The soldiers in charge of the train will give two exhibitions daily the balance of this week and Sunday at Eighteenth and Howard streets. The exhibitions will be held at 3 and 8 p. m.

The exhibit is commanded by Charles Andres, tank corps, has charge of the operation, and Lieut. A. V. Winston, C. A. C., is publicity officer and in charge of recruit-

The display is headed by a 37-ton. Mark IV, English battle tank, used four months in active service in France. It has a 200-horsepower motor and has been named "Baby Doll" by the American soldiers manning it. Bullet holes received during the war are plainly visible. Two 21/2-inch guns and six machine guns are mounted on this tank. A 12-ton captured German tractor shows the economic conditions in Germany near the close of the war. Whippet tanks, similar to the ones previously shown in Omaha and carrying two machine guns, are included.

TWINS

Of Which There Are Very Few-and a Mighty Lucky Thing for the World!

TUPPOSE you had to hesitate every time you wanted to clasp your wife in your arms to make sure that she really and truly was your wifewould you like it? Of course not. The entire pleasure of clasping the woman you love in your arms and pressing burning, tender kisses on her mouth is the spontaneity of it all. Even the woman who proudly proclaims that she cannot thrive on a diet containing a grain of sentiment will "fall for the cave-man stuff." But if you have to think and ponder and wonder if you're kissing the right woman each time, all the thrill and pleasure are gone—and both parties are the losers.

That's one of the numerous reasons why it isn't one of the most delightful things in the world to be a twin. It's "hard" on her and on the man she Vi and Tiny Playfair were twins and they weren't "tickled to death" over the fact, either. It wasn't the pleasantest thing in the world to have people staring at you continually and know that they weren't admiring the way your hair was dressed or the pretty frock you had on or commenting on your beauty, but that they were simply looking at you because you were a novelty—a twin. There right beside you stood your double, identical in face, form and clothes.

It wasn't so bad for Vi and Tiny when they were kids and utterly unconscious of the furor they aroused wherever they went. But when they grew up and each had a beau, then the trouble began. Each of the girls knew which man she loved and who loved her, but she couldn't always take the initiative. She couldn't always rush into the arms of the man she loved and tell him that she was his "angel-child." But there was no other alternative. Neither man could distinguish his sweetheart when both twins were present. And the result was a grand, general mix-up, which came to a climax when Vi's husband ran away with Tiny on his bridal night, thinking that she was his lawfully wedded wife. On the whole, it's a mighty lucky thing for the world that twins are a novelty, but it makes a corking good comedy for
