

PERSHING'S OWN GREETED WITH WILD PLAUDITS

2,000,000 Proud Countrymen Do Honor to Flower of American Soldiers in New York Parade.

New York, Sept. 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—Over a five-mile flower-strewn pathway General Pershing led his famous First Division down Fifth avenue today to the wild plaudits of 2,000,000 proud countrymen. It was the last grand review of the world war for New York and it was a fitting climax to a long series of military spectacles. The commander of America's armies shared honors with the battle-scarred veterans who won undying fame on the fields of France. For all of them it was one of life's most memorable days. As he rode down the avenue, the stern lines of the leader's face relaxed in the now famous Pershing smile and when he dismounted in Washington Square at the end of the march surrounded by his staff, he exclaimed: "It was the most enthusiastic and patriotic outburst I ever have seen."

Officers With Him. Behind Pershing rode a score of major generals and brigadiers and back of them strode the commander's guard of honor, the world-famed composite regiment of doughboys, the flower of six divisions. Stawart young guards, magnificent American troops, scored in the nation's metropolis a triumph far dearer to their hearts than the laurels they won in the victory reviews of Paris and London. Nearly all the men wore wound chevrons.

Back of "Pershing's Own" swept the 25,000 regulars of the First division, fully accoutered for war. Horse, foot and artillery, they swept down the avenue. It was a dress parade, but so far as equipment went they might have been on their way to the front. The faces under the bobbing trench helmets were stern and business-like. In their veins was the blood of many races, but they had been welded together by the fires of war into an unconquerable unit which beat back the Prussian guards and broke the pride of Germany. But they paid the price of victory, for 5,000 of their comrades are sleeping their eternal sleep in France, while 20,000 others bear the scars of combat.

As Pershing came abreast the great grandstand at the Metropolitan museum the crowd went wild

Nurses Tag Day Finds City in Generous Mood

(Continued From Page One.) ters, United States National bank last evening and gave $2, with this sentiment: "I want to help you nurses, because I know how you helped my little family when we really needed help. I will never forget what you did for us on that occasion."

The sixth annual tag day was not without its humorous incidents. Mrs. W. J. Hynes reported at headquarters that a man gave $10 on condition that the volunteer who accosted him would have her photograph taken with him. Mrs. Hynes averred that the secret of the identity of the young woman in the case is safe with her. A man registered at the Henshaw and driving an automobile bearing an Illinois license number gave $1 for 10 tags, which he hung all over his machine. Visit Movie Shows. A few of the large contributions were National League for Woman's Service, $100; Howard Farrell, $100; C. T. Kountze, $50; M. C. Peters, $50; C. W. Hull, $50.

Mrs. R. Kulakofsky was assisted by a group of young women who attended all of the movie theaters last night, and their efforts were generously rewarded. The total of the contributions will be announced today when all of the money has been received. Thousands of dimes, nickels and cents were counted by bank clerks.

Card of Thanks. The following statement was given by the Visiting Nurse association last night: "The directors of the Visiting Nurse association wish publicly to thank the press, the theaters and street railway of Omaha, South Omaha, Benson and Florence for their hearty co-operation in helping to make the Sixth Annual Tag Day a success."

"We also wish to thank the public for their generous response and all workers for their untiring efforts which made the day such a grand success. MRS. W. J. HYNES, President."

with enthusiasm. He sat on his horse as the cavalryman has been taught to do, smiling, and saluting with his gloved hand, while immediately behind streamed the American colors and the four-starred flag of a full general. The commander made but one stop on the march and that was at St. Patrick cathedral to change horses. He dismounted amidst a crowd of young knights representing the Knights of Columbus eager to be the first to hand him flowers. Upon the cheek of the victor he implanted a kiss while she blushed happily. Seated on a private stand in front of the cathedral were Cardinal Mercier and a throng of church dignitaries. Pershing paused to welcome to America the heroic old man who had so proudly defied the German invaders. The cathedral chimes rang out in hymns of victory and "The Star Spangled Banner" as the two world figures clasped hands.

"I love America with all my heart and greet you as one of the world's greatest soldiers," was the greeting of Belgium's primate while the soldier saluted.

RINGER FAILS TO KEEP FAITH WITH NEGROES

Promise to Suspend Detentions Held on Manslaughter Charges Ignored by Police Commissioner.

Had No Authority. In his ruling Judge Fitzgerald declared the conduct of the police in shooting at Scott, who was not accused of having committed a wrong, in the officers calling out to "shoot the ——" together in connection with the fact that the raid was instituted without proper warrants and authority, was sufficient grounds for holding Armstrong and Brigham for trial.

Intimates Immunity Promised. Mr. Curran intimated that the county attorney had promised immunity to Holman in consideration for the damaging testimony to the policeman. The accusation called forth an outburst of indignation from the county attorney, who declared with emphasis that he had made no promises to any one. "This is a case where no one will be promised immunity," he said. "Justice is going to prevail here, if there is any possible way for me to see that the guilty ones will pay the penalty for this crime."

Applause Greets Reply. An outburst of applause greeted Mr. Shotwell's reply to the charge made by the attorney for the two officers. There were 150 negroes present and they led in the demonstration. The spectators were warned that any further demonstration in the court room would be the signal for the bailiff to clear the room.

Elmer Thomas did not put in an appearance at the hearing. The administration was represented by Police Chief Elberstein. After various witnesses repeated the story of the killing told by them at the inquest, Holman took the witness stand in response to the inquest of County Attorney Shotwell. He declared he was returning from his work shortly after 1 in the morning. As he neared the mouth of the alley in Thirteenth street, he said, he heard the shots and one of the policemen called to him to "shoot the ——" as the negro emerged from the alley. Holman said he shot in the air to frighten the boy. "I shot to the left and over the head of the negro," he said.

Attorney Curran objected strenuously to Holman's answering the question "Why did you shoot at Scott?"

Objection is Overruled. Judge Fitzgerald overruled the objection and the witness replied: "I heard the shots fired in the alley. I looked up the alley and recognized three policemen chasing the fugitive and when the officer called to me to kill the boy, I naturally concluded the negro had committed a crime amounting to a felony."

Rain Fails to Stop Annual G. A. R. Parade

Columbus, Mo., Sept. 10.—Torrents of rain temporarily marred the annual parade of the Grand Army of the Republic here today, but it was only temporary. No sooner had the skies cleared than bugle notes began to resound from every corner and soon the streets were alive with the blue clad veterans, who had taken refuge in stores and other business places. A feature of the parade was a squadron of Civil war cavalry. Business sessions of the G. A. R. will commence Thursday. Every Soldier Who Was a Casualty Has Been Accounted For Washington, Sept. 10.—Every American soldier who became a "casualty" in the war against Germany at last has been accounted for. A list of missing and unaccounted for which at one time was as high as 25,905, gradually was reduced until for weeks it remained at two. It is now presumed there is no doubt the two soldiers are dead and they have been so listed officially. Of the total first reported missing, 23 per cent died, 10 per cent were found to be prisoners, 25 per cent were lost from their organizations in the confusion of battle, but subsequently rejoined them. The remainder were found scattered through various hospitals.

MYSTERIES OF DEN UNVEILED AT BIG MERCHANTS SHOW

Women Guests See Ak-Sar-Ben Entertainment for First Time.

For the first time in its history, with the exception of the annual coronation ball, the Ak-Sar-Ben den was thrown open and its mysteries revealed to curious feminine eyes last night.

The den was the scene of the third night's entertainment for visiting merchants and their families. It was a festive event.

Choice bits from the regular Ak-Sar-Ben show were rendered in vaudeville form, as well as other vaudeville acts secured for the occasion. The show was a success.

Then came the carnival dance, with colored streamers, and ice cold punch. It is estimated that 1,000 couples swayed to the enticing jazz music. It was one of the largest dances ever held in Omaha.

Boo Wilson's Name at Chicago Meeting

(Continued From Page One.) treaty assures peace. Well, in 1916, he said, we must elect him for he could keep us out of war. A few months later we were in the war. I don't believe much in prophecies. "I don't want to go into a league at all, personally, but I didn't make the issue. Now, I am particularly anxious to find a way out of it if we must go in. That is what the senate wants to do now; a reservation which will provide a method of withdrawal.

"Do any of you want to go into a league that you can't get out of?" All over the hall there were cries of "no, no."

"Is there an American who wants a foreign nation to say when and where the Monroe doctrine shall apply?" went on the speaker, and there were cries of "no."

Prolonged cheers greeted his strictures on the presence of American troops in Siberia and there was cheering when he asserted that one of the senate's differences with the president was the former's insistence of an amendment to the league of nations plan which would make it impossible to send American boys to fight anywhere except by order of their own government.

Cat Calls for Wilson. The interruptions grew more frequent and excited as the senator proceeded. When he spoke of the power in the hands of the president, there were cries of "Take it away from him," cat calls, boos and cheers.

"Before we talk of that let's see to it that he is not given more power," shouted the Idaho senator, as soon as he could make himself heard. The crowd cheered wildly. "They want us to sign on the dotted line; they say our amendments take time," went on the senator and a spectator called out, "It took Wilson six months."
