

OMAHANS TURN OUT TO HEAR BAND OF BLUEJACKETS

Thousands Watch Flight of Baby Plane and Listen to Sailor Band on Court House Lawn.

With a burst of martial music, by 24 members of Sousa's famous naval band, the Omaha Navy day came to a close last night. Thousands of Omahans assembled on the court house lawn to be entertained by the famous band. The showing of the naval film, "The Life of a Gob," was prevented through the failure of the city electrical department to furnish the necessary power to run the apparatus. According to naval officials, the city had promised to have the power intact by 8 o'clock.

Band Plays Selections

Prior to the display of the pictures, the band, which arrived here on the special recruiting train, played several selections and was well received by those who had come to hear it.

Lieut. Daniel W. Sooy, medical corps, U. S. N., veteran of the late war, spoke while the pictures were being shown. Dr. Sooy, who served on the destroyer Fairfax during the entire period of the war, has been in several engagements and has had many narrow escapes. He was a civilian practitioner prior to the war.

Among the features of the Navy recruiting train is an aero "flier," said to be the smallest airplane ever built that will actually fly. This tiny sky craft weighs only 350 pounds and has a wingspread of only 16 1/2 feet. Owing to lack of adequate starting and landing space and the length of time necessary for lining the machine up for flight it was found impossible to take the baby plane into the air yesterday. It was, however, exhibited in the downtown district, taxiing through the streets under its own power, which is furnished by a two-cylinder motor.

The aviation exhibit of the recruiting train is in charge of Lt. F. F. De Clark, naval aviator, formerly adjutant of the aviation regiment at the Great Lakes naval training station.

Another unique feature of the recruiting train is a daily newspaper, "The Navy Recruiter," which is published in each town visited. Sailor Cartoonist Amuses Crowds. Ed F. Christman, sailor cartoonist, occupied a downtown window throughout the afternoon and amused thousands with his laughable chalk sketches of passersby. Christman did a chalk talk in vaudeville before enlisting in the navy. The navy band on its tour of the downtown streets serenaded the Bee.

Mary J. Dressler Appeals Decision to Supreme Court

Mary J. Dressler, widow of Samuel H. Dressler, drowned July 2, 1916, has filed notice of appeal to the supreme court from the decision in district court of her suit against the Commonwealth Life Insurance Co. to recover on a $1,000 life insurance policy held by her husband at the time of his death. The life insurance company refused to pay the policy on the ground that it was not operative at the time of Mr. Dressler's death. The district court decided in favor of the Commonwealth company. Mrs. Dressler also seeks to collect $250 in court costs.

Rohrboughs Are On Coast To Meet Their Soldier-Son

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rohrbough, who are on the coast, expect to meet their son, Sergt. Byron Rohrbough, Q. M. C., in a few days at Seattle, upon his return from one and a half years' service overseas. After obtaining his discharge, Sergeant Rohrbough secured transportation immediately by way of the Canadian Pacific, for the coast, stopping at points of interest along the way, for a few weeks' vacation. In the fall he expects to return to the Nebraska State university to complete his senior year in the law department.

South Side Man in Quest of Wife Defies H. C. of L.

T. H. Weirich, superintendent of the Board of Public Welfare, city hall, today received an application from a South Side man who is in quest of a wife. This bachelor, for whom the high cost of living holds no terrors, is 35 years old, has $1,200 in bank, and is a packing house employe. He offers his hand and heart, and will share his worldly goods, if Mr. Weirich will find a mate for him. Letters sent to Mr. Weirich will be treated as confidential.

Mogy Bernstein Left Estate of $4,000 to His Widow

Mogy Bernstein's will, which was filed for probate Thursday afternoon, names his wife, Blanche Bernstein, as executrix, and leaves all of his real and personal property to her. His estate is valued at $4,000. The will was filed by Wayne Sawtell, attorney for Mrs. Bernstein. Mogy, in his will, directs that all his just debts be paid and the rest be given his widow, Helen M. and Thomas H. Matters signed the will as witnesses.

Husband Forbidden by Court Order to Enter Wife's Home

Abe Sampson, returned soldier, is restrained from entering the premises occupied by his wife, Edna, at 1804 North Sixteenth street, by an order issued by Judge Leslie in district court. Mrs. Sampson is seeking a divorce, alleging extreme cruelty and non-support since the time of their marriage in Council Bluffs, November 29, 1913. Hearing of the case is set for Thursday, August 28.

"Heartbeats" and Woman Who Writes Them for You

Adelaide Kennerly

Popular Feature of Bee's Woman's Department Will Be Syndicated

Two months ago a woman from Florida was on a train en route from San Francisco to Duluth. She was reading an Omaha Bee. "Heartbeats" by A. K., in the woman's section attracted her attention. She liked what she read—in fact, liked it so well she sent it to her husband in New York. It happened her husband had a friend there who was connected with a big newspaper feature syndicate.

He too, liked "Heartbeats," and he showed the one his wife had sent him to his friend. His friend also thought "Heartbeats" were good. But to make a long story short, that little "Heartbeat," found in the far west, taken to the far north and then sent to the far east by a woman from the far south, found a home for all "Heartbeats" with the New Era Syndicate, New York City. Hereafter every "Heartbeat" you read in The Bee will also be printed in other papers over the United States, Adelaide Kennerly, head of The Bee's Woman's Department and "A. K.," having just completed arrangements for syndicating this popular feature.

The little "Heartbeat" that made the long journey over the country in order to land its author universal recognition follows: Raindrops from Heaven! Are the angels Weeping For our sin-filled world? How we welcomed Little raindrops Dancing on the pavement—Hiding in the grass—Washing baby pansy faces—Giving the green trees A bath. But the sky Continued weeping—A bad omen! Lightning flashed. And ripped wide open Great dark clouds Like Allah's wrath. Down the rain came In wild torrents Thursday's deafening Crashes screamed—Then rumbled On to meet the next Mad stabbing streak. "Turn the faucet off In Heaven!" Someone gloomily remarked "It's the weather worn Or something? Is heaven's plumber On a strike? Turn the tears off Stop this sobbing We've engagements For tonight! But despite the Jest and joking Clouds were ripped And torn to bits—Until the world Was drenched and dripping—We were begging The downpour To cease. Mercy! We prayed in supplication. Good Allah heard Our call Then he gave two days of Sun's the weather worn. But the nights Brought on more rain.

Out of evil Good must come And after dark There must be sun. All this weeping Of the heavens Finally made us See the light And we realized That sleeping Is the thing to do At night.

Nebraska Democrat Sold; To Go On as Non-Party Foe

Richard L. Metcalfe has disposed of his interests in the Nebraska Democrat to Horace L. Davis and John W. Cutright, who will continue the publication under the name of the New Democrat. The paper will be devoted to the spread of ideas in opposition to the Nonpartisan League. Both Messrs. Davis and Cutright are newspapermen of long experience in Nebraska.

Bad Sickness Caused by Acid-Stomach

If people only realized the health-destroying power of an acid stomach—of the many kinds of sickness and misery it causes—of the lives it literally wrecks—they would guard against it as carefully as they do against a deadly plague. You know in an instant the first symptoms of acid-stomach—pains of indigestion; distressing, painful bloating; sour, gassy stomach; belching; food repeating; heartburn, etc. Whenever your stomach feels this way you should use no time in putting it right. It should be sure to follow, such as intestinal fermentation, auto-intoxication, impairment of the entire nervous system, headache, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, sometimes even cancer of the stomach and intestinal ulcers and cancer. If you are not feeling right, see if it isn't acid-stomach that is the cause of your ill health. Take EATONIC, the wonderful modern stomach remedy. EATONIC Tablets quickly and surely relieve the pain, bloating, belching, and heartburn that indicate acid-stomach. Make the stomach strong, clean and sweet.
