

WIDELY KNOWN OMAHA DOCTOR SUED FOR DIVORCE

Wife of Dr. B. A. McDermott Names Mrs. Minnie Storz Higgins as Co-respondent in Divorce Action.

Dr. Bernard A. McDermott, a prominent physician and surgeon, was sued for divorce in district court yesterday by his wife, Helena Sophie McDermott.

Mrs. McDermott names as co-respondent Mrs. Minnie Storz Higgins, a daughter of Gottlieb Storz, multi-millionaire president of the Storz Brewery & Ice Co., and former brewer. She alleges various meetings between her husband and Mrs. Higgins at Dr. McDermott's office in the First National Bank building and elsewhere.

The Higgins home is a handsome mansion at 401 South Thirty-ninth street.

Dr. McDermott, his wife and two children live at 3826 Webster street.

Charges Personal Violence.

Mrs. McDermott charges her husband also with using personal violence against her, threatening her life and the lives of the children and using abusive language.

She says he has a large amount of real estate and that he receives from $1,000 to $2,000 a month from his practice. She asks for an absolute divorce, the custody of the two children, a boy 9 years old and a girl 6 years old, and temporary and permanent alimony and maintenance money for the education and support of the children.

Dr. McDermott, when informed of the suit by a reporter for The Bee, was so surprised that he was unable to answer for several moments.

Says "Bolt From Sky."

"This is a bolt out of the sky," he said then. "I had no warning of it."

"Do you know Mrs. Higgins?" he was asked.

"Yes, I know her."

"What have you to say regarding your wife's charges concerning Mrs. Higgins?"

"There is absolutely nothing to it," he replied.

Byron G. Burbank, attorney for Mrs. McDermott, when asked concerning the naming of the co-respondent in the case, said:

"We are not accustomed to make charges that we cannot prove."

Dr. McDermott and his wife were married in Omaha in February, 1909.

"That's a fine plumbing job you did for me"

YOU don't have to remodel your entire house throughout when a new bathroom is installed. In fact, with an expert plumber and Thomas Macdock's Sanitary Fixture the work can be done with little or no muss or fuss.

And these beautiful fixtures of pure white vitreous china certainly make a big difference in the comfort and beauty of a home. Incidentally, a modern bathroom, for the new home or the old, adds "dollars and cents" value to any property, to say nothing of the health insurance.

YOUNG WOMAN IS VICTIM OF 6 MEN, SHE TELLS POLICE

Girl Says Three of Her Assaultants Posed as Detectives.

Olive Gibbs, 20 years old, Apartment 5, Drake court, told the police that she was criminally assaulted Monday night by six men.

She is being cared for in the matron's department at central police station.

Max Moss, 819 South Twenty-fifth street, arrested by Patrolman Lynch, is being held for investigation.

A second man giving his name as Leo Agnew, 835 South Twenty-second street, was arrested yesterday and identified by Miss Gibbs as one of the men who posed as a detective and threatened arrest if she made an outcry. Police are scouring the city for the other four men.

The young woman's story is that she went to a theater Monday night unaccompanied, and while at the show "lirted" with a strange man who made an impression upon her with his neat appearance and gentlemanly manners. After the performance he proposed a walk in the moonlight and she agreed. When they reached the old Detention home at Twentieth street and St. Mary's avenue, according to her story, the man proposed a rest on the steps.

She asserted that three other men came along and seemed to be acquainted with her companion. Further details of her story are that she was gagged and two of the men assaulted her. Then three more men arrived and claimed they were city detectives and threatened to take her to jail unless she acceded to their wishes. She said she screamed and attracted the attention of Patrolman Munch who caught Max Moss, the others getting away.

My Heart and My Husband ADELE GARRISON'S New Phase of "Revelations of a Wife"

What Does Mr. Prentiss's Visit Portend?

Bess Dean's characteristically nonsensical comment relieved the mental atmosphere of its tension. Each woman of the group of teachers gathered in the principal's office laughed relievedly, and Alice Holcombe seized the opportunity to observe practically:

"Well, we can't help matters by standing around here! We'd better go to our rooms and get ready to face the pupils."

"I'm going to face mine with a galling un," Bess Dean said ferociously. "Can't you imagine the three-ring circus that is going to be staged here today? 'Oh, Miss Dean did you hear?' 'Oh, Miss Dean, ain't it terrible?' They'll ring the changes on all the adjectives they know—that is until they're stopped. I think I'll stop 'em before they begin. I'm going upstairs now to write a notice which I'm going to fasten on the door of my room:

"Miss Stockbridge is dead. I know it. You know it. Anybody speaking of it stays an hour after school."

"Make us a copy, Bess." I heard the other teachers say laughingly as they left the room, and in another moment Alice Holcombe and I were left alone together.

Alice Holcombe's Fear

"The beast!" she said vehemently, and I knew that she meant Miss Wines. "How dared she! But you were wonderful, my dear, in the way you put her down."

"I'm afraid it won't be effective," I said, more troubled than I cared to admit.

"Oh, yes it will," she reassured me. "But one thing is certain. You mustn't be brought into this thing at all. I was awfully glad you didn't tell Miss Wines that Kenneth telephoned you yesterday, and if I were

PUT VALUATION OF SIX MILLION ON GAS PLANT

The Omaha Gas Co. yesterday placed a valuation of $6,000,000 on its Omaha plant. This figure was given out by William H. Taylor, general manager of the company, who was a witness before the court of condemnation, which resumed its work in the court house yesterday after several days' recess.

This figure does not include working capital, consisting of bills receivable, coal and coke on hand, etc., which would not amount to more than $250,000.

The figure given by the company is based on reproduction cost yesterday and also takes in other factors.

Half the Value Set.

The value of the entire plant as worked out by the city's experts is $3,351,000, only a little more than half the value set by the company.

The city reached its figures on the "normal theory" of valuation, that is by taking the cost of all the material in the plant at an average for a 10-year period and then subtracting a small sum for depreciation.

The city will not accept the gas company's "present reproduction cost" value on the part, Corporation Counsel Lambert said.

Prof. C. F. Crowley of Creighton university, city chemist, testified yesterday for a few moments.

If the city doesn't like the price it will simply decline to buy. If the gas company doesn't like the price it will carry the case to the higher courts.

Says His Young Wife Went to Hotel With Other Man

Lee Prunty, 50 years old, told on the witness stand yesterday in District Judge Sears' court of following his wife, Mabel Prunty, 23 years old, with a detective and finding her in a room at the Midland hotel with a man.

The Pruntys are divorced and Mr. Prunty is seeking to get possession of their 3-year-old daughter. The little girl played around the court room while the father and detective gave their testimony of what they alleged they had seen.
