HOG PRICES GO DOWN $2.10 ON LOCAL MARKET

Slump Attributed to Agitation on High Cost of Living—Sheep Records Broken.

An attempted return to high prices on hogs Wednesday ended in a sharp decline to lower levels when the price fell $2.10 a 100 pounds. While under normal conditions such a break in the market would have caused a panic, little excitment was felt among the hogmen, who attribute the slump entirely to the high cost of living agitation.

Wednesday a return to the record prices asked for hogs about a month ago looked imminent, when a top $22.35 was made. Saturday the top was only $20.25.

Considering the high prices of hogs a drop of $1 now & equivalent to a 25-cent decline in "days that was," commission men say.

The biggest run of sheep ever received during a single week in August was recorded during the past week at the local yards. A total of 163,692 head were unloaded as compared to 132,458 head, last week's record.

A year ago during the same week only 94,149 head were received. Heavy runs during the last two weeks have set the increase over last year's figures for the same number of days much farther ahead. The difference is now 297,935 head as against 200,000 last week. Hogs receipts are 60,281 more than last year. Cattle continue to
