FARM AND RANCH LANDS. Coiorado Lands. COLORADO EXCURSION.

EXCURSION.

SEPTEMBER 2.

Join me on above date and make a thorough inspection of our lands in Lincoln. Chesenne and Klowa counties. Come and compare lands that I am offering with other lands that they are getting two and three times the price. I have several thousand acres fine level tractor wheat and corn land, heavy chocolate loam with clay subsoil at prices ranging from $17.50 upward, no sand, sikail, magnesia, rock or gravel and abundance of fine water; fine roads, handy to good railroad town. No hot winds and abundance of rain fall, not a single crop failure in 12 years. This locality took first prize on wheat corn and potatoes at Colordo state fair, 1918, and expect to again this year. Come join me, will prove all I say, round trip rate $11.86 from Omaha returning by way of Denver. For full particulars, write, wire or phone.

New York, Aug. 22.—Stocks made further improvement today over their successive declines of the carly days of the week, the raily carrying greater conviction because it was accomplished on a small turnover.

Traders seemed disposed to take a less pessimistic view of the labor situation and evidence of support manifested in the foreign exchange market served as another reassuring factor.

Much "literature" and gossip emanating from brokerage and commission houses was of less cautious tenor and no small part of the day's buying was credited to interests recently committed to the short side.

Bull pools were moderately active in such recent favorites as motors, oils and tobacco, where extreme gains of 2 to 8 points were made, equipments, leathers, textiles and sugars also strengthening variably.

Marked revival of interest in metals was noted, for which higher prices for September delivery were quoted, but also for other metals which enter extensively into the manufacture of various peace industrials.

into the manufacture of various peace industrials.

The only stocks to reflect pronounced weakness were industrial Alcohol, which fell 7 points on the proposed new capital issue, and Wilson company, which forseffeted much of yesterday's large advance.

Final prices eased on the 8 per cent call money rate, Sales amounted to 785,000 states.

RECORD REALTY WOLF COMPANY

Acquires Brandeis Theater and Building Under Long Term Lease On Net Rental Basis.

One of the largest individual real estate transactions ever made in Omaha was consummated vesterday betweeen George Brandeis and John L. Kennedy, representing the Brandeis Investment company, and Harry A. Wolf, representing the H A. Wolf company.

The Wolf company takes the Brandeis Theater building, including the theater, under a long time lease on a net rental basis, carrying with it purchase privileges.

Control Entire Block.

With the acquisition of the Brandeis Theater building the Wolf company, which lately purchased all the common stock in the Saunders-Kennedy building, now has control of the entire block between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, on Douglas street, and will be in charge of the largest office building in Omaha, covering four city lots, eight stories high.

The Wolf company will move into the building and will have the entire building under its supervision.

Among other holdings of the H.

A. Wolf company in the business center of the city are: The Conant Hotel building, Nash building on Harney street, now occupied by the Central Market; the Merchants hotel, Electric building, Carlton hotel, Shukert building on Sixteenth street, the Midland hotel, and a number of smaller buildings on Farnam, Harney and Douglas streets, west of Eighteenth street.

Brandeis Makes Statement. Following the announcement that the Brandeis theater building had been leased to the Wolf company. Mr. Brandeis made the following statement: "I desire to devote my entire time to the mercantile business in which

I am now engaged. I felt that I could not engage in the real estate business and do justice to the store. "The business is growing so rapidly that we are taking over the fourth floor at the present time. As soon as the other floors are vacated by the present tenants it is our purpose to also utilize the additional space. New features and new departments are being planned after the remodelling of the Brandeis store building is completed."
