

AUSTRIANS TAKE STEPS TO GUARD RED DICTATOR

Bela Kun, Whom Allies Will Prosecute, Has Been Imprisoned to Insure Presence When Wanted.

Vienna, Aug. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Austrian government, because of the protests of the peasants, has removed Bela Kun, Dr. Landler and Herr Poehr, Hungarian communists, from the old mill in the Thaya valley, where they have been imprisoned, to a new prison, the whereabouts of which is not disclosed.

Five persons have been killed by Magyar troops in the frontier village of Wolfan, according to reports reaching here. A festival was in progress when the Magyars rode in and ordered a band to play the Hungarian national anthem. When the band refused the Magyars fired through the windows into a crowd in a dance hall.

Paul Garami, Hungarian social democratic leader, who has been here conferring with allied representatives, was summoned to Budapest yesterday to discuss probable representation of his party in the cabinet.

Chorus Girls Camp on Church Lawn; Praise Vicar's Hospitality

Huddersfield, Eng., Aug. 22.—The spectacle of chorus girls camping out in the grounds of the vicarage is interesting the people of Huddersfield.

The members of the party are three girls playing the "Cash on Delivery" farce now being produced at a local theater, and the husband of one of them is an ex-army captain, who is also playing in the piece.

The explanation is not merely a desire to live in the fresh air, but is concerned also with difficulty of obtaining rooms.

In Huddersfield the shortage of theatrical apartments, as of houses generally, is acute and rather than to crowd into lodgings already full they have chosen the novel means of obtaining temporary accommodation.

On being approached by the local theater proprietor, Alfred Wareing, Canon Tupper Cary, vicar of Huddersfield, willingly granted the use of the vicarage grounds.

The party occupy two tents, do all their own cooking, and rise at six a. m. "Reveille" being sounded by the ex-captain.

The ladies are delighted with their experiment, and say the Canon has done everything possible to make them comfortable.

The Aromatic Jag

Is With Us at Last

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—The aromatic jag has come. Instead of pop's old alcoholic breath he now comes home smelling like an Egyptian harem. For the hyacinth highball and Lily of the Valley cocktail have supplanted the prosaic whisky straight in Springfield. No more does father breeze in smelling like a Peoria distillery, with his nose painted a fiery red. Ah, no! Instead he is accompanied by the odor of an apple orchard in full bloom, with roses not only on his nose and cheeks, but on his breath as well. But you ask why all this preliminary. Listen! Springfield toppers learned toilet waters contained 40 per cent of the good old kick. Immediately a big sale began. Men bought up all the scented water they could obtain. They began ordering their drinks by odor instead of flavor; until the foxy eye of the law intervened and placed a ban on the sale of toilet waters. Despite the interference, however, much is still being sold in this city, the capital of the state.

Had Five-Year Supply Of Clothing—Arrested

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 22.—Miss Frances Foulk, a pretty Frackville girl, is being held under $300 bail, charged with swindling several Philadelphia business houses, Valentine Schoenberg, postal inspector of this city, upon investigation found that the girl, who is only 19 years old, had a five years' supply of clothing, shoes and feminine accessories laid away in her home, which, it is alleged, she secured by sending bogus checks to the Philadelphia houses. She will be tried at the October session of the United States district court at Philadelphia.

Portland Cleans Up Russian Section

Portland, Ore., Aug. 22.—The rainbow of bolshevism rule in Russia must have tipped its end in Portland, but no pot of gold was discovered. Instead, in the Russian section here police and health department officials found such a deplorable state of affairs that they ordered a clean-up.

Vandals Wreck Cafe

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 22.—Somebody entered the restaurant of David Reynaga here while Mrs. Barbara Gamache, in charge, left the establishment to go upstairs for a minute, and this is what they did in her absence.

Emptied a three-pound can of lard on top of the stove and let it burn. Poured a pot of gravy into a tub of dishes just washed. Shined phonograph records against the wall and broke them. Broke up a number of dishes and took an electric fan valued at $20 and then departed.
