

TWO FORMER BIG LEAGUERS FAIL TO STOP TULSA

Oilers Win, 4 to 1, Getting All the Breaks in a Good Game; Two Williams Play.

Once more, the breaks of the game went against Omaha, and Tulsa walked off with the second game of the series safely tucked away. The final count was 4 to 1. Again, the Omaha hitters made the most extra-base hits, but they availed the locals nothing. Every extra-base hitter died on the bases, though one of the hits drove in the only run the Rourkes scored.

Third Baseman Barbeau walked in the first inning and the next two batters went out. Hemmingway, the crippled shortstop, slammed a three-base wallop that scored the runner, but he died on third when Harry Williams skied to center field.

Though he had promised both Jackson and Rourke that he would stay with them until the fifteenth, Pat Mason, the Kansas City college boy, packed his grip and took a train for Spencer, Neb., jumping the club's contract and leaving them in a crippled condition. To fill the positions, Rourke put Harry Williams, former New York American league player, who has also played with Lincoln and Wichita in the Western loop, on first base.

Another old big league star in the line-up, was Otto Williams, who retired from the professional game to allow him to spend more time at home with his family, at second base. Otto is now the manager of the Armour semi-pro club. The two Williams' played a good game, though neither contributed any hits. The holding was perfect. Both Harry and Otto hit the ball, but some, opposing player happened to be in the way each time.

Another Tulsa player pulled off the second string catch. Burk in center field grabbed one off his shoe laces, on Pitcher Fuhr's liner in the fifth inning. There was a man on and it looked like a sure hit, but Burk made a sprint and stooped just in time to grab it.

The visitors made just twice as many hits as the locals, getting eight to the Omaha players' four. Shortstop Hemmingway made an error and Catcher Spellman made a bad throw to first, making Williams jump for it, but he couldn't catch it and the runner advanced a base on it. Score: OMAHA, A. B. R. H. P. O. E.
