Omahans See History Making Flight Around Pike's Peak.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 15.—Thousands of summer visitors to the Pike's Peak region witnessed a history making feat this week when Alex Lendrum, a Colorado Springs boy, flew over and around Pike's peak at an altitude of 15,400 feet in a Curtiss biplane.

Omahans who are visiting in Colorado are: Harkness Kountze, J. A. Lane, J. G. Masters, J. W. Hughes, W. D. Lloyd, D. J. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fadden.

Surprise Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Linderholm announce the marriage of their daughter, Edna, to Mr. C. E. Bloomberg, which took place May 28 in Clinton, Ia. The announcement comes as a complete surprise as the young couple have kept the marriage a secret until a short time ago.

This was a romance of school days, for the bride, who is an accomplished musician, was a student at the conservatory of Augustana college at Rock Island, where she met Mr. Bloomberg, who was then a member of the S. A. T. C. of the school. He is a graduate of the college and had returned for military training.

Pre-Nuptial Affair.

A surprise shower was given in honor of Miss Leata Clark Wednesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark. Miss Clark's marriage to Mr. Le Roy Armstrong of Sargent, Neb., will take place in the near future and she received a number of lovely gifts. The guests included:

- Madames—Charles Thorry, Lee Marshall, Claude Clark, E. Patrick, Carl Henwood, Rudolph Jensen, L. Hoyer, Misses—Ella Howell, Alice Aron, Emma Conklin, Violet Humen, Clara Kinney, Loretta Kinney, Bernella Timm, Nora McCarthy, Edith Anderson.

Marsh-Pettengill.

An out-of-town wedding of interest was that of Miss Emmeline Pettengill and George A. Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Judson Marsh, which took place Monday at the summer home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Pettengill in Minnesota.

The announcement does not come as a surprise as the young couple were engaged before Mr. Marsh enlisted in the army. He was stationed at Fort Omaha and received his discharge in January.

Children's Party.

Janice Palm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Palm, entertained a number of her little friends at an outdoor party at Lake Manawa Thursday. The occasion was the 6th birthday of the little hostess and the small guests enjoyed launch rides and a picnic lunch.

Seymour Lake

Sorority affairs are already beginning to take their place upon the social calendar. The Achoth sorority of Lincoln has planned two affairs to be given Saturday at the Seymour Lake club. The Misses Hazel Sneathen of Humboldt, Lois Ream of Broken Bay, Myrtle Phillips of Wabhill, and Hilda Steiger of Sutton, who are the guests of Miss Marjorie Parsons, will be the honorees at the luncheon given Saturday, by the alumnae. A large "rush" party will be given by the members at the dance at the Seymour Lake club Saturday evening.

Mrs. Thomas F. Hamilton of Milwaukee has the distinction of being the first woman to be admitted to membership in the Wisconsin Aero club.

Field Club

Miss Minnie Bauman entertained at a small luncheon party at the Field club Friday. Mrs. J. N. Manuel of Fort Worth, Tex., who is her guest, was the honoree. Garden flowers in baskets tied with tulle formed the only decoration for the table. Covers were laid for 10 guests.

Happy Hollow

J. T. Pickard will entertain 14 guests at the Saturday evening dinner-dance at the Happy Hollow club.

Carter Lake

Parties of six were entertained at the Carter Lake club Thursday evening, by Mrs. Roy Moore and A. Jackson. Albert Edholm entertained a foursome.

Healthy Robust Women Will Find American Fashions for Fall Extremely Hard to Follow Correctly

By ADELAIDE KENNERLY.

PERMIT us, kind friends and patient readers, to give you some very fascinating facts about fall fashions. In order to do this, we must dissect Milady and her clothes, but war has taught us to be brave. Therefore, this operation will find us firm and courageous. If we wild women are true to the forecast, figure, physique and physiognomy all will be changed. Dictators tell us that each change of fashion is influenced by this or that—sometimes a king's coronation or an influx of immigrants or the overabundance of earth worms. But this year the figure is to take on the sink-in-at-the-waist-with-awful-cramps angle. The chest is drawn in to resemble a tuberculosis victim in the last stages and the expression of the fact is either blank or I-could-spit-tacks kind. The head must precede the body by several inches if one is correct. Colors—oh, yes, colors! They are to be under the influence of prohibition (didn't I tell you about influences), hence our "Bryan cocktail," lemonade, gump, raspberry ice, chocolate malted milk, and a dozen other timely shades. Cyclones throughout the country have given the fashion designers an idea. Our skirts must be swoopedlike will give Farnam street and ball rooms a whirlwind appearance. Hats will be large in the early fall and completely hide the eyes. Wide, swooping feathers, combined with freak notions, are handed to us in the latest style sheets from our eastern headquarters.

But—we must remind you that these are American fashions—fashions that completely tie up the feet in long, narrow tube skirts. The French forecast is very short skirts, lovely, soft-looking hats and a straight up-and-down figure. You may be a la American and turn your figure into a combination of mermaid, sea lion, tuberculosis with-the-wind around us, tight, oh, very tight, at the bottom. The walk which is to accompany this figure (produced by tuberculosis and cramps) is ultra-slouchy. In fact, Milady must not appear for an instant, as though she has two good strong legs. These vulgar extremities are taboo among polite people. The feet are to be kept very close together so that when moving on them one will not walk but hump along much after the fashion of a mermaid or a trained seal. One-piece dresses, whether evening gowns or street frock, remind us of a cyclone when worn by the hefties, but, of course, the more sylphand mistreated—but these are the signs of youth. When your parents have carefully guided you through a certain danger zone—the line between childhood and young ladyhood—then you will be happy, O, a thousand times, that they took good care of you. Parents love you, don't forget that, and many of their seemingly harsh rules are made to protect you.

Between Two Loves. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am coming to you for advice and shall depend greatly upon your answer. Three years ago I met and kept company with a man who I learned to love, and if ever any one loved I certainly did and do yet. But, owing to some things that were told on him, my parents forbid me to see him. That has been three years ago and still I can think of nothing but him. I have gone about with a young man for some time trying to forget the one I love, and a short time ago he declared his love for me, but I told him plainly why I could not love him, and he has since written to me asking me to write to him and take back what I said. Shall I do it? He is a good man and I'm sure would make any woman a good home. Would it be all right to marry him while all my heart and life belong to another man? I have given up all hope of ever seeing the other man again, as he lives in another town, although my friends tell me it is because of me he has never married.

Please answer in Monday or Tuesday's Bee, as I am traveling and can only get those papers. HEARTBROKEN.

Never marry one man while loving another. However, I am fearful victim, or you may dress a la France and be almost human in your movements, figure and attire. We are patriotic. We are true Americans. But merciful fashion designers! Think of the terrible punishment to be a la American next season.

Heartbeats

By A. K.

"How would I choose A Wife?" said he. Then he winked And he blinked And he managed to say: "The old-fashioned girl For me every time." His eyes grew soft And dreamy. Her hair must be Sunburnt or bronze You know And her eyes A violet blue. Her skin must be white And soft as down With a deep pink flush To her rounded cheeks. Two cherry lips To smile sweetly at me Showing two rows Of pearly white Perfect teeth Her form must be Supple and plump enough To match her Buoyant walk.

A girl overheard And she busied herself In the art Of camouflage With lemons and tints Till her hair became Sunburnt And beautiful bronze — Though her eyes were not blue They were brown. Her skin she bleached And gently massaged And her powder Was soft as down Her cheeks she tinted And her rosy lips Were made crimson With a good lip-stick To better offset Of loveless teeth. Her form was too plump But she soon reduced And acquired A buoyant walk.

The man beheld One later day This vision Of loveliness. He opened his arms To the girl of his dreams To this Honest Old-fashioned girl. SELAH!

Police Dogs Latest Fad

Belge is the first European-born dog to accompany an American Y. W. C. A. secretary to her home in the United States. American army officers started the fad of bringing French or German police dogs back with them. Belge is a Belgian police dog who was presented to Miss Marion Allchin of Lynn, Mass., by an officer of the army of occupation. Miss Allchin was assigned to the hostess home in Coblenz when she first made the acquaintance of Belge, a handsome black and white puppy with a long pedigree which won him a high place in the dog show held in Coblenz. He is four months old.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Love Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Everyone Read. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: You couldn't be lovelorn or unhappy if you wanted to ever so badly, could you? You have so many letters that are ridiculous and so "funny" that you surely never have time to be morbid. I am not one of those exceedingly popular girls that all the boys are "crazy over," but I am just an "unpainted" and "unpowdered" farm girl.

Your boy cannot fall with a mother like you back of him. We sincerely hope some one will answer your letter, and if so, you will hear from us. Do not be discouraged if you don't have a reply at once, because we are confident your boy can earn his room and board while going through school, whether he is able to make arrangements in advance or not. I advise you to write to the registrar at Wesleyan university, University Place, Neb., telling him what you have told me.

Abused Little Girls. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: We are two young girls of 14 and 15 years of age and come to you for your advice. We are constant readers of The Bee and greatly enjoy it. One night of this week we and two other girls of 15 went auto riding with three of our boy friends and arrived home between 10 and 11. Our parents disliked this, as we did not let them know we were with these boys. Our parents kept us on our own grounds for two days, causing Miss Nifty (14) to miss a very much planned on show. Miss Fairfax, do you think this was right? Is my writing good? I wrote this for both of us. Awaiting your answer with great impatience, we are, NIFTY AND THRIFTY.

Your parents were entirely right. You girls are too young to be out riding with boys. I know exactly how you feel—that you are abused and encouraged them to bring their friends home. That is the pure, wholesome way for young folks to enjoy themselves.

Wants to Go to College. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: As so many get help from you, I thought I might also. Miss Fairfax, I have a son who wants to be a minister. He just graduated from high school. I am not able to send him through college and it will be hard, as he does not know a person in Lincoln. I would like to have some nice folks offer him a room and board, or room in one place and board in another, where he could work after school to earn his room and board. There are places like this, and he is real handy and easy to learn. Is handy with a car, has clerked in grocery store and could learn to do most anything in a short time. He has no bad habits and could give the best of references as to being honest and trustworthy. Of course the work must not interfere with his studies. Also would have to use bath tub where he roomed. I wonder if some good church member could find a place. Please try as soon as possible and send information to Miss Fairfax. I would give address, but it is better for his class not to know. He is liked by most every one. Please excuse grammar, as I have none. I have had no
