

ONE MORE HOME FALLS PREY TO BURGLAR 'DANDY'

Well Dressed Stranger Steals $78 From James L. Dowd Residence and Makes Escape.

The "gentleman" burglar outwitted the police again Friday night. While 11 policemen in high-powered automobiles scoured the exclusive west end residence district, reporting to headquarters every few minutes, Omaha's kaffies were blending with the shadows on the Prettiest Mile.

He "jimmied" a window in the James L. Dowd home, 5606 Florence boulevard, found $75 in a library table drawer and pocketing it, went upstairs.

Mrs. Dowd heard him. She thought it was her mother, Mrs. C. A. Dowd, coming into her bedroom. "That you, mother?" she called.

"No, it isn't mother," was the answer as the burglar flashed his searchlight on the dresser where Mrs. Dowd's jewelry valued at $1800 was lying.

Then Mrs. Dowd screamed. Mr. Dowd woke up, sensed the situation and leaped from his bed toward the dresser where a revolver was kept.

The burglar fled. The loot besides the $75 found in the library table drawer was $3 taken from an iron bank owned by Fanny Dowd 9 years old.

The burglar answers the description of the man who robbed the D. C. Bradford home, Wednesday morning and the Lawrence Kearney residence Thursday.

Omaha First in High Prices; Leads 50 U. S. Cities With Increase of 54 Per Cent

Cost of Living Shows Greater Gain in Nebraska Metropolis During Month of July Than in Any Other Place in Country, Report of Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics Show.

Omaha led the nation in the high cost of food during the month of July, according to figures compiled by the United States bureau of labor statistics, just announced.

In a list of 50 of the principal cities of the country Newark, N. J., ranks lowest with an increase of only 4 per cent, while Omaha shows an increase in the cost of food-stuffs for July of 54 per cent.

The ranking of the various cities in food costs and the month's advance in total cost is shown in the following tabulation:

Table with columns: City, Total Cost 1 Month Ago, % Increase. Includes Chicago, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Buffalo, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Portland, Omaha, etc.

Northwestern Road Only Railway Still Behind Its Schedule

Feeling that they are "in the clear" as far as labor troubles may interfere with the conduct of the business, officials of all the railroads entering Omaha, with the exception of the Northwestern, have given notice that they are prepared to handle freight of all descriptions and in every direction.

On account of the accumulation of freight at terminals and jobbing points, due to the strike of shopmen, railroad officials assert that it will be four or five days before conditions will be back to normal.

Passenger train service is about normal and, with the exception of the Northwestern, trains are running on schedule time. Northwestern trains are running one-half hour to three hours late.

CITY'S GROCERY WILL BE OPENED EARLY NEXT WEEK

Mayor Smith Announces That Municipal Market Will Start Business In Few Days.

Mayor Smith yesterday announced he will have the municipal grocery store in the city Auditorium doing business early next week.

The mayor and Richard Grotte went over price lists yesterday. They also went to the federal government corral and inspected the great stores of bacon, canned goods and other things for sale there.

They were informed that the government will telegraph a new and reduced price list for these stores next Monday. So the mayor will make no purchases until then.

"I plan now to have each store open in the South Side city hall by the mayor," the South Side store will be open Wednesday and Saturday, the Auditorium store on two other days and the store on the North Side two other days.

"You may tell the people that the store in the South Side city hall will be open for business on Saturday of next week."

The city council Friday took the management of the "grocery stores" from City Commissioner Zimman, to whom it had been given during Commissioner Ute's absence, and turned it over to the mayor.

This was done because the mayor criticized Mr. Zimman's method of numerous conferences with commission men, grocers and gardeners as "soliciting the aid of the wolves to protect the unoffending lamb."

Mayor Smith will take no counsel from the commission men. He believes they are unfriendly to the consumer who seeks to buy from the producer.

OFFICERS FIND FRUIT ROTTING IN CARS HERE

Subpoenaes Served on Members of Firms to Appear Before City Council Investigation Monday.

Subpoenaes were prepared yesterday by City Attorney Weaver and served on members of the firms of Gilinsky Fruit Co., Trimble Bros., J. Robinson and others, who will be called to testify before the city council Monday to investigate charges by Mayor Smith that large quantities of fruit have been allowed to rot in cars in the Omaha freight yards.

County, state and federal authorities will also be present with the city council Monday to investigate charges by Mayor Smith that large quantities of fruit have been allowed to rot in cars in the Omaha freight yards.

County, state and federal authorities will also be present with the city council Monday to investigate charges by Mayor Smith that large quantities of fruit have been allowed to rot in cars in the Omaha freight yards.

Nine more cars of alleged rotting fruit were discovered in the local yards yesterday by Police Officers Stolley and Sutton and a detailed report was made to the mayor, with location, car initials and numbers.

The officers reported eight cars of watermelons on the tracks in the Burlington freight yards which, they said, were rotting.

The mayor received a report from another source that many wagon-loads of rotten watermelons are being hauled to the dump.

Officers Stolley and Sutton reported a carload of peaches at Fourteenth and California streets which, they said, had been there for nine days. Their report on this car was detailed as follows:

"A. R. T." car No. 10500, billed to Trimble Bros., shipped from Mulberry, Ark., July 28. Arrived here in Missouri Pacific train No. 165, July 31. Has stood on track at Fourteenth and California streets for nine days. The fruit is rotten."

Says Officers Mistaken. Charles Trimble, head of the firm of Trimble Brothers, when asked about this case, declared that the officers were mistaken in saying the fruit was rotten.

"The last 140 bushel baskets of those peaches were sold on the sidewalk here at our place of business yesterday to grocers," he said. "The car contained 450 baskets when it arrived here. We kept the fruit under refrigeration in the cars until we sell it. That is the cheapest way. Demurrage and refrigeration cost us about $5 or $6 a day.

"Don't forget the fact that we have to pay for this fruit before it is shipped to us. On this particular car we lost approximately 25 cents a basket."
