COUNCIL BEATS RINGER'S JAIL PROPOSITION

Also Expresses Disapproval of Manner in Which Police Head Engaged Architect to Prepare Plans.

The city council yesterday acted adversely on Commissioner Ringer's new city jail proposition. After deliberating on the matter the mayor and commissioners decided that Mr. Ringer's ideas of a new jail were not feasible.

The council also expressed disapproval with the manner in which Mr. Ringer had engaged an architect and had the plans prepared. Mr. Ringer proposed, before he went on his vacation, that a $100,000 jail bond proposition should be submitted to the voters September 16.

Commissioner Butler and Zimman contended that the present city jail could be remodeled and would suit all requirements. This action of the council is another of a series of recent actions in which the council went against the recommendation of the police commissioner.

Inasmuch as the city jail bond proposition will not come up in September, the council further voted not to call a special election for a city charter convention primary. The original plan was to have held both of these elections together.

OMAHA LABOR TO MARCH IN PARADE AS H. C. L. PROTEST

Plan Huge Demonstration to Show Contempt for the Profiteers.

More than 25,000 men and women of Greater Omaha will participate in the mammoth Labor day demonstration on September 1 to give impressive evidence of the strength of the organized worker and as a protest against exploitation of the worker by the profiteer.

Banners, voicing labor's discontent with the high price levels and urging hasty measures to deal with the situation, are now being designed and will be borne by the various crafts in the annual Labor day parade.

Thirty Thousand May March. Between 25,000 and 30,000 union men, women and their friends are expected to assemble in the vicinity of the Labor temple, Sixteenth and Capitol avenue, about 10 o'clock Monday morning on September 1. They will be marshaled into six divisions and the route of the march outlined to them by the various captains. T. P. Reynolds, president of the Nebraska State Federation of Labor, will be the grand marshal during the parade.

Numerically and otherwise, the Omaha locals are now far stronger than ever before in their history. Mr. Reynolds declared, Omahaans who have not realized the rapid growth of the movement in this city will be impressed with the force of labor as expressed in numbers, he said.

Walter Thomas Mills, nationally known economist, and now organizer and speaker for the Nonpartisan league, will deliver the principal address of the day at Krug park. He will discuss political economy in its relation to the worker. Mr. Mills' address will be followed by Anson H. Bigelow, an Omaha attorney.

For the first time in 25 years organized workers of the city have elected to invite the chief executive of the city to address them, silently rebuking Mayor Smith for his attitude in the various labor disputes. None of the city commissioners have been requested to address the union members.

To Award Prizes. Every local in greater Omaha is to be represented and prizes are to be awarded to the two best appearing units in the parade.

Chartered cars will carry the workers to Krug park at 2 in the afternoon.

Expert butchers will here give an example of their art. Several cows will be slaughtered, skinned and their carcasses cut up ready for sale. Several prizes are to be awarded to those butchers most efficient in their work.

The usual athletic events are also on the program. Among them are races for fat men and fat women. Various freak races are also included in the program.

INCREASE SHOWN IN COST OF FLOUR IN LAST 2 WEEKS

Raise Price From $3.15-$3.25 to $3.50-$3.65 for a Sack of Forty-eight Pounds.

Two weeks ago, in Omaha, the best grades of patent flour were being retailed at $3.15@3.25 a sack of 48 pounds. Today the same grades are being sold at $3.50@3.65. Wheat on the Omaha market is selling at the same price as two weeks ago.

J. A. Campbell, secretary of the Nebraska Millers' association asserts that during the last two weeks there has been no advance in the wholesale price of flour. The best patents now sell and have been selling at $11 a barrel, a barrel being equal to four 48-pound sacks. This price is and has been on car lots. In smaller quantities the millers are selling to the trade at $2.85@2.90 a sack. At the grocery stores this same flour is sold to the trade at $3.50@3.65, a profit of 65@75 cents a sack for simply handling.

It is said retailers who handle flour usually turn their money every 30 days and many of them every 10 days. They buy on the 30-day plan and many of them sell strictly for cash.

Millers have the consent of the grain corporation to manufacture and sell what to the trade is known as "straight" flour. This is flour that comes from the mills without the application of the patent process having been applied in its manufacture. It is sold at $10 a barrel of 196 pounds, but the difference in cost between it and the patents is so slight that only little of it finds a market in Omaha. In some of the interior towns it is said to be in good demand.

The "straight" flour, according to Secretary Campbell of the Nebraska Millers' association, was originally intended for army use. With the close of the war, large quantities of this flour remained on hand in the mills and it is now being offered to the trade.

PACKERS BLAME RETAILERS FOR HIGH MEAT COST

Cameron's Price List Prompts Reply From Armour Official.

"Button, button, who's got the button," is a game being played by the retail meat men and the packers who supply these dealers.

J. J. Cameron, secretary of the local association of grocers and butchers, a few days ago issued a statement in which prices of grocery and meat staples were shown. He indicated that the average grocer and meat dealer is working on a small margin, and that neither is a party to high prices, but that the fault lies with the wholesalers.

Mr. Cameron's statement of prevailing retail prices aroused the interest of R. C. Howe, general manager of Armour & Co.'s plant, South Side.

"Grass fed steers have been selling in the carcass at 15 to 17 cents per pound; cow carcasses, 10 1/2 to 12 1/2 cents, and the average sales price last week on native steer carcasses was about 20 1/4 cents per pound," explained Mr. Howe.

Mr. Howe figured that the retailers are not being paying on an average 21 cents per pound for all beef cuts and they are selling these cuts at an average price of about 36 cents per pound, according to the "fair" price list issued by Mr. Cameron.

Mr. Howe further explained that there is a small demand for No. 1 steer loins at 38 to 40 cents per pound in the carcass. Most of the meat sold to the retailers is "grass fed."

Mr. Howe furnished the following list of current wholesale prices charged Omaha retail meat dealers, the first item referring to corned beef and the others to grass fed:

No. 1 steer loins	27 1/2 @ 44c
Cow loins	17 @ 32c
Steer ribs	25 @ 34c
Cow ribs	15 @ 18c
Steer chuck	18 @ 17c
Cow chuck	19 @ 14c
Steer rounds	25 @ 26c
Cow rounds	17 @ 20c

officer, has appointed a committee consisting of Charles L. Gyges, W. W. Plummer and J. W. Schoop to look after the sale of government subsistence supplies to government employees in and around Omaha. All government employees who want to purchase supplies must make their applications at the army building.

"LONG AS I LIVE I WILL PRAISE IT," SHE DECLARES

Mrs. Peby Overcomes Nine Years' Trouble After Taking Tanlac.

"Although I was under the best of treatment and tried many different kinds of medicine during the past nine years, I never got any relief until I commenced taking Tanlac," said Mrs. Nora Peby, who lives at 1736 Bellview Ave., Kansas City, Mo., the other day.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and nervous indigestion," continued Mrs. Peby, "and when I commenced taking Tanlac I was so worn out and run-down that I was hardly able to get about. After eating, gas would form and press up around my heart so bad that I could hardly get a good breath. I finally got to where I was hardly ever able to retain what I ate, and would often have very severe spells of headache. I also suffered from pains in the small of my back nearly all the time, and was so nervous that I never got a good night's sleep. I just kept getting weaker and in worse condition all the time until I had to give up and take to my bed."

"One day I noticed a statement in the paper from a person who had been suffering just like I did, and had been greatly relieved by taking Tanlac. I thought that if it helped him it ought to do me some good, so I commenced taking it right away. In a very short time I began to improve and by the time I had finished my third bottle I was feeling like a different person altogether. In fact, my nine years of suffering and troubles have been completely overcome, and I feel better and stronger than I have in a long time. I can eat just anything I want now, things I wouldn't dare touch before I took Tanlac, and I never suffer any more. I am not nervous like I was, and sleep just fine every night. Tanlac is the best medicine I have ever seen, and as long as I live I will praise it for the good it has done me."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha at all Sherman & McConnell Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy. Also Forest and Meany Drug Company in South Omaha and the leading druggist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.—Adv.
