O, how the passions, insolent and strong,
Bear our weak minds their rapid course along;
Make us the victims of their will:
Then die, and leave us to our griefs a prey!
—Cradbe

Let us then be up and doing,
With a heart for any enterprise,
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait.

War Camp

Mrs. Noel Wallace has just been selected by War Camp Community Service as hostess of the Girls' Community House to fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of Mrs. Mary V. Montague to Sacramento, Cal. Mrs. Wallace has rendered splendid service as a volunteer worker during the last 10 months as advisor of the Cluga club. Besides conducting a home-making course and club suppers, she has led community singing and supervised games at the parties given for soldiers. She has a charming personality and is admirably fitted to do this sort of work, as she has had considerable experience and has the necessary qualities for leadership. She will take charge of the work at once.

The men composing the big army ordnance recruiting train arrived in the city Thursday afternoon. The War Camp Community Service entertained the men while in the city at a dance given for them at the Army and Navy club Thursday evening and another at the Girls' Community House Saturday evening. They were given a rousing reception on both occasions.

Misses Jones and Antin conducted two very successful sings during the week. They were held during the noon hour at the firms of M. E. Smith company and Byrne & Hammer Dry Goods company.

The Cluga club had a picnic at Miller park Tuesday evening. After the supper they adjourned to Fort Omaha, where the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Membership cards and personal letters were sent out this week to all members of the girls' clubs. Beginning next week, all ladies will be admitted to the soldiers' parties by card. Those wishing to attend these parties should either make application to the club president for membership or to the supervisor of girls' work, Mrs. Rene Stevens, 434 Securities building.

If the weather is favorable the dance at Fort Omaha next Tuesday evening will be held on the new cement tennis courts. Colonel Wuest has extended this courtesy to the young people and will see that the grounds are properly lighted with electric lamps and Japanese lanterns. The young people are anticipating a very pleasant evening.

Miss Loraine Coll has been secured as instructor in dancing for the Army and Navy club. Soldiers wishing to learn are given this opportunity every Monday evening. There is no charge for the instruction.

The Wamm club was entertained at the summer home of Mrs. Mark Levings, 3722 Pacific avenue, Monday evening, August 11. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Alexander Is a Good Pal and She Likes Him But Miss Kelly of Chicago Will Not Marry

The First American Girl Who Has Ever Been Asked to Become a Queen Refuses Gracefully, Although She Likes the King.

Has an American girl gone wrong at last? Or has she gone right in the matter of marrying a title? Or are kings and things losing their attraction for American heiresses since thrones are tottering and shaky?

At any rate, word reached this side of the Atlantic that fascinating Josephine Marie Kelly, daughter of C. T. Kelly of Chicago, has refused Alexander I, King of Greece. Whether she suspects that his little kingdom might slip away over night as so many have done recently, or whether she is just an honest, fearless American girl who is unafraid to express her opinions—well, time will tell.

sailors and marines, given by the Victory and Wamm clubs.
Friday, August 22—Meeting of the Woolco club at the Girls' Community House; club supper and social evening; dance at Fort Crook given by the Joan of Arc club for soldiers, sailors and marines.
Saturday, August 23—Dance at Girls' Community House for soldiers, sailors and marines given by the Columbia club.

The young monarch's attentions to the American girl are so pronounced that rumor of their betrothal reached this country—only to be repudiated by Miss Kelly's flat denial.

In a letter to her uncle in New York, which has been made public, the pretty Red Cross worker declared: "The king has told me he finds pleasure in my society because I am a typical American girl who can talk on any subject from the war to making Athens a hygienic metropolis."

She admits that she is very fond of the Greek ruler, but insists that the romance is not likely to go further. Her very use of the word "romance" is tacit admission that her acquaintance with the young king involves heart interest.

In the face of the premium set on titles before the great war had leveled some of the proudest houses of the old world, Miss Kelly's refusal to entertain any suggestions that her royal suitor might win her heart is almost incredible and certainly novel in the extreme.

Heiresses have angled in vain for lesser titles and many a proud dame has worn her ambition on her sleeve in the hope of attracting the world must find their keenest heartaches in the moments when national problems pass them by and go for their solving to the newly appointed of fortune.

If Miss Kelly decides to wed the Greek king she will be one of the few American girls to acquire a title within the period of the war. Titles had other things to do than seek American alliances during the strenuous years from 1914 to 1919.

We would remind Miss Kelly of Chicago, notwithstanding the fact that no American has ever "copped" a king in her matrimonial clutches, that we admire her courage and especially her individuality.

Party at Manawa. A delightful affair will be given by Dr. and Mrs. G. Alexander Young and Dr. and Mrs. O. W. Pollard at Lake Manawa Tuesday, when the members of the senior class of the University of Nebraska college of medicine will be their guests.

Picnic at Manawa. A picnic at Lake Manawa was given by Baker Brothers Engraving company for their employees Saturday afternoon and evening. The day was spent in amusements and a dinner was served near the lake in the evening. Eight guests were present.

Informal Dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gibson will entertain at dinner at their home Sunday, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nelson of Sioux City. Mrs. Nelson has just returned from a three months' southern trip.

Constitution Committee. Mrs. R. E. McKelvie and Mrs. John W. Welsh have been appointed members of the constitution committee of the Second district of the Nebraska Federation of Woman's Clubs. Mrs. William Berry is president.

Fashion Show. Invitations are out for the Fall Fashion show and aquatic carnival to be given at Krug park by the Union Outfitting company next Thursday evening, August 21. Those desiring invitations and not having received them, can secure same by calling at the store.

Early in Miss Kelly's sojourn in Athens she was received by the king in formal audience, but her association with him was not permitted to end with the throne-room. They met at various society affairs, and soon they were observed driving in the young ruler's motor car.

Recently a fancy dress ball was given at the home of the minister of foreign affairs, M. Politis. Preceding the ball Alexander invited a number of the guests to dine at the royal palace. Miss Kelly was one of the number and received much admiration and attention from distinguished Grecian officialdom. She wore a crimson gown which set off her dark Celtic beauty admirably.

It was noted by the guests that their young host was deeply interested in the pretty American.

After that they attended many social functions together, and it was noticeable that when Miss Kelly was unable to attend the dinner dance given by Lord and Lady Granville, owing to some emergency Red Cross work, the king did not put in an appearance either.

Alexander is a very likeable young chap, distinctly handsome and much of the college boy type. He has a bright, sunny temperament, is very democratic, and devoted to sport. His disregard for Athenian speed limits for automobilists was the talk of the Greek metropolis before his accession to the throne.

But the young king is as fearless in politics as in sports, and though many incidents which have tested his mettle remain shrouded in the folds of diplomacy, sufficient have been disclosed to assure his subjects a fair and capable ruler.

What those same subjects would say to an American queen can only be surmised. But certainly the king expects popular acclamation of his wooing or else his courage renders him indifferent to public opinion, for his desire to see the crown of Greece on the lustrous black hair of Josephine Marie Kelly, recognizes no obstacle except the counter-will of the lady herself.

Rumor also fails to mention the attitude of ex-king Constantine toward his son's courtship. Or perhaps the former ruler does not know of it. The pathetic feature of the loss of power will always be the accompanying loss of consideration. Those who have ruled the great empires and the little countries of the world must find their keenest heartaches in the moments when national problems pass them by and go for their solving to the newly appointed of fortune.
