficient machinery of the packing industry can be of any benefit? Experience with government regulation of railroads and telephone and telegraph might suggest an answer.
