

WILSON FEARS "RED" MENACE IN AMERICA

In Speech at Des Moines Says Only Way to Be Rid of Peril Is to Ratify Peace Treaty.

meeting of the labor conference under that part of the treaty should take part in Washington upon the invitation of the president of the United States. I am going to issue that invitation whether we can attend the conference or not.
"But think of the mortification. Think of standing by Washington itself and seeing the world take counsel upon the fundamental matter of civilization without us. The thing is inconceivable, but it is true. The world is waiting, waiting to see, not whether we will take part, but whether we will serve and lead. For it has expected us to lead.

"In Paris delegations from all over the world came to me to solicit the friendship of America. They frankly told us that they were not sure of anybody else that they could trust; but that they did absolutely trust us to do them justice and to see that justice was done them.
Attitude of World.
"That is the attitude of the world and reflect upon the reaction, the reaction of despair, that would come if America said, 'We do not want to lead you. You must do without our advice. You must shift without us.'
"How are we going to bring about a peace for which everything waits? I have been very much amazed and very much amused, if I could be amused in such critical circumstances, to see that the statesmanship of some gentlemen consists in the very interesting proposition that we do nothing at all. I had heard of standing pat before, but I never had before heard of standpatism going to the length of saying it is none of our business and we do not care what happens to the rest of the world.
"Some gentlemen are saying, 'yes, we made a great promise to mankind, but it will cost too much to redeem it. My fellow citizens, that is not the spirit of America, and you cannot have peace, you cannot have even your legitimate part in the business of the world, unless you are partners with the rest. If you are going to say to the world we will stand off and see what we can get out of this, the world will see to it that you do not get anything out of it. If it is your deliberate choice that instead of being friends you will be antagonists, then you will get just exactly what rivals and antagonists always get, just as little as can be grudgingly vouchsafed you.

Ready to Talk Business.
"Is there any business man here who would be willing to see the world go bankrupt and the business of the world stopped. I do not like to argue this thing on this basis, but if you want to talk business, I am ready to talk business. It is a matter of how much you are going to get from your money, you will not get half as much as antagonists as you will get as partners.
"So think that over, if you have none of that thing that is so lightly spoken of, known as altruism. And believe me, my fellow countrymen, the only people in the world who are going to reap the harvest of the future are the people who can entertain ideals, who can follow ideals to the death.
"So, my fellow-citizens, you have got to make up your minds, because after all it is you who are going to make up the minds of this country. I do not owe a report or the slightest responsibility to anybody but you. I mean you, and the millions besides you, thoughtful, responsible American men and women, all over this country. They are my bosses, and I am mighty glad to be their servant."

GAY BROADWAY'S GREAT WHITE WAY IN BLOOM AGAIN

Settlement of Actors' Strike Lets Dark Cloud That Has Hung Over Theaters.

New York, Sept. 6.—New York's "great White Way" blazed forth Saturday night after the partial eclipse caused by the 30-day war between the thespians and managers, which ended early Saturday. Many of the closed theaters were unable to arrange for a reopening Saturday night, but all announced that performances would be resumed early next week.
According to the claims of the various parties to the war, it ended in a victory for everybody. The Actors' Equity association and the Chorus Equity association were triumphant because they gained recognition; the managers pointed with pride to the fact that provision for an "open shop" was included in the treaty of peace and the Actors' Fidelity league, which supported the managers, proclaimed its satisfaction that it was also recognized.

MEATS FAIL TO EXCITE BUYERS AT CITY STORE

Storage of Surplus Stock During Wilson Address Monday Puzzles the Commissioners.

Mayor Smith's municipal store at the Auditorium did not experience much of a rush last night after the opening minutes.
At 9 o'clock there was a considerable supply of canned beef, canned corned beef and canned corn beef hash, and also packages of grits on hand. Some of the bacon also remained unsold.
It was a disappointment for those in charge and resulted in embarrassment for W. G. Ure, acting mayor, who attended the sale and who had to look after the storage of the unsold goods.
The Auditorium must be cleared today for the president's visit Monday and the removal of the unsold goods remains a problem for the city hall people. It was suggested that the goods should be taken to the mayor's office.
The tea, prunes and dried apples and peaches found a ready sale, but many looked twice at the bacon and canned meats.
The total of the sales amounted to $3,500, the smallest of any sale yet held by the city at the Auditorium.

"BEST IN THE LONG RUN"

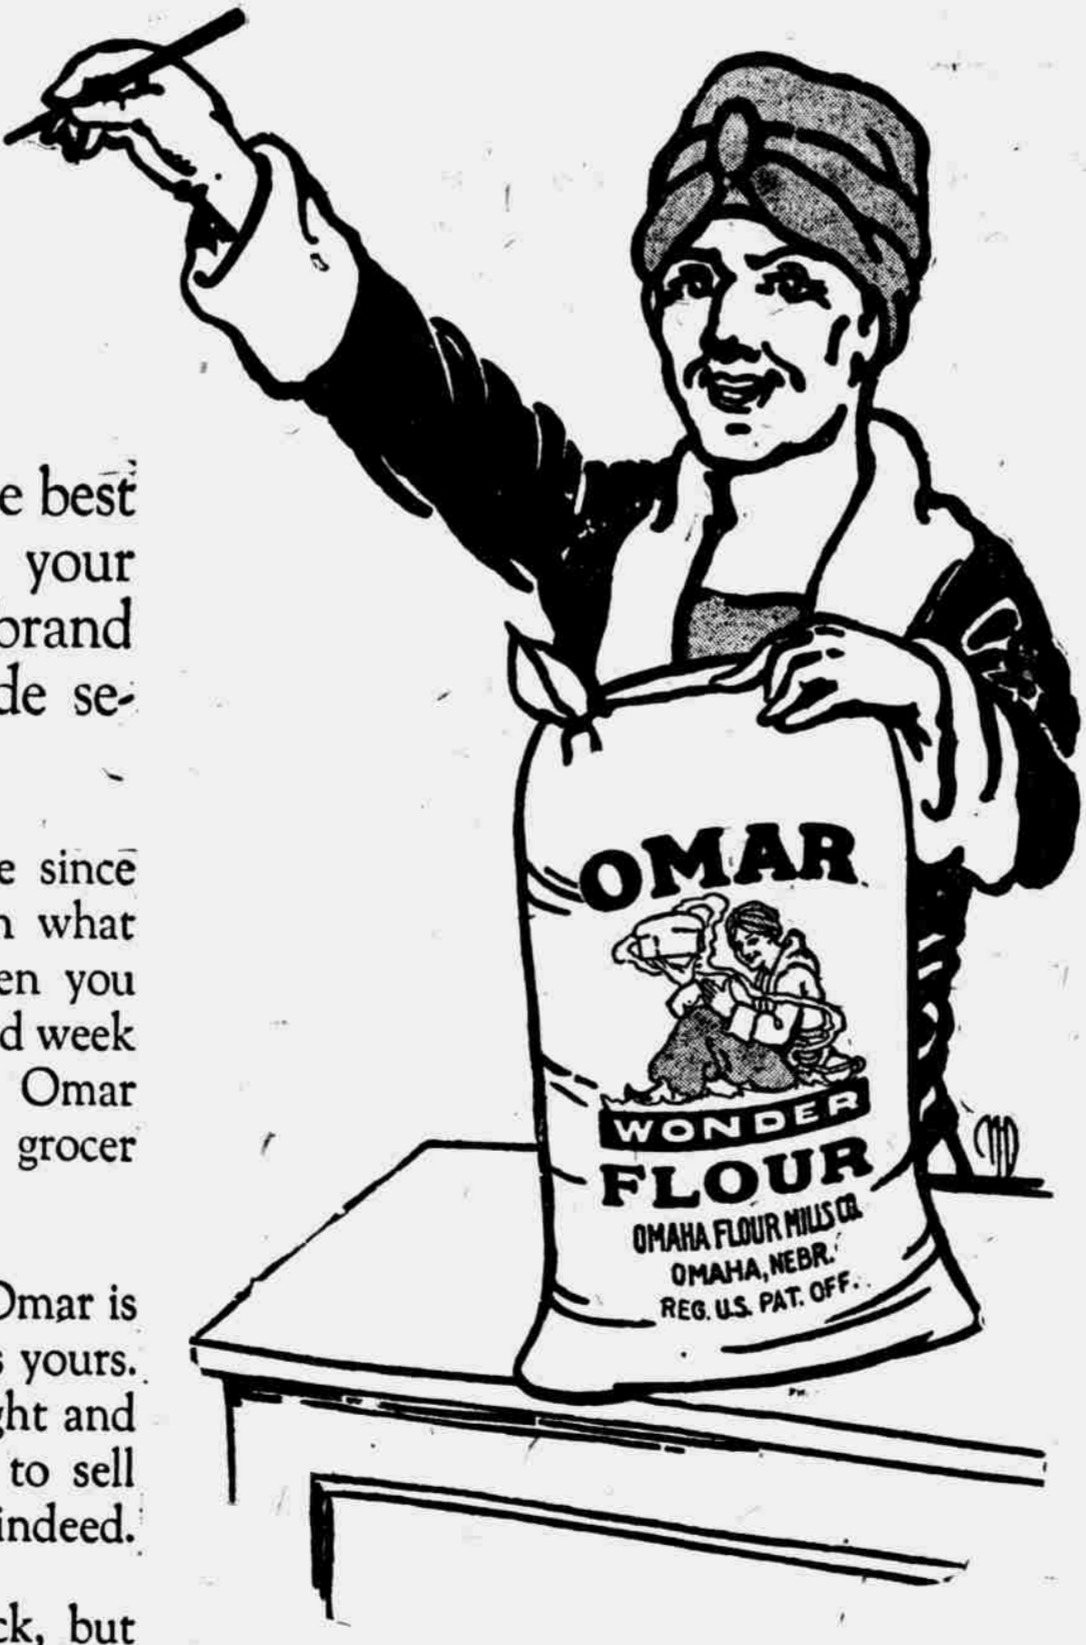

ANNOUNCEMENT

We beg to announce to our friends and customers that on account of the rapidly increasing business the entire Third Floor of the Finance Building at 1817 Douglas Street was leased and occupied September 6th, 1919.
American Live Stock Exchange Co.

In all good stores that sell flour

Omar

Your grocer knows that selling the best is the one sure way of holding your trade. A grocer can buy any brand of flour milled—so there is a wide selection for his test for the best

To sell you flour but once is not profitable since it proves that you were not pleased with what you bought. But on the other hand, when you buy flour from the same grocer week in and week out, as you will from the grocer who sells Omar flour—you become a booster for that grocer 52 weeks a year

All this means that the grocer who sells Omar is looking out for his own interests as well as yours. He knows that after you once have bought and baked Omar—the chance for any grocer to sell you any other flour will be mighty slim indeed.

Omar may cost a few cents more per sack, but it is the most economical flour to buy because it will bake about 5 more loaves to every 48 pound sack. We proved this in our laboratory baking tests with 40 other brands.

OMAHA FLOUR MILLS COMPANY, Omaha, Nebr.
2500 Barrels Daily Capacity

This guarantee with every sack:

"If Omar doesn't bake the best bread you ever baked, simply take the empty sack to your grocer and get your money."

OMAR WONDER FLOUR

"I'm a bum," George Douglas and John Barry, also a bum, entertained Gayety patrons with a rapid fire of laughs in their musical skit, "Matrimonial Tangles." While George and John were in the background the Bon-Ton Girls with a program of the latest musical hits added to the entertainment.
The scenic effects and costumes of the company are the most gorgeous seen in burlesque this season. Enclosed in the costumes are 20 of the most beautiful chorus girls collected in one organization. They sing and dance equally well and their ensemble numbers are marked by the gracefulness and rhythm of the ballet.
Douglas and Barry are assisted in their antics by Harry J. O'Neal who keeps the "pep" of the production "in high" all the time. Jack Strouse features in the musical numbers. Ed Simmons introduces some novelties in acrobatics.
Babe Burnett is a soubrette of extraordinary ability and her clever dancing in leading the chorus made her extremely popular. Jean DeLisle, the prima donna, has a sweet soprano voice and her numbers were well received. Lucile Rogers as Countess Primola added many a laugh to the show.
Jean DeLisle and Lew Barry introduce a Dutch song and dance near the "tag" of the show that repays the audience for the wait. Melodious voices and clever feet of these two young women will bring them back for several encores.
The "plot" is conspicuous by its absence but joy reigns supreme through the two acts of eight scenes.

Increased Business Forces Insurance Co. To Seek Larger Offices

American Live Stock Insurance company, the big hog insurance company recently organized, will move from the World-Herald building to its new location in the Finance building, suite 300-306, 1817 Douglas street. This move was necessary in order for the company to acquire adequate office space.
That the hog insurance which is written by this company is meeting with the general approval of farmers and hog raisers throughout the state is shown by the rapid increase in the amount of business written. Last week's business showed almost 200 per cent increase over any previous week. A splendid showing was made at the state fair with the firm's exhibit last week.
The company has in its employ 270 local agents and 40 special agents, a number of which have moved to Omaha with their families since making connections with this company.
The company has in its employ a number of ex-service men and are adding new men to sell hog insurance all the time.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Upon his retirement today from the civil service commission Charles M. Galloway issued a statement declaring that he and Herman W. Cravan, the republican member of the commission, were "ousted" because they "were not willing that the commission should be a mere adjunct to the Postoffice department and subservient to it, especially with reference to examinations for presidential postmasters."
